"I was taken sick a year ago With bilious fever." "My doctor pronounced me cured, but I got sick again with terrible pains in my back and sides, and I got so bad I could not move! I shrunk! From 228 lbs. to 120! I had been doctored for my liver, but it did me no good. I did not expect to live more than three months. I began to use Hop Bitters. Directly my appetite returned, my pains left me, my entire system seemed renewed as if by magic, and after using several bottles, I am not only as sound as a sovereign, but weigh more than I did before. To Hop Bitters I owe my life." R. FITZPATRICK. Dublin, June 6, '81.

The Daily Review.

JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop. WILMINGTON, N. C.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1884.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., as second-class matter.

It is understood that Governor Cleveland will send in his resignation to the New York Legislature at its first session in January. He will then be succeeded as Governor by Lieut.-Governor David B. Hill of Elmira. Lieut.-Governor Hill is 40 years of age and a bachelor. He is considered one of the ablest lawyers in the State, and an exceedingly adroit politician. He was the Democratic leader in the New York Assembly during several sessions.

A gentleman just from New York, and who saw the Rev. Dr. Burchard on Sunday last, says the poor old gentleman is in such a state of contrition and remorse as to provoke sympathy from even the most hard-hearted. He totters along with the weight of this more than threescore and ten years, imagining that he alone is responsible for the defeat of Blaine, and that he can never be forgiven for it. The gentleman says that he would not be surprised if Dr. Burchard's life was shortened by the occurrence.

The Connecticut election has had a curious result. The Democrats carried the State, and their popular candidate for Governor, Waller, received a plurality of votes; still he was not elected—and will not be. The Constitution of that State contains an absurd provision requiring the successful candidate for Governor to have a majority of all the votes cast—and if no candidate has a majority then the Legislature is to choose the Governor. Governor Waller had a plurality of 1,253—a larger plurality than Cleveland received; but while Cleveland will receive the electoral votes of the State, Waller will not be Governor. And this is not the worst of it; the Republican Legislature will choose his Republican opponent.

The right to import Hawaiian sugar free of duty does not seem to have saved the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company from losing money last year. The company, after investing ten millions of capital in the enterprise, finds itself with a debt of more than a million unprovided for. As things look at present the property of the corporation is likely to fall into the hands of Claus Spreckels, the heaviest stockholder. Mr. Spreckels organized the company in the first place, putting certain lands and sugar privileges owned by him into the concern at a valuation of $6,400,000, for which paid up stock was issued to him. The remaining $3,600,000 was paid in cash by the other stockholders, and has been expended in improvements on the property, along with another million borrowed by Spreckels. It looks as though the latter would get his property all back, with the improvements made by the money of the other stockholders, for the million of borrowed money. Perhaps Spreckels had this in view when he organized the company.

Those eminent New York statesmen, Barney Biglin and Mike McCord, do not attribute Mr. Blaine's defeat to the mugwumps or the Stalwarts or the Prohibitionists or Brother Burchard. They have a very simple explanation to offer, and as they are "practical politicians" of large experience, what they say upon the subject is obviously entitled to great weight. New York was lost, they assert, simply because of a scarcity of "soap." They were given only $35,000 this year for use in New York City, whereas four years ago they had no less than $400,000. If a few hundred more votes could have been purchased, Mr. Blaine would have carried New York and been elected President. The votes were in the market, but the money to buy them was not forthcoming. For this failure in the supply of "soap," these able politicians are disposed to hold the redoubtable Steve Elkins responsible, and their curses upon his devoted head are both loud and deep. Little Johnnie Pavenport, too, joins in the angry chorus. He declares that Elkins hasn't brains enough to run a tramps' lodging house, and lays the blame upon him for the Blaine disaster.

A Washington letter says: "A dozen or more years ago Mr. Blaine was in the habit of going to the barber shop at the Arlington Hotel when his beard needed trimming or his hair required cutting. Upon one occasion he and some other gentlemen present in the shop became engaged in a political discussion touching upon the status of the colored people and their relations to the Republican party. Mr. Blaine freely expressed himself as not being in sympathy with the advanced men of his party on the subject, and finally said: "Oh, the negroes are no good." The colored barbers in the shop were chagrined and dumbfounded that such a remark should have come from so eminent an apostle of the Republican party, and Campbell, the proprietor of the shop, while making no outward demonstration, ever afterward invariably avoided waiting upon Mr. Blaine when he came into the establishment. The brush boy, an exceedingly bright and observant youngster, also and very naturally took Mr. Blaine's unjust and unfounded remark to heart, and has kept it fresh in his memory from that time to this, having now developed into one of the most accomplished and popular tonorial artists of Washington. During the campaign recently closed he was an ardent sympathizer with the Democrats, finding it impossible, as he said, to take any interest in the candidacy of a man who had wantonly expressed such a disparaging opinion of his race. On last Sunday morning, at the moment he was reading in the papers the announcement of the completion of the count in New York, settling the fact of Cleveland's election, he was greeted with the pleasant intelligence that his young wife had made him the father of a bouncing twelve-pound boy. Grateful for these two coincident instances of good luck, the happy father decreed that his boy should be christened "Cleveland," and Cleveland it will be.
