 Schedule,

And now Senator John Sherman, according to the New York Star, admits that Indiana will go Democratic.

It is said that nearly a million dollars has been spent this Fall in campaign goods in this country. The South has bought but little.

Senator Vance says that the Democratic majority in this State will be at least 15,000. He thinks it will probably be much more than that. Compromise on 25,000, Senator.

Gen. Rufus Barringer, of Charlotte, is on the right track at last. He is for Cleveland and Tariff Reform. It has taken the old gentleman a long time to find out what's what but he has got there, all the same.

Great preparations were made for a grand Republican labor parade in Indianapolis on Thursday. Gen. Harrison was on hand, ready to review the great turnout. It was a dismal failure. It was a bright, pretty day, yet there were only about 1,500 men in line, instead of the 20,000 expected.

If farmers, through short crops and fertilizers' bills, are unable to pay their debts, what will become of their lands and property if Oliver H. Dockery is elected Governor and the State of North Carolina made to pay those fraudulent special tax bonds? Evidently taxes would be so high that, added to their other incumbrances, they would be forced to sell their lands and property at a great sacrifice. Farmers should take this into consideration.

The situation may be summed up in a nutshell. The solid South will give Cleveland 153 votes, New York will give 36, Indiana will give him 15 and New Jersey will give him 9. This foots up 213 votes, twelve more than a majority of the Electoral College. And then there is Connecticut with 6 votes, Michigan with 13 and Illinois with 22, which may also give him their votes, and probably will.

The betting fever has developed in other places besides New York. Dr. H. Claffin, a banker of Marshalltown, makes a proposition in which he states that he will bet $1,000 each that Cleveland will carry the following States: Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan, New Jersey and Connecticut; $5,000 that he will carry New York; $5,000 that he will win all the bets; $10,000 that Cleveland will be elected, making $27,000 in all.

It is now given out that the Republicans despair of electing Dockery and will concentrate all of their energies on the Legislature. Dockery is himself posing as an Independent among the Democrats of the far West, according to the Charlotte Democrat. He says that he was urged by the farmers of the State to run regardless of party and that among the letters he received were a number from prominent Democrats. If this is true (and there isn't a word of it true) then his friends have gone back on him woefully. Of course no Democrat will vote for him and the farmers of North Carolina are white men and Democrats. Dockery might as well disband his forces and take up an inglorious line of march to the rear.

Lord Sackville, British Minister to Washington, is a much-talked of man at this time. He is a man of brilliancy, brain and nerve, but he has made a big mistake for once in his career. A letter was written to him by a Republican in California, who disguised himself as a naturalized Englishman, asking the Minister, in view of President Cleveland's retaliation message, how he ought to vote. Lord Sackville fell into the snare and replied that it would be safe to vote for Mr. Cleveland, intimating that the retaliation message was due in a great measure to the campaign, &c., &c. The correspondence, although private, has been published, and it has made a terrible racket. And the end is not yet.

Bright and brighter seems the political horizon. Democratic success is next door to an assured and accomplished fact. Those who don't want to get left should see to it that they register and vote. All men like to be on the winning side and there are some (not many in this section, thank God) who always wait to see which side is going to win. Then they "flop." To all such we will say that the winning horse in this race is named Grover Cleveland and he is already so far ahead that he can't be overtaken. If you want to vote with the successful side this year you must vote the Democratic ticket. To some others, good, stanch, true, inflexible Democrats, but terribly procrastinating ones, we will say this: It will not do for you to wake up the day after the election and find that your vote has not been polled. You must vote but you cannot vote unless you have registered your name. See?

The betting men are getting in some lively work now. A great deal in this line was done at the Hoffman house, in New York, on Thursday night. The Star of that city says:

John Mullen of Brooklyn offered to bet $2,000 to $1,000 with no takers, that Cleveland will carry New Jersey. He offered to bet $1,000 to $500 that Cleveland will carry New York State, and $2,000 even that he will be re-elected President. None of these bets were taken by the crowd of Republicans present. Captain William M. Conner offered to bet $10,000 to $9,000 on Cleveland and the general result, and this offer also went begging.

Late in the evening the crowd of Republicans present was augmented by Judge Solon B. Smith of the Republican County Committee, Jerry Pangborn, Fred Gibbs and Jake Hess. Mr. Mullen bet $2,000 to $600 that Harrison will not poll 20,000 more votes in this State than Cleveland. Jerry Pangborn took the Republican end of the bet, Judge Smith putting up the money for him. The stakes were placed in the hands of a well known uptown contractor, Mr. Mullen also bet with Mr. Pangborn $300 to $50 that Hill will be re-elected Governor.

Humboldt, in his Cosmos, thought he showed up the world. Suppose he had lived to know Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. But he didn't, alas!
