Day's length 14 hours and 34 minutes.

Sunset to-morrow afternoon at 17 minutes past 7 o'clock.

Full moon this afternoon at 48 minutes past 3 o'clock.

For fishing lines, leads, bobs, poles and hooks of all kinds go to the N. Jacobi Hdw. Co.

Lawn rakes of the latest and most improved patent. For sale by the N. Jacobi Hdw. Co.

There is economy in building barb wire fences and in buying your wire from the N. Jacobi Hdw. Co.

We can make you comfortable for $1.00 by supplying you with the Cronelad Oil Stove. N. Jacobi Hdw. Co.

Enamoline, the best stove polish in the market. No dust, no mixing necessary. Use like shoe blacking. Every housekeeper should try it. For sale by the N. Jacobi Hdw. Co.

Painters, save money by buying your white lead, ready mixed paints, varnishes and brushes from the N. Jacobi Hdw. Co. They will none but the best.

Refreshing and Invigorating Delicious Soda Water as drawn from Munds Brothers' magnificent new soda fountain at a temperature of 34°. Purest Fruit Syrup, Milk Shakes and Natural Mineral Water.

A cordial invitation is extended to visitors in the city, both ladies and gentlemen, to attend the prayer and experience meeting of business and working men at 8:15 o'clock this evening at the Seaman's Bethel, on Dock, between Front and Water streets.

We sympathize deeply with Mr. William Neistlie and his excellent wife in the loss of their infant son, Joseph William Neistlie. The funeral services will take place from the residence of the parents, corner Sixth and Mulberry streets, at 10:30 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The usual Sabbath services will be held by the pastor, Rev. W. S. Creasy, at Grace Methodist Church to-morrow. Preaching at 11 a. m. and 8:15 p. m. Sabbath School at 4:30 p. m. Strangers and visitors are cordially invited.

The liver and kidneys must be kept in good condition. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a great remedy for regulating these organs.

At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church the Rev. J. Henry Smith, D. D., of Goldsboro, N. C., will preach to-morrow morning and night.

There are but two Confederate Veterans on the "staff" at the Sound and one of these, it is said, was never in active service. With the three reconstructed governors North Carolina has had the Veterans seem to have counted for but little.

Rev. Dr. Pritchard's subjects at the First Baptist Church to-morrow will be: At 11 a. m., "Justification;" at 8:15 p. m., "Necessity for Repentance." Good music may be expected. A cordial invitation is extended to all strangers in the city to attend, with whom the pastor will be happy to shake hands. Seats free.

There were really not more than 200 Veterans in line yesterday, about the same number that paraded last year. Then, however, the ranks were made up almost entirely of town people but yesterday a great many were from the country. There would probably have been a hundred or so more but for the distressingly hot hour, 2:30, at which the parade was called.

We are requested to state that parties can save money by buying through tickets from Wilmington to the terminus of the Ocean View R. R. and in this way: The round fare to Wrightsville is 40 cents, from Wrightsville to the Hammocks it is 10 cents and from the Hammocks on the Ocean View R. R. it is 10 cents. So it will readily be seen where the saving comes in.

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possession of these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

Shirts, we have got them by the million, made by good and skilful hand; come and see us, we can save you over fifty five per cent. We'll not charge you fancy prices, treat you well, don't be afraid, therefore come and patronize; us money saved is money made, at the Wilmington Shirt Factory, 122 Market street. Sign of the blue awning.

The Lutheran Church.

Rev. W. G. Campbell, the scholarly and successful pastor of St. James' English Lutheran Church, of Concord, and the popular Chaplain of the 4th Regiment, will preach in St. Paul's Lutheran Church at 8:15 p. m. to-morrow. At 11 a. m. to-morrow the services will also be in English and will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. F. W. E. Peschau.

Call for a Correct Roster.

The following has been submitted to us for publication. We are glad to see that a move has been made in this direction. It is something that should be attended to at once—it should be done while it can be done:

CAMP LATIMER, N. C. S. G. WRIGHTSVILLE, N. C., July 13, '89.

At a meeting of the Confederate Veterans, assembled as above, the following preamble and resolution were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, It is the opinion of all who have examined the present so-called Roster of North Carolina troops, that it is inaccurate, incomplete and misleading to such an extent that it falls of its purpose entirely; and, realizing the importance of having a correct Roster published without further delay, believing that it can be done with a greater degree of accuracy while those who engaged in that struggle are living therefore,

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the commander of this body to memorialize the next General Assembly, to be held in the State of North Carolina, urging upon them the necessity and importance of having prepared a correct Roster of the North Carolina troops engaged in the late war between the States.

In accordance with the requirements of the resolution, I have appointed the following named gentlemen as the committee to memorialize the Legislature: General Robert B. Vance, Asheville; Colonel William L. Saunders, Raleigh; Capt. William R. Bond, Scotland Neck.

Signed W. L. DeRosset, Commander.

The Little Tycoon.

Notwithstanding the steady down-pour of rain last night the Opera House was filled by a large, cultured and appreciative audience to see the Little Tycoon, which was presented by the Wilmington Amateurs, for the benefit of the Wilmington Light Infantry. In fact, the house was not only full, but it was overflowing and seats had to be placed in the aisles to accommodate the demand.

Notwithstanding the fact that their last entertainment here was an admirable one, and it seemed then that but little was wanting to make it a perfect rendition, yet a great improvement was noticeable last night. Mr. E. P. Boatwright was well up to the character in his rendition of General Knickerbocker and he has been the recipient of many congratulations on his admirable presentation; Mr. Horace M. Emerson was thoroughly at home with his magnificent tenor voice, in Alvia Barry and Miss Annie DeRosset, "Wilmington's sweet singer" scored her great success as Violet. There is no question about it, we are proud and happy to say; she has not only a magnificent voice that is destined, we hope, to charm and enrapture thousands but she adds to a beautiful figure and exquisitely lovely face that quality of adaptation of the spirit of a character which is always more than half of the battle. It is unnecessary to say that she was cheered to the echo on every appearance.

Our space is not enough to allow us to dwell at length on the presentation of each and every character in the piece. It was as a whole admirably brought out. Miss Amoret Cameron, as Miss Hurricane, scored a great success. In perfect keeping with the name she carried the house by storm; Mr. U. M. Robinson, as Eufus Ready, Mr. R. S. French, as Lord Dolphin, Mr. George R. Dyer, as Teddy, and Miss Minnie Schwarz as Dolly Dimple, with her exquisite appreciation of the character and her charming voice, all received the hearty commendations of the audience.

The stage was beautifully decorated and the setting was excellent. The managers are to be congratulated on the signal success achieved.

A Drawn Battle.

The Veterans were on time yesterday at the camp and the parade and the honors shown them were the most pleasant feature of the day. But there was one thing that was not with bills, at least not exactly as it occurred, and that was a collision between the two lines, the troops and the Vets. It had been understood that a bayonet charge would be made on the Confederate line by the Fourth Regiment, Col. Anthony's, who were in blue uniforms, the line to be halted about 20 feet from the old Vets. On they came in fine style, with pieces at the charge, and bayonets fixed, and at double quick, but somehow Gen. Anthony neglected to give the order to halt. Seeing that they were about to close with his line Col. DeRosset gave the order to the Vets to advance and meet the charge. With a yell, such as formerly woke the echoes of the Potomac, and of the Rapidan and the James rivers, the heroes of the Loss Cause sprang forward to meet the "foe." They met them and the shock was great. The two lines became mixed. The troops opened and nearly all of the Rebs passed through but some got the old war blood up and a scuffle ensued for the pieces which the troops held. Several of these were captured before the lines could become fully separated. Some got mad—almost fighting mad—but this was unnecessary; one or two got a bayonet scratch and that was all of the harm done. Afterwards the old boys and the young boys mingled in friendly converse and the youngsters could not but express their admiration of the grit of their seniors. As it was it was not an unpleasant incident and served to illustrate the pluck of the North Carolina soldiers. Both lines showed a determination to succeed in the deadly mimic fray, and the result was—well, a drawn battle, with no winners needed to carry the wounded to the rear and the surgeons all out of a job.

Forecast.

For North Carolina showers, clearing weather Sunday and stationary temperature. For Wilmington, showers this evening and probably clearing weather to-morrow.

Col. Jones is Dead.

As was anticipated by us yesterday, Col. Leonidas C. Jones, Superintendent of the Carolina Central Railroad, passed peacefully away last night to his well earned rest and a better awakening. He died at 10 minutes past 7 o'clock.

Col. Jones was a native of Richmond, Va., and was the son of the late Sampson Jones, one of the most prominent merchants of that city. He was educated as a civil engineer and was employed in Virginia and Iowa and even farther West. Just when he came to North Carolina we do not know but we first became acquainted with him about twenty years ago, and he was at that time Superintendent of the Fayetteville and Western Railroad, running from Fayetteville to Egypt, a distance of 42 miles. This was directly after the road had been spoliated by the Republicans and it was left in a deplorably destitute condition and Colonel Jones had therefore no easy task before him, under his was management however affairs steadily improved. He remained there until the year 1883 when Col. Jno. M. Robinson invited him to take charge of the Carolina Central R. R. on the resignation of Capt. V. Q. Johnson. He accepted the trust and has since remained faithful and true to its every interest.

But it is not of Col. Jones in his official capacity that we would speak. His work has been known of all men and its results are to be seen in the great improvements which have been made all along the line of the road between this city and Rutherfordton, a distance of 268 miles. It is of the man as we knew him that we would speak; of his kindly heart, his generous sympathies, his cultured mind and of many noble traits which served to make up, as a whole, one of the most honorable, courteous, upright, manly characters that has ever adorned any earthly scene. His loss is a terrible one, not alone to the owners of the road, whose interests he has so faithfully guarded and cherished, and not only to the people of this city, whose interests he had made his own and who honored him for his great worth, but to the employees of the road all of the way from here to Rutherfordton. There is not a man among them all who cannot recall some pleasant words, some kindly deed done for him. He was careful and thoughtful for them when careless and thoughtless for themselves and there has not been of late years a road in the country where a better feeling existed between employers and employees than on the Carolina Central under Col. Jones' management. Here is one little incident, oft repeated. Col. Jones had a private car in which he traveled whenever necessary. In leaving Wilmington this car would generally be coupled at the rear of the night passenger train. Here supper would be served and it is a fact, as told us this morning by a conductor on the road, that Col. Jones was never known to sit down at that meal without first sending an invitation to the conductor and engineer to join him, at the first place the train stopped for wood and water.

Well, he has gone, as we must all go at some time. Let us emulate his virtues and strive to leave behind us as pure a record and as proud and unstained an escutcheon as that which he has bequeathed to his children.

Col. Jones was 58 years of age. He married a daughter of the late Newton R. Bryan, of Moore county. His wife, two sons and two daughters survive him. He had a charming home at Jonesboro, on the C. F. & Y. V. R. R., and there the remains have been taken. They will be interred there to-morrow morning.

All of the engines on the Carolina Central have been ordered draped in mourning, and at the offices of the company similar emblems are displayed, in token of the universal grief and sorrow felt by all at the death of one so highly esteemed and so universally beloved.

Not Afraid of Getting Wet.

One of our morning cotemporaries amuses itself by intimating that the Confederate Veterans did not turn out as largely yesterday as they would have done, but for the rain. It is evident that our esteemed m. c. is not very well acquainted with the Veterans. It rained last year and the line was formed under umbrellas and nobody thought of dropping out of ranks on account of the rain. The average Confed. is not apt to be afraid of a little wetness, within or without.

DIED.

BURK.—In this city, at 5 o'clock, on the evening of the 11th inst., at the residence of her brother, Col. J. G. Burr, JANE AMELIA, daughter of the late Talcott Burr, aged 52 years.
