Many Improvements.

The improvements at Carolina Beach are many and wonderful. It presents new attractions almost every day. There are now long rows of cottages, all occupied, and others going up. The hotel has been reinforced by the addition of two large two-story houses, South of the main building, each containing six comfortable, breezy rooms. In a few years there will be a regular town there. The regulations are all excellent and the facilities unsur passed. Capt. Perry has a house full all the time.

Death of an Aged Lady.

We regret to chronicle the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Gade, of Bolton, Columbus county, which occurred at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. C. H. Arrival of the Governor.

Gov. Fowle arrived at 8.30 this morning from Raleigh by way of the Carolina Central Railroad. After breakfast at the Orion, he went to the Hammocks on the 11.30 train. The Governor's party consists of his daughter, Miss Mary Fowle, his son D. J. Fowle, Jr., and private Secretary S. F. Telfair. The Governor was escorted to the Hammocks by Commissary General Cantwell and Mr. J. A. Bonitz, where he will spend the day until 5.30 this p. m., when he will make his first visit to the camp. The Governor will be received by the whole command and then witness the dress parade, returning to the city to night. A new feature will be the regulation salute to the Commander-in-Chief by the trumpeters of the different bands.

The Marie, however, got her hose in play and extinguished the fire that had spread from the Queen to Bowden's naval stores yard adjoining, among a lot of dross, and as usual, did excellent service.

The watchman who had charge of the Queen ever since she was tied up, was on board when the fire broke out. He said that he thought that the boat caught on fire from sparks from a passing steamer.

The Roster of Officers.

Our report from the Encampment closed rather abruptly yesterday. It was unavoidable. We had cut off too much for that issue and couldn't "chaw" it all. It was necessary to close as abruptly as we did to save the mails. It was our intention to conclude the roster of the officers of the regiments but we were compelled to leave out a part. Good Words Well Placed.

The Macon Telegraph of the 4th inst. pays a very handsome compliment to our distinguished towns man, Hon. Alfred M. Waddell. W copy herewith the entine article:

Hon, J. Randolph Tucker, of Vir ginia, savs he has had enough of politics and will devote the remainder of his days to teaching the students of Washington and Lee Uni versity the principles of our constitutionel law. Hon. A. M. Waddell, of North Carolina, another distinguished Southerner who has been conspicuous as a politician, announces that he will give his undivided attention hereafter to the practice of law. No member of the forty fourth and forty fifth congresses made more reputation than did Mr. Waddell. He was the chairman of the postoffice committee and one of the recognized leaders of the Democratic majority in the House. In one of the sharp debates of that time, Mr. Blaine attacked Mr. Waddell vigorously, and the friends of the North Carolinian feared that he had been overmatched. They were relieved when Waddell came to reply. He gave Mr. Blaine sach a parliamentary threshing as few men eyer receive in congress. It is said that of all the men who ever tackled Blaine in congress. Waddell was the only one who completely silenced him. Mr. Waddell is a fine lawyer and no doubt he will find an undivided devotion to his profession more profitable and, withal, more pleasant than a contention with the un

The boy stooped down and picked up a rock, or a piece of brick. He was asked, by the purchaser, "What are you going to do with that?" As soon as he spoke the boy let the misse! fly, and struck the man who bought the apple in the face. The men where the barbers stopped the men by all calling out at once for razors. One of the soldiers struck Best, with his fist, in the stomach and then the white men were forced to retreat by the profuse display of razors. The fracas then quieted down a few minutes and Bill Best was seen on the streets in front of shop with a razor. What object was is unknown. soldier who had struck Best, at this stage appeared in front of the shop and went by the door. Best was sitting out in front and mmediately arose and went for this soldier with an open razor, trying his best to cut him. One of the comrades knocked Best down, the razor falling from his hand, but before he got up he gathered up the razor, and, on arising, renewed his attack by cutting at the man again. The man began backing, Best pressed on, cutting and slashing with his razor, all the time. At this time one of the soldiers drew his the pit of the right arm the ball striking in front, inflicting a painful but not fatal flesh wound. Best then ran into the drug store of John H. Hill & Son, where his wound was dressed.

The Wilmington Amateur Opera Company will present the charming operetta "Little Tycoon" at the Opera House tomorrow night, and to the largest audience that has ever greeted a performance in this city. The piece is well worth the patron age and our citizens have not forgotten the creditable manner in which the "Little Tycoon" was presented on a former occasion by the amateurs.
