Pious John Wanamaker sports, figuratively, a very black eye, the adornment having been administered by Wade Hampton. John promised Wade that the postmaster at Columbia should not be removed until the expiration of his term, in February next, and added, voluntarily, that Mr. Gibbs' successor should not be named without con. sulting Senator Hampton. A few days later Mr. Gibbs was removed and the first intimation the Senator had of it was through the papers. Thereupon he writes an open letter to pious John and publishes it in the News and Courier. The letter is a very plain statement of facts and the metaphorical black eye stands out where all the world may see it. But Senator Hampton was in the wrong. He should not have asked a favor at the hands of a man who bought his way into the Cabi net and should not have placed any confidence in his promise when it was made. He'll know better next

How te Gst to Fayetteville.

The Centennial of the ratification by the people of North Carolina of the Constitution of the United States will be held this week in Fayetteville, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. A great many will go up from this city. The fare by rail for the round trip is $3.20 and by steamer $4, the latter including meals and staterooms. There are three distinct ways of getting there, either by the Carolina Central R. R. to Maxton, thence over the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley R. R. to Fay etteville, the Wilmington and Weldon R. R. to Wilson, and thence down the Fayetteville branch, and by the river steamers. There will be a boat every day this week, except Friday, leaving here at 2:30 p. m. and returning at night. On Wed nesday there will be two boats, the A. P. Hurt and the Cape Fear. The Wilmington Light Infantry will go up on the former. The Cape Fear's day is on Thursday but she will go up this week on Wednesday. On the Wilmington and Weldon R. R. parties can leave here at 6 a. m., go to Wilson, spend an hour and a half there, and then take the train on the Fayetteville branch, arriving at that place in the evening. On the Carolina Central they can leave here at 3 o'clock p. m. on Tuesday "Thus am I doubly armed, my and Thursday, and go via Maxton. leath and my life, my bane and an arriving at Fayetteville at 9.20 that night. On Thursday, in addition, there will be a special train run through to Fayetteville, leaving here at 6.15 a. m. and arriving at Fayetteville at 11.30 a. m. This train will leave Fayetteville at 11.45 p. m., after the fireworks, and arrive here on the return at 4.30 a. m. The fare on allof the routes includes a ticket of admission to the Cumberland County Fair.

Since the above was in type arrangements have been made by which an extra train will be rua on the Carolina Central R. R. on Wednesday as well as Thursday. This is to accommodate many who want to go up that way on that day.
