The receipts of cotton at this port to day foot up 52 bales.

See our latest door bell, transom lifter and sash fastener. N. Jacobi Hdw. Co.

Indications.
For North Carolina, generally fair, and slightly warmer weather.

We have something new and useful to show the builder and farmer. N. Jacobi Hardware Co.

All kinds of School Books and School Supplies can be bought cheapest at Heinsberger's.

What you need is a medicine which is pure, efficient, reliable. Such is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It possesses peculiar curative powers.

If you want a picture framed go to Heinsberger's. He has a large assortment of Mouldings to select from.

Another lot of sash, doors and blinds just received by the N. Jacobi Hdw. Co. They will save you money on building materials of all kinds.

You can paint your old buggy and make it look bright and new with the ready prepared Detroit Carriage Paint. Sold by the N. Jacobi Hdw. Co.

Parties wishing to erect cottages along the line of the Ocean View R. R. are requested to leave applications for same with Mr. S. VanAurine.

The trestle work of the new railroad bridge across the channel at the Hummocks is now completed. A part of the iron is here and it will be laid as fast as received. The trestle runs directly out from the railroad terminus at the Hummocks.

There seems to have been less snow in Wilmington than at any other point in the State. We are credited with two inches here, while at Charlotte it was 12-10 and at Monroe 14 inches. There was more of it at Newbern than there was here.

Pennsylvania.
Referring to the item in yesterday's Messenger regarding the origin and meaning of the names of other States, we are informed that Pennsylvania is derived from transposing the names of William Penn's daughter, Sylvania Penn.

At the Opera House To-Night.
The indications are that there will be a large and fashionable audience to-night at the Opera House to witness the cantata of Ruth. The ladies and gentlemen who are to appear have labored under many disadvantages but they have persisted in the face of all obstacles and they will present a charming entertainment to-night.

A Good Idea.
It has been suggested that a bureau be established here similar to the one in Paris, where parties finding lost articles of not enough value to advertise can leave them at the bureau. So any one losing anything can leave word and if it is found and sent to the bureau can be returned to the owner. Proper safeguards could be thrown around the records so that no one could secure the articles who were not the real owners. The idea is suggested by one who found a black glove on Fourth street yesterday and would like to find the owner. Separately neither of the gloves is of any value, united they are worth probably a dollar. The police department at the City Hall could take charge of such a bureau at no expense and very little extra labor. Goods unclaimed for, say three months, could be returned to the finder or the finder could retain the lost article in his own possession until the real owner was discovered, simply leaving a record of it at the bureau. In this way the chances of loss might be lessened.

The boy stood on the burning deck, and the wind was very high. But he was calm and serene. Why? He had a small bottle of Dr. Ball's Cough Syrup in his pocket, he hid indeed.

Mr. W. E. Davis leaves for Raleigh to-morrow with the memorial to the Legislature to re-establish the State Fish Commission. The memorial is endorsed by the Chamber of Industry, Chamber of Commerce and Produce Exchange. A similar memorial is also going from Newbern, we are informed.

Death of an Aged Lady.
Mrs. Elizabeth Penny, relict of the late W. R. Penny and mother of the Messrs. Penny, of this city, and of whose extreme illness we spoke in Saturday's issue, died at the residence of Mr. S. H. Penny on Saturday evening, aged 74 years. The funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church at 9:30 o'clock this morning, after which the remains were taken to Brunswick county for interment by the side of her husband in the family burying ground.

City Taxes.
It is suggested that our Board of Aldermen change the time for payment of city taxes. They are now payable at the same time as the State and county taxes. If separated it would be a great boon to the poor, who frequently find it a great hardship to raise all at one time. We certainly must do all we can to lighten the burdens of the poor. It is also suggested that the city taxes, being much heavier than the State and county, be divided into two payments, six months apart. No additional expense would be entailed on the city by doing this.

Leitch, the Revivalist.
There is considerable talk around town now about asking the Evangelical Alliance to call Tom Leitch, the evangelist, to hold a series of meetings in the Tabernacle in this city this Spring. Many want Mr. Pearson but it is said he cannot be secured. Those who have heard both Sam Jones and Tom Leitch say Leitch is superior to Jones as an evangelist. Many want Mr. Jones but it is said he is engaged now for two years ahead. Mr. Leitch has just closed a meeting at Bennettsville and goes thence to Spartanburg. It is thought he can be secured for Wilmington this Spring.

Scribner's for March.
Scribner's Magazine for March is a very bright and interesting number, with an excellent table of contents and profuse illustrations. "The Railway Mail Service," by ex-Postmaster General Thomas I. James, is the leading article. It is beautifully illustrated. The fifth instalment of "The Master of Ballantrae," by Robert Louis Stevenson, follows. Then we have "A German Rome," by W. B. Scott, with illustrations; "Economy in Intellectual Work," by William H. Burnham; "An Eye for an Eye," by Robert Grant; "Some of Wagner's Heroes and Heroines," illustrated, by William F. Apthorp; "Mexican Superstitions," by Thos. A. Janier; "Extenuating Circumstances," by W. McR. Bangs; and "An Animated Conversation," by Henry James. There are three pretty poems in the number. Charles Scribner's Sons, New York, at $3 a year.

And the World Moves.
To some of us old "mossbacks" it will look real "funny" to see a railroad running up and down Wrightsville Banks, with neat cottages here and there, where people will not be afraid to stay all night with their little ones. A few years ago it was sometimes a more difficult matter to get from Wrightsville to the Banks than it was to get from Wilmington to Wrightsville but now it is a very slight matter. Formerly no one thought of remaining on the Banks all night and we can recollect one or two instances where parties were caught there on a dead calm and compelled to remain all night, whose thrilling adventures were listened to next day with absorbing interest. Now people are to remain there all night, and many nights, by choice and preference. They will be lulled to sleep by the refrain of the sea waves and awakened by their roaring melody. Summer residences on Wrightsville Banks! Well, the world do move.

Adulterated Food.

The burning question of the hour is the adulteration of food. We hear with alarming frequency now a-days of diseases which were formerly of rare occurrence. Paralysis and rheumatism are two evils which stalk abroad in the land now by night and by day. We believe that they are largely due to the adulteration of food, especially flour and lard. The legislature could do a good thing by tackling this matter. We are surprised that the subject has not excited attention everywhere; that the adulterations do exist and that they are exceedingly injurious to the human system is beyond dispute. You buy a barrel of flour and you eat a peck of gypsum. You use a can of lard and probably one-fourth of it is water and another fourth vile impurities. A lady in this city last Fall had occasion to use some lard which she had got out herself from a hog she had purchased. She gave out the usual quantity for the bread, and when it came on the table it was so "short" that she found out that one half part of the home made lard was equal to one full part of that she purchased. Such facts as these are potent. As for flour, the adulteration of this article of everyday food is well known. Yet there are flour mills in North Carolina which turn out a pure article, which can easily be obtained. Why not use this home made flour? Our dealers can get it and they can sell it. For some years previous to the war nearly all of the flour used here was manufactured in Fayetteville. It was not as white as the adulterated flour but it was a pure, sweet, nutritious article.

Seven Years' Pastorate.

Rev. F. W. E. Peschau, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, yesterday completed seven years of pastoral labors in our city. He is the oldest resident pastor of the Christian churches in our city, for since his advent here all the churches have changed pastors. St. James' Church has the third, St. Paul's and St. John's each have the second rector, the First and Second Presbyterian Churches each have new pastors, and so has the First Baptist, and Grace and Fifth Street Methodist Churches, each have the third pastor, and the Catholic Church has a new priest. All these changes have been made in seven years.

With the rolling years the attachment between pastor and people in the Lutheran Church seems to grow. During these years Rev. Mr. Peschau has missed holding services but once on account of sickness, which is certainly a remarkable record.

SOME STATISTICS.

Including the funeral discourses he has preached 700 times in Wilmington. He married 44 couples, buried 136 persons, baptized 132 and confirmed and received from other churches 179. The Sunday school has almost doubled its numbers. Improvements have been made in the parsonage. The church has been revarnished, recarpeted and the pews recushioned. A new lectern and new baptismal font have been added to the altar furniture. A most handsome pipe organ has been secured and Luther Memorial Building has been erected. Every society and association connected with the church has funds on hand, and the only debt the church has is one resting on Luther Memorial Building. This compact, though not exceedingly large congregation, has raised, outside of its running expenses, in these seven years $18,401.80. One of its young men is studying for the ministry.

The church has indeed prospered wonderfully, both spiritually and financially, under Mr. Peschau's fostering care. His pure life, his wise administration, his firm adherence to the right, his careful judgment, his fraternal feelings for Christians of other denominations and his scholarly attainments have won for him a place in the affections of his flock and the esteem of the general public that will prove a glorious crown of consolation to him in his declining years.

There is one thing about Mr. Peschau that is really remarkable and which we simply take occasion to mention here. Born and reared to manhood in Germany, and educated in that country, he is to-day one of the purest English linguists that we know. His accent is as correct and distinct and his diction as elegant as that of any educated American, "native and to the manner born," with whom we have ever conversed.

Chronic nasal catarrh—guaranteed cure—Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Sold by druggists at 50 cents.

Shad will be scarce and high for the next few days, the big freshet in the Cape Fear having driven back to the city all of the fishermen who were operating at points above.

TERRIBLE FOREWARNINGS.

Cough in the morning, hurried or difficult breathing, raising of phlegm, tightness in the chest, quickened pulse, chilliness in the evening or sweats at night, all or any of these things are the first stages of consumption. Dr. Acker's English Remedy for Consumption will cure these fearful symptoms, and is sold under a positive guarantee by Munds Bros., druggists.

Rock Crystal Spectacles and Eyeglasses.

Advice to old and young: In selecting spectacles you should be cautious not to take more magnifying power than has been lost to the eye as in the same proportion that you pass that point of increase, will cause you further injury to the eye. Using glasses of stronger power than is necessary is the daily cause of premature old age to the sight. You can get the best at Heinsberger's.
