THE DAILY REVIEW

VOL. XIII. WILMINGTON, N. C., MONDAY, JULY 1, 1889. NO 154.

The Morehead Munchausen is still at it. His last effusion relates to two wolves and a little Frenchman.
 Raleigh's credit is good. Her new issue of $25,000 of street improvement bonds have been taken by a Baltimorean at 107.25.
 Judge Lynch gets in some good work sometimes but he missed it when he failed to tackle the man who killed Capt. Dawson.
 The Republicans in the Western part of the State are represented as "all broke up." The Watauga Enterprise, an "organ," was sold at auction last week for $4.75, and this is considered a high price to pay for it.

Mr. C. M. Busbee, counsel for the prosecution in the Grissom case, has retired from it, leaving it in the hands of Mr. Spier Whitaker alone. Hon. A. M. Waddell has been retained in Mr. Busbee's place and will leave for Raleigh to-night to take part in the trial.
 The drift of opinion here is divided as to the merits of the Grissom case. Much nastiness has already been developed and the Day's Doings and the Police Gazette have been excelled in the publication of filth. We don't air such things in the columns of the DAILY REVIEW, our aim being to publish nothing whatever that may not be read aloud in the family circle.

The result of the Dawson murder trial, which has been in progress in Charleston during the past week, has resulted in the acquittal of McDow. It is a perfect travesty of justice. McDow was at least guilty of manslaughter—in our view, of murder—but he was acquitted, by a mixed jury, composed largely of colored men. McDow's own admissions on the witness stand were sufficient to have sent him to the Penitentiary for life.

An Offensive Breath
 is most distressing, not only to the person afflicted if he have any pride, but to those with whom he comes in contact. It is a delicate matter to speak of, but it has parted friends and lovers. Bad breath and catarrh are inseparable. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases as thousands can testify.

Progress.
 It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possession these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

For the Regular Regattas.
 The Carolina Yacht Club have issued invitations, embracing the courtesies and privileges of the club house and grounds for the series of regattas this Summer, the first of which is to be sailed on Thursday next, the 4th inst. The Extension of the G. C. & N. R. R.
 Speaking of the extension to Atlanta of the Georgia, Carolina and Northern R. R., which now runs from Monroe to Chester, S. C., to Augusta, Georgia, Chronicle says: "Weakness in Richmond Terminal reveals the fact that the roads controlled by that organization are threatened by a serious danger. The Seaboard & Roanoke is one of the most profitable and independent railroads in the South. It has just disposed of its guarantee bonds to build a line from Monroe, N. C., to Atlanta, 208 miles long, which parallels the best part of the Richmond & Danville system."

Weather Crop Bulletin.
 The reports of correspondents of the Weekly Crop Bulletin, published by the North Carolina Experiment Station and State Weather Service, cooperating with the United States Signal Service, show that there has been an excess of rainfall, a deficiency of temperature and sunshine for the week ending Friday, June 28th. For the same week last year the reports indicated an excess of rainfall and temperature and about the average amount of sunshine. An unusually heavy rain storm set in on Friday with prospect for continuance for several days. The effect upon crops is reported as favorable. There has probably been too much rain and too little sunshine for cotton, although that crop is reported generally in fine condition and growing nicely. Corn and tobacco are doing well. The week has been unfavorable to harvesting.

DEATH IN THE WAVES.

Sad Accident by Drowning Yesterday at Wrightsville Beach.
 A young man by the name of Claude M. Lockhart, a clerk at the Orton House in this city, was drowned yesterday afternoon while bathing in the surf at Wrightsville Beach.

It seems that a party of young men went down from the city in the afternoon and stopped at Mr. Brown's bath houses, on the beach, to take a surf bath. The deceased, Mr. Lockhart, Mr. Archie Hanby and Mr. J. A. Williams, of Atlanta, Ga., started from the bath houses together. They raced down to the water and Mr. Lockhart was the first to enter. He was a capital swimmer and at once struck out into the waves. A strong flood tide was then coming in. Mr. Williams, being somewhat unaccustomed to surf bathing, held back a little and saw Mr. Hanby swim out to where Mr. Lockhart was. He then saw that they had hold of each other and thought that they were sporting. Under this impression he swam towards them, thinking that they had gone as far as they intended and would soon return. As he neared the two he heard Mr. Hanby call to him for help, but did not think he was in earnest—thought that this was also a part of the sport. As he got nearer he realized that Mr. Hanby was in earnest. Mr. Hanby sang out to him soon after that Mr. Lockhart was drowning and called to him to come to his assistance. He did so and the two took hold of Mr. Lockhart, one on each side, and swam with him towards the shore. They did not get there, however, and called for a rope. This was procured and Messrs. John A. Cutts and Robert Branch, who were just ready to enter the surf, seized it and started in with it. There was about 100 feet of the line and Mr. Cutts swam out with it tied to his arm. In the meantime Mr. Lockhart had become separated from his supporters and was fast being carried out to sea. The others were almost completely exhausted and swam to the shore. Mr. Williams then assisted with the rope, but Mr. R. F. Warren took the end from him and swam out with it. He got into deep water and lost his grasp of the rope. But before any one could possibly reach him Mr. Lockhart had disappeared.

While the rope was being carried out there was a call for a boat but there was none at hand. Just then Mr. John F. LeGrand, bookkeeper at the Orton House, who was with the party, saw Capt. Iredell Johnson with the sharpie Katie Daniels coming out of the inlet. He ran towards the boat to notify Capt. Johnson of the mishap but turned his head after he had run a short distance and saw the last of poor Lockhart. He was about 20 yards beyond those who were hurrying to his rescue and as Mr. LeGrand turned he saw him fight frantically with the waves for a few seconds. It then seemed as though he turned a complete somersault in the water and disappeared. He soon came up again and then seemed to be lying in the swell, with his hands at rest and not moving a muscle. He then sank once more beneath the water and was not seen again.

The others all managed to reach the shore in safety. Mr. Cutts and Mr. Branch were both very much exhausted. As they neared the beach those who were at hand rushed in and helped them to the land.
 Mr. Lockhart was a young man hardly more than 21 years of age. He had not been here long but had formed many pleasant acquaintances and was highly thought of by all who knew him. He was a native of Timmonsville, S. C., where his parents reside. The body has not been recovered.

One of the fine new horses recently purchased for the Hook and Ladder Co., the iron grey, died this morning, it is thought from some lung disease. The black horse has been sick but is getting better.
 Advices from the up country are to the effect that there is a fresher in the river. It is understood to be a large fresher, equal to what is called a "Fall fresher" but not high enough to seriously interfere with the crops in the Bladen lowlands.

Teachers' Institute.
 A Teachers' Institute will be held by Prof. M. C. S. Nobles, under the auspices of the State Board of Education, in the Union School Building, in this city, during the week beginning on Monday next, the 8th inst. It is for white teachers in New Hanover county and will be open each day at 9 o'clock. Public school teachers are required to attend and private teachers and those wishing to become teachers are cordially invited to attend.

A Little More Rain.
 The rains to-day are generally along the coast and have prevailed in that section at intervals throughout the entire day. The rainfall during June shows a deficiency of .36 of an inch for the month as compared with the same month last year. The past week, however, shows an excess over the last week in June, 1888. The heaviest down pour to day was about 1 o'clock when the pavement on the South side of Market, near Second, was completely submerged, the curbing acting as a dam. Those who do business there are certainly a long suffering and patient people.

Meteorological.
 Mr. F. P. Chaffee, Signal Officer at this place, reports as follows for the month of June: Mean barometer, 30.088; highest, 30.33, on the 15th; lowest, 29.74, on the 18th; mean temperature, 74.2; highest, 93, on the 20th; lowest, 58, on the 1st and 2d; greatest daily range, 20; least, 4; deficiency, .40; total deficiency since January 1st, 150; mean daily dew point, 69; mean daily relative humidity, 84.2; prevailing direction of wind, S. W.; total movement, 5,004 miles; extreme velocity, 27 miles, S., on the 4th; total precipitation, .603 inches; number of days on which rain fell, 11; deficiency in rainfall, .36; total excess since January 1, 3.96; there were 6 cloudless days, 11 partly cloudy, and 13 cloudy.
