"And what are you going to do take Lomon Elixir. about it?" is a question that might very properly be a ldress d to M. Blaine, of Maine. Mr. Harrison and take Lemon Elixir. Mr. Blaine stand opposed to the McKinley tariff bill, which means either that McKinley and the supporters of the bill must back down or that the G. O. P. must be hopelessly divided. Let us hope and pray for the latter. The following is from the Washington correspondent of the New York Herald:

What was known to a few yesterday became very generally known to day, and that is that the administration has openly arrayed itself against the passage of the McKinley Tariff bill.

When the Ways and Means Committee was preparing the bill Sec- prostration, biliousness, disordered retary Blaine endeavored to im- kidneys and constipation, I have press upon its members the folly of been cured by Dr. Mozley's Lemon putting sugar on the free list. The Elixir and am now a well man. excuse was that the agricultural interests of the country demanded it and the Farmers' Alliance just then was more influential than the argument of Mr. Blaine. Subsequently Mr. Hitt, chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, introduced a joint resolution intended to give the President power to make substantial reciprocity treaties wi h the Central and South American countries.

The same views expressed to mem bers of the Ways and Means Com mittee had also been repeated to members of the State Finance Com-

The Ways and Means Committee had but one possible Presidential candidate in its midst. The Finance Committee has two at least, and to be influenced by anything Mr. Blaine might say would be to One strengthen the statesman from Maine and diminish the possible chances of the Ohio and Iowa aspirants for a Presidential nomination.

Finally, it became necessary as evidence of good faith on the part of the administration to show that it did not approve the free sugar purifier ever discovered." platform. It so happened that Secretary Blaine had opportunity of heme,"-there is now airing the views of the President of Hood's Sarsaparilla vesterday in three different waysin his letter to Congress, in reply to than of all the telegram from the Millers' Con vention at Minneapolis and in a speech before the Senate Appropriation Committee. Mr. Blaine had has opportunity of repeating on the same day in three different ways the objections the administration holds against the McKinley bill.

In the written statement intended for public circulation the Secretary necessarily was confined to the proprieties of expression in vogue in official life in giving utterance to his views.

But in the Senate Appropriation Committee it is said he waived this restraint and delivered a lecture on political economy to Mr. Allison, of Iowa, that was not intended for the eye or ear of the public. Reference was made to this last scene in these ON THE TURNPIKE THESE FINERAL dispatches to-day, but according to one of the auditors no account yet ternoons. It goes without saying that Mr. Allison did not like the idea of bepropriation Committee for what he OUR PRIVATE STOCK 1876 RYE IS UNhad done as a member of the Fi-doubtedly the best WHISKEY sold in the nance Committee, and he rather resented being called to account for the result of its deliberation.

The Democratic member of the committee, Mr. Blackburn, was de lighted with the tone of Mr. Blaine's view and at an opportune moment he is reported to have said: "I wish you were not Mr. Secretary and were in this Senate to raise your voice against this McKinley

Mr. Blaine-I wish so too. It is the most dangerous, if not the most infamous measure that was ever contocted by any party. The men who vote for this bill will wreck the Republican party. Mr. Blaine then finished the remarks he had outlined on the importance of the appropriation and retired.

Senator Allison, it is said, feels very keenly the weight of responsibility the Secretary put upon him, the more so since he had already disclaimed all desire to be kno in as fathering the result of the Finance Committee's labor in revising the McKinley bill.
