The Daily Review.

Old Year and New Year.

It is all God's year.
His time for sowing.
His time for reaping.
His time for growing.
For rest and quiet sleeping.
His time for soaring.
On wings of the Spirit;
His time for adoring.
The Infinite Merit.

O world above! our world.
Our times, and our places,
Are but as child's play
To thy marvelous spaces,
But if, as dear children.
With hearts full of yearning,
We love and forget not.
Are docile for learning.
Then New Year and Old Year,
Their hoping, regretting,
Will all turn to God's year,
With no time for fretting.

The First Step.

Perhaps you are run down, can't eat, can't sleep, can't think, can't do anything to your satisfaction, and you wonder what ails you. You should heed the warning, you are taking the first step into Nervous Prostration. You need a Nerve Tonic and in Electric Bitters you will find the exact remedy for restoring your nervous system to its normal, healthy condition. Surprising results follow the use of this great Nerve Tonic and Alternative. Your appetite returns, good digestion is restored, and the Liver and Kidneys resume healthy action. Try a bottle. Price 50c. at R. R. Belkamy's wholesale and retail Drug Store.

Have You a Cough?

Attend to it in time—do not neglect it—for it may become serious and end in Consumption. Young's Cough Balsam will cure all Diseases of the Throat and Lungs. For sale by Munds Brothers.

A Distressing Situation.

Big Sister—“Diek, I wish you would go and get Mr. Nicefellow a glass of water.”

Mr. Nicefellow—“Yes, my boy, and here's a dime for you.”

Little Brother—“Thank you. I'll go pretty soon. Maumma said I shouldn't leave the parlor until she came back.” —N. Y. Weekly.

A Gentle Hint.

“Now,” said the photographer, taking hold of the cloth over his apparatus, “are you quite ready?”

“Yes,” replied the customer.

“Well, just keep your eye on that sign,” he said, pointing to a legend on the wall which read: “Positively No Credit,” and look pleasant.”

The Ledger.

Ventured a Surprise.

“Susie,” said Willie to his sister, “what are Blackfeet Indians?”

“What are what?”

“Blackfeet Indians.”

“I don't know, I'm sure,” said Susie, “what the expression can mean, unless those wicked traders have been selling the poor Indians some of the hosiery that is warrant not to fade.” Merchant Traveler.

His Suspicion Justifiable.

“Jenny,” said the young man, as they met on the corner, “is it possible you have been deceiving me?”

“What do you mean?” was her answer.

“I mean this. I want to know if my boss has been calling on you, and you never saying a word to me about it.”

Your suspicions, sir, are as unfounded as they are unjust.”

“Well, if that's the case, I want you to explain something. Yesterday your father was in the store, and after he left the boss said that old Bjornson was the hardest kicker he ever saw.” And an expression indicative of a painful memory flitted over the young man's face.

The Stranger's Story.

A long silence had fallen on the group around the little stove in the back of the Oklahoma dry goods store, says the New York Sun. Each of the rough citizens had told his story or related some experience which once befel him, and the silence that followed an incredible yarn of Hon. Jim Jenks was intense.

The stranger from the East had listened throughout in a listless, wandering manner, and yawned exceedingly when the others laughed. The silence thickened with the smoke, and as they looked at one another in the growing darkness for encouragement to break it Mr. Mike Swipes, with a slight hem, said:

“Wal, now, we've all had our say. Let the stranger say suthin'.”

All eyes turned at once toward the stranger who had come from the East. He pleaded ignorance of a good story, but they persisted. They weren't particular. After a moment's deliberation, during which all snugly placed themselves in their favorite attitudes, the stranger consented, and began in a monotonous and sing-song voice as follows:

“One dark, black night a band of robbers gathered around a camp fire in the heart of the Hartz mountains, in Germany. They had just returned from a plundering expedition, and were resting themselves. The camp fire threw a flickering light on the weird scene. The captain of the band was standing in the shadow, leaning against a tree, his hands resting on his gun. His eyes were bent on the ground, and his face bore a troubled expression. Suddenly he turned, and walking to where his lieutenant stood, said to him:

“Squid, my boy, tell me a thrilling story.”

Squid settled himself on a log seat, and told the following thrilling tale:

A sudden click was heard in the store, followed in quick succession by two more clicks. Silence again fell on the group. The little oil lamp which had hitherto lighted the scene went out, and all was dark. Somebody struck a light, and in the glare it was found that the stranger had disappeared.

“Huh,” muttered the Hon. Jim Jenks, as he pocketed his shooting iron. “He saved his skin this 'ere time.”

Advice to Mothers.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SMOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as ‘bright as button.’ It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. July 6 dead&wlv.

It Works Like a Charm.
