This is not a good day to remember that Dockery who, according to Dan Russell, is "a Southern man with Northern principles," vilely slanders the first lady in the land by holding her up on the stump as a woman who kisses negro wenches, with all that the degrading words imply. Nor is it a good day to remember that such a miscreant is a native North Carolinian, who was born with a silver spoon in his mouth, and belongs to "high-toned" society; a college-bred man, born to wealth; a lawyer; a man who never "farmed" but "planted."

Nor is it a good day to remember that such a specimen as he is is the nominee of a political party in North Carolina for the office of Governor, and hopes to be Governor by the votes of North Carolinians.

The surveys for the Congo Railroad past the 235 miles of cataracts are approaching completion, and there is little doubt that within the next two or three years the toilsome journey to Stanley Pool, nearly three weeks long, that has sapped the energies of not a few travellers may be comfortably made in a day. The time is coming when a trip to Central Africa will not involve a big caravan and thousands of dollars of expense. Any one who hankers after a taste of life in the central regions of the Dark Continent will have only to pack his gripsack and buy his ticket, and steam will waft him to the once mysterious regions to reach. Mr. Stanley once said that some men posed as African explorers who were merely travellers. THE CURR. W. D. Suit, Druggist, Bippus. Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bell-wille, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters."

Thousands of others have address." years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all wilmington, foot of Dock street, at 10 o'cock Green & Co's. Drug Store.

Not an article or a conjunction is omitted, nor a noun or a light of the pastor's sermon. innction is omitted, nor a noun or a verb, for that matter. For twenty-five years she has been performing these feats of memory, and during that time she has written out some 2.000 sermons. The manuscripts of some of them she has had bound and presented to Dr. Crosby. They make forty large volumes. She has also written from memory all of his lectures, and has classified his opinions on all the subjects upon which he has spoken during these years, and has made an elaborate series of indexes to them. Even when the preacher drops into Greek, Latin or Hebrew she follows him, being proficient in these languages.

The London correspondent of the New York Times says: The name of Gilbert and Sullivan's new opera, about which so much speculation has been indulged, is no longer a secret to such as have the inside track in matters theatrical and operatic, though it is still jealously guarded from the general public. The Times' correspondent is in a position to an. nounce positively that the title of the new work is "The Tower of London," and that the story is woven about that ancient old fortress, which is the pride and glory of the genuine Briton. All the guesses which have placed the scene of the opera in Norway, Sweden, and a dozen other different places, have been utterly wild. In "The Tower of London" Gilbert and Sullivan have produced a satire on the London craze for antiquities, especially for old architectural landmarks, as in "Patience" they satirized the Oscar Wilde craze on æstheticism. The cast embraces 11 principal singers and actors, and the chorus calls for 32 men and 24 women, who will represent the beef eaters, soldiers, and other human attachments of the
