Bob Ingersoll tells-in private though-a good story at his own expense, but one which we see no reason should not be enjoyed by the word at large. It seems that while Ingersoll was in Cleveland, soon after his successful legal fight for the Star-Routers, a sort of anti-tobacco crusade had been started in that city, and a well-known Boston scientist was delivering nightly lectures against the use of the soothing weed. This speaker invited others to though the smokers were largely in the majority, the Boston man invariably proved too clever for the debaters brought against him.

That evening the ball was jammed and, when the prohibitionist requested an answer to his arguments, Bob solemnly arose and said he would reply to the statement of his eloquent friend by the relation Platform of the Democratic Party of North Carolina.

We again congratulate the people of North Carolina on the career of peace prosperity and good government on which she entered after the inauguration of a Democratic State administration, and which has been unbroken for so many years since; upon the just and impartial enforcement of the laws; upon the efficiency of our common school system, and the great progress made in popular education; and upon the general improvement and enterprise manifested in every part of the State.
