The New York Star quotes Chairman Brice on the situation, in the interview had last Saturday, to day's issue:

"I am glad," he said, "to be able to state that we have just received cheering reports from nearly every section of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Iowa and Michigan. These reports relate to the desperate attempt which has been made by the Republicans to create a defection in the Democratic ranks, especially by means of the free trade scare. The Republicans seem to have agreed upon a determined onslaught in those States, and they have tried every means of effecting their pur pose-intrigues, pamplets, subsidized newspapers and speakers. All our reports show that they have ceased to have any effect, and that the tide is now on the turn. They have done their worst, and our ranks are undisturbed. "Now we will begin operations, and we expect to make serious inroads upon the Republican vote. Our letters from these States assure us that the Democratic workingmen will steadfastly support the Demo-eratic ticket and in addition will act as propogandists and induce their Republican fellow workingmen to act with them. "Among the things to which almost all our correspondents advert is the great influence which the President's brave and honest administration of the National Government has had upon the plain people. The American people ad mire a courageous man-a man who dares do what he believes to be right. The President, through his whole administration, has advocated and promoted measures tending to the pronounced welfare of the whole country. His very personality, therefore, has a powerful influence upon the voters. The National Medical Association. Address P.O. Box 1395, Boson Mass, or Dr. W. H. If the Republicans elect their Presidential ticket they will almost certainly control the Senate; if they lose the Presidential election they are likely to lose the Senate.

At all events, the next Senate will be very nearly equally divided politically. The terms of twenty-six Senators-thirteen Democrats and thirteen Republicans-will expire on the 3d of next March. Of the outgoing Democrats eleven are from Southern States, one from Delaware, a State as reliably Democratic as any in the South, and one from New Jersey. The latter is the only State that can be considered doubtful in the list that must choose successors to Democrats.

Already the Democrats have gained one Senator from the Republi

They have chosen Mr. Barbour to succeed Mr. Riddleberger from Virginia. Therefore, unless some unexpected and remarkable political revolution should occur within the South between now and November, the Democrats are sure to hold their own in the next Senate. If they retain New Jersey, they will divide the Senate equally with the Republicans, assuming that the latter suffer no further losses; and the political status of the States to choose successors to outgoing Republicans makes it quite certain that they will remain faithful to present party affiliations, as the Southern States are to remain Dem ocratic.

Inherited

In the realm of disease the facts of inheritance are most numerous and are daily accumulating. Here, alas, they become terrible, fateful and overwhelming. No fact of nature is more pregnant with awful meaning than the fact of the inheritance of disease. It meets the physician on his daily rounds, paralyzing his art and filling him with dismay. The legend of the ancient Greeks pictures the Furies as pursuing families from generation to generation, rendering them desolate. The Furies still ply their work of terror and death, but they are not now clothed in the garb of superstition, but appear in the more intelligible but no less awful form of hereditary disease.

Modern science, which has illuminated so many dark corners of nature, has shed a new light on the ominous words of the Scriptures, "The sins of the fathers shall be visited upon the children unto the third and fourth generation." Instances of hereditary disease abound. Fifty per cent. of cases of consumption, that searful destroyer of families, of cancer and scrofula, run in families through inheritance. Insanity is hereditary in a marked degree, but, fortunately, like many other hereditary diseases, tends to wear itself out, the stock becoming extinct. A distinguished scientist truly says: "No organ or texture of the body is exempt from the chance of being the subject of hereditary disease." Probably more chronic diseases, which permanently modify the structure and functions of the body, are more or less liable to be inherited. The important and far-reaching practical deductions from such facts-affecting so powerfully the happiness of individuals and families and the collective welfare of the nation-are obvious to reflecting minds, and the best means for preventing or curing these diseases is a subject of intense interest to all. Fortunately nature has provided a remedy, which experience has attested as infallible, and the remedy is the world-famous Swift's Specific, a pure vegetable compound-nature's antidote for all blood poisons. To the afflicted it is a blessing of inestimable value. An interesting treatise on "Blood and Skin Diseases" will be mailed free by addressing THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO.,
