Abram S. Hewitt has told what he did for his section of country during the war. We quote from the Herald: Mayor Hewitt laughed outright yesterday when he heard that his opposition to the Grand Army of the Republic bill had caused him to be censured by one of the posts of this organization. The Mayor said to a Herald reporter that in the annals of the Army' Department would be found a record evening at the parsonage at 7.30 of thanks tendered "Cooper & Hewitt," of the Trenton Iron Works, for their services to the Government during the War of the Rebellion.

"We gave our plant free to the half past 2 o'clock sharp. Government and instead of making any money we lost $100,000. I went commissioned to Europe," saidMayor Hewitt, "to secure gun barrel iron for the Government and could bay only 300 tons when 4,000 tons foundry in disguise as an artisan, learned how iron for gun barrels was made, telegraphed the information to our Secretary of War and in twelve days the United States Government was making gun barrels. There is no better road in the country for making fast time over than the W. & W., and this fact, is coupled with a strict system and discipline and skilful engineers. Even better time than that recorded above has been made.

The Dog Thief.

We spoke, a few days since, of the fact that one of the chicken thieves in this town has a dog so well trained that he will at the word of command enter any particular yard and steal chickens therefrom. The modus operandi was witnessed to-day by a party of ladies looking from the window of a residence near the cor ner of Princess and Sixth streets. The boy remained in the street and sent the dog into the yard where he caught a chicken and was carrying it to his master when the ladies ran after him and he let his prey loose. Unfortunately none of the gentlemen of the house were at home or there would have been one canine less in the city at this writing.
