WILMINGTON, N. C.

Postmaster General Wanamaker, n response to a Senate resolution, has transmitted to the Senate an estimate of the increased cost reing not less than 3,000 inhabitants, and also the cost of extending it to those having not less than 5,000 inhabitants. The Postmaster General says that there are 664 of the former towns, and to extend the free delivery system to them would cost the Government $1,317,040, and of the latter there are 294, requiring office buildings in New York has aught real-estate men that it does not pay to erect these buildings. Lawyers, insurance men, and others who have had their offices in them for a time have moved out, as they find that business is not near so rushing when you are up six or seven stories high as when you, are nearer the ground floor. One of these sky scrapers, erected last summer, contains 200 offices, but only thirty-five of them are tenanted. And this is the case with all the high office buildings. It is doubtful if any more of them will go up.

If the bill referred to is enacted it will give the information necessary to intelligently agitate this proposition. The bill will no doubt pass, if for no other purpose than to get the data sought."

John Joseph Burns, a bricklayer, brought an action against the Brooklyn Bricklayers' Benevolent and Protective Union to compel it to reinstate him as a member, so that he may get employment under union employers. The complainant alleged that on January 2, 1889, while he was working on a row of flats in Lexington and Lewis avenues, he was ordered out on strike by the walking delegate. He obey The union fined him $75, and he was prevented from obtaining employment. He asked the court to declare this action null and void; also that the amount of his fine should be credited to him as dues on the books of the union, that the union bosses," and that the defendant pay him $400 'damages. The case was tried before Judge Osborne in ELLA A. Goff, 61 Terrace Street, Boston. the Brooklyn City Court, and the court rendered a decision dismissing the complaint with costs.

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail ed, but afterward returned to work, on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other.
