By the Sad Sea Waves.

We have an aldermanic friend who is spending the Summer at Carolina Beach and who is as full of fun as a sand fly is of iniquity. He carries a bottle of epicac in his vest pocket sometimes for the baby and he may be known by the label on the bottle. He plays the fiddle, too, and is one of the orchestra engaged in advance for a dance at the hotel at the Beach next Tuesday night. He was practising last night for the occasion and some very doleful sounds issued from the interior of his cabin. They didn't exactly draw the fish up out of the sea to listen to the delightful strains but they drove them a hundred miles to the Eastward of the Gulf Stream and a hundred fathoms deep, which for all practical purposes amounts to the same thing. Upon being re monstrated with by the neighbors he declared that he was simply practicing hymns for the choir next Sunday and that his recalcitrant neighbors did'nt know PRINTERS and BINDERS, good church music when they heard it.
