The Second and Last Night.
 The National Festival was continued and closed last night. It has been a great success. There were not so many present last evening as on the first occasion but the receipts were flattering.

In all the amount realized by the ladies will not fall far short of $300.

Lynn Haven Oysters.
 Mr. Carl Mugge received this morning a fine lot of Lynn Haven Bay oysters, which he offers to his patrons to day, in an ad. in this issue. He has favored us with a dozen of them, sent in to this office, and we have sampled them, and found them very fine indeed. They will be offered to day and to-morrow at Mr. Mugge's oyster counter.

Personal.
 Messrs. J. B. Cowan and N. Hammond, both prominent business men of Laurinburg, were in the city yesterday and called on some merchants.

Messrs. Sol Haas, Traffic Manager of the Associated Railways, and Frank W. Clark, General Freight and Passenger Agent of the Seacoast system, were in the city to-day.

The matinee to-morrow afternoon and the performance to-morrow night will be the last appearance here of the Royal Marionettes. It is a fine show and has been greeted all during the week by large houses.

Dr. A. J. DeRosset sends many holiday greetings to his friends through the advertising columns of this issue. He is still with Mr. M. S. Willard, in the life, fire and accident insurance business and will be glad to write up policies for all who will favor him with an application.

Death of Miss Iredell.
 Miss Hela Iredell, sister in law of Judge Shipp, died at that gentleman's residence in Charlotte on Wednesday night, aged 75 years. The deceased lady was a daughter of the late Gov. Iredell and aunt to Messrs. Thos. D., Iredell and Frank L. Meares, of this city. The interment was at Raleigh to-day.

A Turkey Parade.
 Mr. J. T. Ford has raffled off 65 turkeys since his ad. appeared in the REVIEW a few days ago. He will have another raffle to-night and to-morrow night. To-morrow he will get up an unique spectacle. It will be a grand turkey parade. There will be about one hundred boys, in red caps, each with a turkey under each arm, and a band of music preceding the whole.

Angora Wool.
 Our good friend, Dr. K. J. Powers, of Willard, Pender county, sent to us to day a specimen of wool taken from a goat on his farm, only seven months old and three-fourths Angora. It is very fine and silky and we imagine will bring a high price on the market. Dr. Powers has a number of these goats and is developing a new branch of industry in which there is always money, and sometimes big money.

Literary Entertainment To-Night.
 A literary entertainment will be given this evening, at 7:30 o'clock, by the pupils of the Cape Fear Academy at the school rooms on Fourth street, near Princess. The committee of reception consists of Masters G. L. Peschau, R. A. Parsley, G. D. Crow and F. H. Russell, and the committee of invitation of Masters E. H. Munson, E. T. Huggins, Jno. D. Bellamy, Jr., Jas. S. Hall, Jas. F. Wright and Jas. B. Willard. We acknowledge the courtesy of an invitation.

Another Pecan Nut Grower.
 Mr. J. M. Lewis, of Caintuck township, is another of the Pender county farmers who is paying attention to the cultivation of the pecan nut. He has two pecan trees in his yard which he brought from Texas several years ago, which are now in a thrifty condition and in fine bearing order. Both trees bore large quantities this year, and after giving freely to his neighbors, with proverbial North Carolina generosity, he sent something more than a bushel of the nuts to this city for sale. They were very large, fair and nice. Mr. Lewis has several others growing which will soon be in bearing order. The two which do bear are large, handsome trees, and besides producing liberally of nuts, are elegant shade trees.

Painful Accident.
 Mr. William Pridgen and his grand son, Mr. Willie Smith, both of Cane-tuck township, Pender county, were hunting for squirrels a few days since, when the former was accidentally shot by the latter, and received two quite severe, although not necessarily dangerous wounds. The two hunters were following up a lagoon, one upon each side, looking for game, when the young man saw a squirrel and instantly fired. The shooting occurred in a dense and almost impenetrable thicket of reeds, and Mr. Smith was painfully surprised to hear his grandfather, from the opposite side of the lagoon, shout that he had been wounded. One of the shot had struck Mr. Pridgen in the breast and another in the fleshy part of the arm, the latter causing the more serious wound, in his anxiety concerning the condition of his grandfather, Mr. Smith failed to ascertain whether he hit the squirrel or not.

Celebrating Our Twelfth Birthday.

On every succeeding anniversary of the DAILY REVIEW it has been the custom of the Editors and employees to celebrate the occasion around the festive board. It was begun on the first anniversary and has been kept up regularly ever since. Therefore, last night was the twelfth time on which this pleasant custom has been observed. This time we all voted for a trip down on the Seacoast R. R. to Wrightsville and an oyster roast at Stokley's, and all hands and the devil embarked at Princess street at 6 o'clock last evening and were soon, under the protecting care of Capt. Morrison, safely landed at Wrightsville. We found Mr. Stokley on hand with all of his force and a ton of oysters (more or less) ready to welcome us. Soon we were all seated around his hospitable board and the way the bivalves disappeared was a wonder in itself. They were, indeed, delicious, large, fat and well flavored and altogether the best oysters for a roast we have seen this year. The whole occasion was pleasant and enjoyable to the utmost. Everybody with whom we came in contact seemed determined to make it as pleasant as it could possibly be made. The "vets" in the office, "one of which we are whom" pronounce it as decidedly the most delightful of the series. We make our acknowledgments for courtesies and attentions to General Manager Chadbourn and to Mr. W. H. Stokley and his courteous assistant, Mr. J. J. Lippitt.

Farmers' Alliance.
 A meeting was held at the Sutton House at 1 o'clock this afternoon, called by Mr. E. McMoore, county purchasing agent of the North Carolina Farmer's Alliance for Pender county. The meeting consisted of all the purchasing agents of the sub-alliances of that county. The object of the meeting was to endeavor to secure more favorable terms from merchants on the necessary purchases of supplies for the farmers of Pender county. A proposition was also submitted, and favorably considered, that the alliances of Pender, Duplin, Onslow, Bladen and Stumpson counties unite in the movement and thus, by aggregating their orders, secure the desired relief through some of our Wilmington merchants.

By thus concentrating their orders it seems that goods could be sold to alliances at considerably less than the usual per cent. of profit, and we trust that our merchants will not be slow to grasp the opportunity of extending their trade in the surrounding counties by offering liberal inducements to these alliances.

The different sub-alliances of the county were represented as follows:
 Burgaw—R. McMoore.
 Northeast—W. C. Murphy.
 Rhine—G. F. Walker.
 Rocky Point—J. T. Bowden.
 Doctor's Creek—S. C. Powers.
 Canetuck—J. R. Hilborne.
 Colly Mills—J. W. West.
 Moore's Creek—W. T. Moore.
 Maple Hill—R. F. Powers.
 Oak Grove—Lewis.

Committees were appointed who were instructed to wait upon the different grocers, dry goods, hardware and boot and shoe merchants of the city and endeavor to effect arrangements by which the farmers could be supplied upon more favorable terms.

The meeting was earnest, harmonious and an entire unanimity prevailed throughout the conference, which it is hoped may prove of much good to all concerned.

Sir Knights.
 At a meeting of the Wilmington Commandery, Knights Templar, held on Wednesday night, the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year: Sir Knights—Wm. H. Chadbourn—Eminent Commander; W. R. Kenan—Generalissimo; W. A. Williams—Captain General; Samuel Northrop—Pre-late; H. C. Prempert—Senior Warden; R. W. Price—Junior Warden; Jas. C. Munds—Treasurer; Jas. W. Monroe—Recorder; J. W. Woolvin—Sword Bearer; E. G. Barker—Standard Bearer; E. S. Martin—Warden; Thos. H. Johnson—Sentinel.

We have knives for your boys and scissors for your girls. What will please them more for presents? N. Jacobi Hardware Co.
