Severe Cases of Blood Poison.

Thousands suffer from blood poison, who would be cured if they knew of the Blood-Balm of W. L. Douglas, Atlanta, Ga., for book of wonderful cures, that convince the most skeptical. It is sent free of charge to those who desire it.

Dr. Gibson, Meridian, Miss., writes:

"For a number of years I suffered untold agonies from blood poison. Several prominent physicians did me little if any good. I began to use Dr. Gibson's Blood-Balm. My mother persuaded me to try it. To my utter astonishment it cured me of my blood poisoning. I suffered from syphilitic blood poisoning which was cured by all treatment. Physicians pronounced it a hopeless case. I had no appetite, I had pains in hips and joints and my kidneys were diseased. My throat was sore and my breast a mass of running sores. In this condition I commenced a use of Dr. Gibson's Blood-Balm. My sores and pains were completely within two months." W. L. Douglas, Atlanta, Ga.

Z. T. Hallerton, Macon, Ga., writes:

"I contracted blood poison. I first tried physicians, and then went to Hot Springs. I returned with a ruined man physically. Nothing seemed to do me any good. My mother persuaded me to try Dr. Gibson's Blood-Balm. To my utter astonishment it cured me of my blood poisoning. I suffered from syphilitic blood poisoning which was cured by all treatment. Physicians pronounced it a hopeless case. I had no appetite, I had pains in hips and joints and my kidneys were diseased. My throat was sore and my breast a mass of running sores. No British minister is likely to be accredited to this country during the remainder of President Cleveland's term. In that event Mr. Phelps ought to be recalled.

A genuine blizzard, the first of the season, was on hand at Waterloo, Iowa, on Wednesday. There was more than a foot of snow. On that day people in Wilmington could sit out on the piazzas and enjoy the balmy air.

The Eagle and Phoenix Manufacturing Company, of Columbus, Ga., has declared a semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent. This establishment employs about 2,000 hands. Its success demonstrates the profitableness of cotton manufacturing in the South when judiciously managed.

A test suit has been brought by a farmer evicted from the Des Moines River lands in Iowa to recover from the land owners the value of improvements made on the land during occupancy. It is estimated that the improvements are worth at least $5 per acre on the 95,000 acres of land from which parties have been evicted.

The latest estimate of the loss by the Marblehead fire is $800,000. The buildings destroyed number 37, many of which were factories, and 1,000 persons are out of employment. The prevailing sentiment is that the town should be rebuilt at once, and with brick buildings, instead of wooden ones.

Thurman's life in Columbus at this time is very much as Tilden's was at Gramercy Park in his last years. He spends most of his time at his residence. He remains up reading until about 3 o'clock in the morning, breakfasts at 10, plays with his grandchildren and then resorts to his library. Occasionally he goes up street, calls at the office of his son and drops in on a few old friends.

Illustrative of the progress that the new South is making is the wonderful growth of such towns as Brunswick, in Georgia. For a hundred years it slept placidly as a hamlet, but now has suddenly developed as a bustling town, with the making of a thrifty city in it. Its population has jumped to 12,000, and though 4,000 bales of cotton was considered big shipments for it three or four years ago, it will ship 150,000 bales this season.

There was no ice in the Mississippi River on Christmas Day and the young folks of Winona, Minn., adopted a novel expedient, for the season, in the way of a good time. An account says:

At 3 o'clock this afternoon a long procession of young men, each with a lady at his side, marched from the postoffice to the dock of the steamer Vanguard, preceded by the Gate City Band. Each of the paraders was armed with a fan and wore a linen duster and straw hat. At 4 o'clock began the most novel scene of half a century. A steamboat excursion on the upper Mississippi on Christmas Day! The steamer ran up to Fountain City, where the population turned out en masse to welcome the excursionists. Field glasses failed to locate a mitre of ice in the river. The trip was made without incident, the steamer landing here at 6 o'clock amid a great display of fireworks.

The New York Herald editorially tells the following pithy and pathetic story of the heroism of James Givens, a deck hand on board the ill starred steamer John H. Hanna. The name of James Givens should be written "in tracings of eternal light." Under a great impulse our common human nature is capable of sublime self sacrifice and of the heroic deeds of which poets sing. Givens illustrates that sentiment.

He was one of the crew of the steamer John H. Hanna, just now burned on the Mississippi River. Only one of the crew, mind you, and yet in the pinch when death was busy gathering his harvest from the flames he instantly became the master spirit of the occasion.

The steamer was headed for the bank as soon as fire was discovered. She struck with such force, however, that she bounded back into the river like a rubber ball. That was the critical moment. It looked as though all on board would be lost. And they would have been lost but for James Givens. The pilot, horrified by the rapid spread of the flames, left his post and sprang overboard. It was the natural, almost irresistible act of a timid man, and we can hardly blame him. Givens leaped for the wheel. The pilot house was on fire. There was fire behind him, in front of him, all round him. His clothes were singed. He hung on to that wheel, headed the boat for the shore again, then pinned the wheel and kept it in place.

By that time it became a question whether he could save his life or not. He made a dash for the side of the vessel, was horribly burned, jumped into the water, was rescued and now lies on a cot in a New Orleans hospital.

The story is a short one, but it took a large souled, courageous man to be the hero of it. All honor to James Givens, "one of the crew."

The latest estimate we have had as to the strength of the next House was given us by Maj. McClammy. He says that as now developed the Republicans have one majority. The following comes from Washington City under date of the 6th inst.: A special to the Post from Charleston, W. Va., says: "Governor Wilson to-day issued certificates of election to John O. Pendleton, Democrat, Congressman-elect from the 1st district, and W. L. Wilson, Democrat, Congressman-elect from the 2d district. No protest was presented. Certificates were not issued to Congressmen from the 3rd and 4th districts, and Governor Wilson says he will not issue certificates to them until he can do so according to law."

We have knives for your boys and scissors for your girls. What will please them more for presents? N. Jacobi Hardware Co.

Do you use loaded shells? You will find that they will save you time, trouble and expense. For sale by the N. Jacobi Hardware Co.

Silver-plated knives, forks, spoons, and child's sets, carving knives and forks. Make your friends happy by making useful presents. A nice line of the above is offered by the N. Jacobi Hdw. Co.

An extra train will be put on the Seacoast Railroad to-morrow—children's day—leaving the Princess street depot at 10 a. m. and returning from the Hummocks at 1:30 p. m. Fare, as usual, 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults, round trip.

Rock Crystal Spectacles and Eyeglasses
 Advice to old and young: In selecting spectacles you should be cautious not to take more magnifying power than has been lost to the eye as in the same proportion that you pass that point of increase, will cause you further injury to the eye. Using glasses of stronger power than is necessary is the daily cause of premature old age to the sight. You can get the best at Heinsberger's.

The Red Men.

At a called meeting at the Wigwam of Cherokee Tribe No. 9, I. O. R. M., 27 sleep Hunting Moon, G. S. D. 397, the following Brothers were elected for the next ensuing six moons, and will be raised to their stumps with the appointed Chiefs on the next council to be held on the 2d sleep of Cold Moon G. S. D. 398: V. P.—S. P. Wright; S.—O. H. Kennedy; S. S.—J. Tedder; J. S.—W. Lindstrom; C. of R.—S. J. Ellis; S. of W.—J. D. H. Klander.

Indications.

For North Carolina, fair and colder weather.
 The receipts of cotton at this port to day foot up 555 bales.

We are sorry to hear that Prof. E. Van Laer is sick and confined to the house.

The young folks are all on the quai vive for the entertainment to-night and the dance which is to follow.

Edwin W. Kerr, Esq., of Clinton, Senator-elect to the next legislature from Sampson county, was here yesterday.

Myrtle Grove oysters sold as low as 50 cents per bushel this morning. But they were not very fat, owing to the want of "recent rains."

It turned decidedly colder during the night but the fall temperature has not been very great. The atmosphere is only pleasantly cool now.

Mr. E. A. Anderson, of the U. S. Navy, who was recently married to Miss Loraine, daughter of the late Maj. Loraine, U. S. Army, returned with his bride to the city last night.

Gentlemen need not wear gloves at dinner parties, that is, if they do not have clean ones; but under all circumstances they must take Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup when they get a cold or a sore throat.

The opera of "Patience," which has been in rehearsal by the Wilmington Operatic Co. and the presentation of which, intended originally for the holidays, has been necessarily postponed, will be brought out early in the New Year.

We are sorry to hear that Mayor Fowler is sufficiently indisposed to confine him to the house. As a consequence there was no City Court to-day and the cases on the docket were all continued until to-morrow.

January Weather.
 Mr. F. P. Chaffee, the signal observer here, has compiled the weather chart for January, which is computed from observations here during that month for the past seventeen years.

It shows that we usually have a decided cold change between the 15th and 20th, and another not quite so cold between the 25th and 29th. We also have about one clear day in every four, and one cloudy day in four. It rains one day in every three with an average daily rainfall of 0.13 of an inch.

The average velocity of wind is 7 miles an hour and Southwest is the prevailing direction.

The highest temperature recorded here during the month of January was 78 degrees in 1879. The lowest, 10 degrees in 1880.

The greatest daily rainfall recorded is 4.56 inches, on the 5th, in 1874. The highest hourly velocity of wind was 44 miles from the Southwest on the 9th, in 1879.

St. John's Day in Wilmington.

The Masonic fraternity of Wilmington, consisting of St. John's Lodge No. 1, Wilmington Lodge No. 319, Orient Lodge No. 395 and Concord Chapter No. 1, celebrated St. John's Day, the 27th of December, yesterday evening at St. John's Hall. The arrangements were in charge of a committee appointed for the purpose—Messrs. E. S. Martin, W. M. Poisson and Dr. W. E. Storm of St. John's Lodge; Messrs. Jas. W. Monroe, J. C. Stewart and Isaac Bear of Wilmington Lodge; Messrs. W. H. Chadbourn, J. C. Chase and H. G. Smallbones, of Orient Lodge, and Messrs. M. M. Katz and W. A. Williams, of Concord Chapter.

The order of exercises was as follows:
 Invocation.
 Music—Bow down thine ear, O Lord.
 Installation of officers of St. John's No. 1, Wilmington No. 319, and Orient Lodge No. 395, by M. W. Charles H. Robinson, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Masons of North Carolina.
 Masonic ode.
 Installation of officers of Concord Chapter No. 1, by R. E. M. Katz, Deputy Grand High Priest.
 Music—The Lord is my Shepherd.
 Address by W. H. Chadbourn, W. M., of Orient Lodge No. 395.
 Doxology.
 Be thou, O God, exalted High.
 After the exercises, the members of the craft, with ladies and invited guests, partook of a collation prepared for the occasion.

Rutgers Glee Club Concert.

The Rutgers College Glee Club will appear at the Opera House in this city on Monday night next and it will be an event which the music lovers will look forward to with much pleasure. This Club was organized ten years ago and its members are all born vocalists and with reputations in the musical world which have been fairly and squarely earned. The box sheet for the select concert which they will give here will be opened at Heinsberger's to-morrow morning.

It Will Not be Cut.

Mr. J. H. Decker, general agent for Thatcher, Primrose & West, paid us a very pleasant visit last evening. He says, what we have long known, that his troupe ranks among the best in the country and that there is nothing in it to offend the most fastidious taste. Ladies visit it in large numbers wherever it exhibits. Mr. Decker also assured us that the performance would be given in its entirety, and not cut. The troupe come from the North and they will pass over the W. & W. and W. C. & A. roads with a special train so that they are able to give the whole performance on Wednesday night and leave at their leisure afterwards.

The Charlotte Amateurs are Here.

The Charlotte Amateurs arrived here this afternoon at 1:40 o'clock in a special coach attached to the regular train. They were met at the depot by a committee from the Wilmington company and escorted to their various destinations. The following list of their names is from this morning's Charlotte Chronicle: Mrs. Dewey, Mrs. Withers, Mrs. Harry Orr, Mrs. Stephens, and Mrs. Griffith; the Misses Minnie, Lucy and Bessie Wriston, Addie Williams, Minnie Duls, Leila Gallun, Mamie Hall, Nettie and Ella Summey, Eldora and Estelle Ross, Bessie and Ellie Alexander, Bessie Hart, Fattie Dewey, Cora Wallace, and Miss McDonald; the Messrs. Martin, Hutchison, Cooper, Newcomb, Sams, Kidd, McLaughlin, Powell, Summey, Carleton, Moore, Oates, DaVies, Harkness, Gray, Withers, Hart, Walker, Frank Hart and Willie Kendrick.

The Wide Awake.

The Christmas Wide Awake is so bright and beautiful that Santa Claus may be suspected to have written and illustrated it himself. "Goody Santa Claus," with its dozen jolly pictures, is a regular fireside chronicle of "Father Christmas" and his folks. Margaret Sidney opens her new Peppers serial in this number. This story will run through the year. "The Adventures of David Vaue and David Crane" opens the door upon a typical New England farmhouse family. Elizabeth Stuart Phelps contributes one of her best short stories. John Strange Winter has a good story with a sweet lesson, entitled "Yum-Yum: A Pug." Mrs. Fremont has, "How the Good News Came Out of the West." Mary E. Wilkins is represented by "The Silver Hen." Mrs. M. F. Butts has a naive story, called "Mussentou-chit." Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen opens the magazine with a splendid ballad of the North, "Inge the Boy King." Mrs. Frances A. Humphrey furnishes a charming paper from Scotland, about "Pet Marjorie." Emilie Poisson has a dainty poem, "Little Trel and Little Maid." Mrs. Whiton-Stone contributes a beautiful Christmas sonnet. Miss Amanda B. Harris tells the touching story of a captive eagle. There are many other interesting articles which we cannot enumerate here. Only $2.40 a year. D. Lothrop Company, Boston, Mass.
