THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. XII. WILMINGTON, N. C., MONDAY, AUGUST 27, 1888. NO 173.

WE will be glad to receive communications from our friends on any and all subjects of general interest, but the name of the writer must always be furnished to the Editor.

Communications must be written only on one side of the paper.

Personalities must be avoided.

And it is especially and particularly understood that the Editor does not always endorse the views of correspondents unless so stated in the editorial columns.

The latest news from Jacksonville is far from encouraging. The official bulletin up to 6 o'clock Saturday evening reports 7 new cases and 59 under treatment. The total cases were 91 and the deaths 12. The disease seems now to be taking hold of the colored people and notwithstanding this fact and the quarantine they are still flocking into the city in large numbers. Serious trouble is anticipated from this source. There seems to be also a conflict of opinion among some of the physicians. There are several Cuban doctors there and they insist that it is not the genuine yellow fever, although they admit that it has some of the symptoms. They claim that it is more like typhoid malaria than any other disease. Still, the fact is patent that it is working death and destruction in the unfortunate city. The concussion theory has been abandoned, temporarily, at all events, and there is no more heavy firing all along the line. Also, but few tar barrels are kept burning. There is a large amount of inadequately protected property in the city and trouble is feared from the idle and vicious. The pistol is therefore a part of the daily toilette.

opportunity. They could accuse him of cowardice if he did not retaliate, and of wilfully getting the country into trouble if he did. It was a game of bluff, for, knowing him to be conservative and cautious, they hoped to make capital by charging him with a willingness to toady to Great Britain.

But "the best laid schemes of mice and men gang aft a-gley." The President was not blind to the shabby piece of trickery. The Republican spider, thinking it had a Democratic fly in sight, coyly sang its invitation to "come into my parlor." When the fly accepted the invitation, by sending to Congress that retaliatory message, the Republican spider glared at him in astonishment for a moment, cried with a shriek, "Great Scott! It isn't a fly; it's a hornet!" and the panic began.

The Republicans are in a bad predicament. They have played for high stakes—a return to power at any cost—have done their best to get the administration into a corner, but find themselves in the corner instead, and will be mighty lucky if they get out of it.

Indications.
 For North Carolina, fair weather, followed on Tuesday by rains and slightly warmer.

The Queen to be Docked.
 The Queen of St. John's, which has been plying between this city and Southport for nearly two months, is to be taken off and laid up in dock until the Fall season opens and the yellow fever in Florida is all gone, when she will be taken South and put at her regular Winter's work on the St. John's river. Capt. Christopher says that he hopes to bring her back to Wilmington next Summer for the excursion business here.

Well Satisfied.
 Mr. John Koch, proprietor of the restaurant and lunch room at the corner of Princess and Second streets, whose advertisement has appeared exclusively in the DAILY REVIEW, is so well satisfied with the results therefrom that he has continued the ad. for a month and it appears in this issue. He has several fine rooms which he will rent at low figures.

Booksellers' Convention.
 The North Carolina Booksellers' Convention will meet in this city tomorrow, probably in the City Court room. The Convention is to be held here by resolution at the last meeting, on motion of Mr. P. Heinsberger. The organization is composed of booksellers from all of the largest cities and towns in the State, and is a highly respectable and representative body of men. We trust that their brief sojourn in our "City by the Sea" may be an exceedingly pleasant one to them all.

Our River and Bar.
 The appropriations recently made for river and harbor improvements will not be available before October 1st, and work on the Cape Fear will therefore probably be resumed about the first of November, when it will be prosecuted vigorously. The operations here will be principally in the shape of dredging. The object now is to get a clean 16 feet of water from the city to the mouth of the river. There is now this amount nearly all of the way but the channel is to be widened and straightened and when this is done a still greater depth of water will be worked for.

Many of our readers will be surprised to hear that there is now 19 1/2 feet of water on the bar, on an ordinary tide. It is 15 feet at dead low water and the rise of tide is 4 1/2 feet. Better still, the gain of water is steadily going on, as the depth is continually increasing. Every inch is in itself therefore a great gain. We well remember, somewhere about the year 1870, when the depth on Main bar was but 8 feet at low water and 12 1/2 feet at high water. The gain in less than 20 years is therefore a clear 7 feet. This is indisputable testimony as to the value of the river and harbor works and the skill and energy with which they have been directed. There is nothing therefore extravagant in the hope that we may yet have 25 feet of water, all of the way from the river to the ocean, before the close of the nineteenth century.

The dust is exceedingly disagreeable now. Rain is needed.

We are sorry to hear that Dr. W. E. Storm is quite sick and confined to the house.

Headquarters for Bass Balls, Bats, Masks, Gloves, Belts &c., is at Heinsberger's.

Turner's almanac doesn't say a word about frost until along towards the middle of December.

Another lot of those celebrated Oil Stoves just received at Jacobi's Hdq. Depot. It will pay you to use one.

Dog collars. Largest and finest assortment ever before brought to this city, to be had at Jacobi's Hdq. Depot.

There are few small congregations in nearly all of the churches yesterday, an evidence of the fact that there are a great many people out of the city.

Bathing Suits. Come down to Headquarters. 25 dozen Flannel Bathing Suits, in all sizes and colors, sold at the lowest manufacturing prices at the Wilmington Shirt Factory, 27 Market St., J. Elsbach, Prop. Look for the blue awning.

Dropping into Heinsberger's this morning we noticed that everybody was busy taking account of stock and making a general renovation, on both floors of the large establishment, preparatory to a reception of the large stock which will be laid in for the Fall and Winter holiday trade.

A Spider Factory.
 Front Street Market is a great rendezvous for the spider tribe. They grow luxuriantly there and to a large size. Some of them appear to be as big as the end of a man's thumb, and ladies visiting the market are frightened by them. They may be highly ornamental but they are not pleasant to have as neighbors and the colony should therefore be broken up.

Weather Crop Bulletin.
 The weather crop bulletin for the week ending yesterday, in this State, is at hand. An average amount of rainfall is reported from all districts. All crops have been very favorably affected. In the Eastern District there was an average amount of temperature and sunshine, affecting all crops favorably. The temperature in the Central and Western districts was slightly below the average, the cool nights being somewhat injurious to crops. There was an average amount of sunshine in both of these districts. The general effect upon crops was favorable.

The Republican Senate will have to get up early in the morning, very early indeed, when they find President Cleveland asleep or napping. They digged for him a pit and have themselves fallen into it and they are lying there now, perdu, flat on their backs, with not a helping hand extended to them. When they refused to ratify the fisheries treaty they thought they had Mr. Cleveland and the Democratic party in a tight place, but instead they are bound by their own cords. They did not calculate upon the fact that Mr. Cleveland held in his hand a card which would trump their best trick and they were equally astonished and dismayed when he met their move by the message sent in to them on Friday recommending and suggesting retaliatory measures against Canada. The whole country applauds Mr. Cleveland's course, and letters and telegrams from some of the most eminent men everywhere are pouring in upon him, applauding him to the echo. And it is a noticeable fact that Republicans as well as Democrats endorse his course.

No gentlemen of the Republican side of the Senate. Mr. Cleveland is not a pigmy; he is a giant, and a jolly big giant at that. It isn't worth while for you to fight him any longer. You slip up badly every time you attempt it. Your solid party vote on the fisheries treaty is the biggest boomerang you have ever let slip from your clumsy fingers. If there has ever been any doubt of Cleveland's election you have yourselves solved that doubt. The most sensible thing you can do now is to go home and go to bed and stay there until the morning of the seventh day of next November. You can do nothing now to retard the success of the Democratic party. Your G. O. P. is the grand old played-out from this time henceforth and forever.

What the pot-valiant Republicans in the Senate will do now it is difficult to determine. They are in a hole and the first thing, we presume, will be for them to take measures to get out of that hole. For the present they are too paralyzed to make much of an exertion. The New York Herald sums up the situation thusly: "The political situation in Washington, as changed by the retaliatory message of President Cleveland, is full of dramatic interest. As will be seen by reference to our Washington dispatches the debate in the Senate Chamber was unusually interesting yesterday. Edmunds and Hoar poured forth the vials of their wrath, found fault with everybody and everything, plied sarcasm and innuendo to the very end of their vocabulary—all of which proved to the looker on in Vienna that somebody had been hit, and hit very hard, by that message. It is well known that the Republican Senators have been industriously engaged for months in digging a pit for the administration by means of the fishery question; but by a dexterous movement the President has filled the pit with these Republican Senators instead and set the country laughing at them. They passed a resolution in March, 1887, giving the President limited authority to retaliate, under the conviction that he was averse to harsh measures, which might possibly result in international complications. That gave them a double headed

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.
 "I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would cure Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."
