STATE NEWS.

Goldsboro Argus: The W. & W. Railroad authorities are having an extensive and substantial "coal bin" constructed at the southern end of this city for supplying the new coal burning locomotives that are to be brought into service regularly on that road this winter.

Fayetteville Journal: Mr. John P. Thomson, president of the cotton mill now under construction, returned home from Lowell, Mass. last week, where he had been to purchase the machinery for operating the mill. The mill is expected to be New York for the purchase of new running by December 1st, only waitchain warp will be manufactured and employment will be furnished to large crowd at Clarkton on Satur day. Raleigh News and Observer: Nearly 40 new names have been given to the secretary for membership in the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce and was received by Messrs. Barbee & Barbee yesterday. It was brought in by Mr. W. G. Crowder. Mr. Crowextensively used. -- Some time ago it was announced in the public press that Rev. Dr. Marshall had resigned the rectorship of Christ Church. This was true. Dr. Marshall did tender his resignation, but the vestry of the church unanimously requested him to withdraw it and he has now acted in accordance with this wish, and remains rector of the parish, to the gratification of the congregation and, it may be added, of the whole community. During the past week the pastor, assisted by Rev. P. F. W. Stamey, of Reidsville, has been con-Edenton Street Methodist Church, of this city. Considerable interest has been manifested. The congregations have been large; quite a number of penitents have been at the altar, and several conversions have resulted already. Mr. Stamey is an able and a popular preacher, and has been very successful as a revivalist. Charlotte Chronicle: Mr. W. O. Bennett, a brother-in-law of Mr. Hugh Hammond, of this city, owns a cotton gin near Wadesboro. One day this week something got wrong with the shafting in his gin house and Mr. Bennett sighted along the line to see if the shafting was out of plumb. He had a full, long, flowing beard, and as he bent over the revolving shafting, his whiskers were caught and a second later Mr. Bennett didn't have anything but a pair of side whiskers. The shafting pulled out all his chin whiskers, roots, skin and all, leaving a painful bare patch railway lines combined therein, the on his chin. Had his whiskers been Atlantic Coast Line, the Seaboard a little bit thicker the accident might have been a more serious one. ## Children's Day.

Yesterday was "Children's Day discharged and Sheppard was bound for State Missions" in the Baptist churches all through this State. In this city the Baptist congregations all held joint services yesterday afternoon in the Brooklyn Baptist Church. There was an immense Alex. Lisbon and Sarah Lisbon, gathering of little ones on this occasion and the services were exceedingly interesting. Maj. Foster's little daughter, Miss Norma, gave a recitation which showed a wonderful aptitude on her part and which was highly commended. Addresses were made by Rev. Dr. Pritchard and Messrs. Jos. H. Mitchell, Jacob S. Allen and W. F. Williams, The scholars all sang magnificently and selections from the Scriptures were pronounced by the superintendent of the Brooklyn school, Mr. J. W. Taylor, and responded to by the children. The closing hymn was one specially adapted to the occasion, "Carolina for Jesus," and was sung with power and energy by all. The collections are for the benefit of State missions and a handsome sum was realized.
