THE DAILY REVIEW

VOL. XIV WILMINGTON, N. C., TUESDAY, JULY 29, 1890. NO 192.

Capt. Parks, who has recently been on duty aboard the ship Vermont, is the first Roman Catholic chaplain that the navy has had.

It has been discovered that the German Empress is descended from Harold I, founder of the Kingdom of Norway, and from Hakon V, its last King.

The contractors for the Baltimore received $155,968 more than the contract price for that ship, which was $1,325,000, the extra sum being for changes and premiums. Her steam-engine cost $13,912.

Much satisfaction is expressed at the appointment of Capt. Kane, the hero of the Calliope at Apia, to the command of the Inflexible, one of the largest and most powerful battleships in the British navy.

Henry M. Stanley is to lecture in this country in the fall. In the meantime he is to undergo a course of lectures himself—certain lectures. He continues ill, however, and there is probably more quinine than honey in his honeycomb.

The irrepressible Blaine is a very disturbing element now in the G. O. P. It is war to the knife between him and the Ways and Means Committee of the House. Let the fight progress. We predict that Blaine will come out on top.

The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger says: "The prevalence of labor troubles is one of the features of the current year. The number of strikes and of strikers thus far this year has been nearly double that of the corresponding time in 1889."

Our Southern neighbors are having two lively rackets now. Plucky little Salvador is advancing steadily towards the capital of her big enemy and the revolution in the Argentine Republic still progresses. When they get as much of it as we had in this country from 1861 to 1865—if they ever do—they will be willing to shake hands over the bloody chasm and let bygones be bygones.

Judging by the quotations in Mr. Stanley's new book, his favorite reading during the Emin expedition was in the Bible and Tennyson. Before turning in for the night, he tells us, he always read the Bible; and it appears that he read the book through twice from beginning to end. Next to the Bible, Mr. Stanley quotes oftentimes from Tennyson—not always quite correctly, by-the-by. Browning figures in Stanley's pages as well as Tennyson.

Under the heading, "Prof. Brown-Sequard Distanced," Dr. Burggraave writes in his Repertoire Universale de Medecine Dosimetrique that a Dr. Malin-Conico, of Naples, pretends to have discovered the microbe of old age. The publications of Italy announce very seriously that the microbe of old age exists and is transmitted by heredity; invades with age the entire human organism, which it ravages and destroys, leading to caducity and finally to death. The above-named Dr. Malin-Conico hopes thus to have found the means of combating this invisible enemy, and preventing man from getting old. All of which is "important if true."

As a rule you will find that all great water drinkers are stout people and, similarly, that all fat people are great water drinkers. The announcement is now made that fifty per cent. of consumptive cases, in their first and second stages, can be cured by the excessive use of water, combined with excessive eating. The theory has been explained before a meeting of the Chicago Medical Society, by Dr. W. H. Burt. His treatment consists in detail of the free use of water every hour in the day, nine hours sleep regularly and if possible the sea or mountain air. Above all, the patient must look upon the drinking of water for all time as his life. Heredity was the great danger, and Dr. Burt advocated the passing by Congress of a law forbidding the marriage of consumptives. With this in force, one hundred years from now consumption would not exist in the United States.

ROUGH ON DIRT SOAP takes the cake.

The biggest plate glass factory in the world is soon to be established at Irwin, Pa., on the Pennsylvania Railroad, by a syndicate of English and American capitalists, which, it is reported, has a capital of $50,000,000 at its disposal.

The consolidation of three big companies in Alabama is announced—the Debardeleben Coal and Iron Company, the Bessemer Iron and Steel Company and the Little Belle Iron and Steel Company. The new company is to have a capital stock of $10,000,000 and it will be one of the largest enterprises in the country.

It was stated at the banquet given Mr. Stanley by his publishers that the paper used to print the various editions—Continental, American and English—would, laid out in sheets, make a white carpet for a footpath from Zanzibar to the Congo and that, piled one upon another, they would reach to the height of the Eiffel tower.

James Gordon Bennett is in Paris watching Gardner Howland "tool" the Magnet; Joseph Pulitzer is in Paris paying big prices to unavailing oculists; Whitelaw Reid is in Paris attending to the business of the nation, and Charles A. Dana is on the high seas, bound for Paris and a good time. Meanwhile, remarks the New York Press, the daily newspapers come out with regularity, and no one knows who makes them.

The Democrats will make a big fight in Pennsylvania and they are going in to win. Delamater, Boss Quay's candidate for Governor, is very unpopular, and this is but one of the many causes which are undermining the G. O. P. in the Keystone State. The Democrats are thoroughly harmonious and enthusiastic over their ticket and it looks already as though Pattison will beat Delamater, with the chances of gaining several Congressmen this fall.

These heavy rains are the best scavengers we have.

The tide in the Sound was unusually high yesterday.

Firewood is high and scarce and a few flat loads would sell well here now.

Mr. Henry W. Angell, of Richmond, Va., is in the city on a brief visit.

There was two inches of rainfall here to-day, between 8 a. m. and 3 p. m.

We are glad to hear further favorable reports to day as to Mr. Roscoe Lamb's condition.

Economy: "100 Doses One Dollar." Merit: "Peculiar to Itself." Purity: Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Fifty first-class hands wanted to make Pants, by the day or piece. Apply at 122 Market street.

Rubber Hose, Lawn Mowers and Rakes of the latest and most improved makes are sold by the N. Jacobi Hdw. Co.

Keep dry and you will keep healthy. Umbrellas, rubber coats, &c., at I. Shrier's, S. E. corner Front and Princess streets.

Rev. R. E. Peele is off on a vacation of a few weeks. Rev. Mr. Rogers, of Pender county, will fill his pulpit during his absence.

I am Manufacturer's Agent for Barbed and all kinds of Wire, Combination Wire and Iron Fences. Orders solicited. James I. Metts.

This rain business is getting monotonous. There was another heavy down-pour this noon. If it does not let up soon the cotton crop will be seriously injured.

The accident to the Grove will not in any way interfere with the excursion to be given on Thursday to Carolina Beach under the auspices of the Evangelical Lutheran St. Matthew's Mission Sunday School. The Passport will take the place of the other boat and two trips will be made from the city, one at 9:30 a. m. and the other at 2:30 p. m.

The Cape Fear is on a boom. A nine-foot rise is reported at Fayetteville up to yesterday morning, when the Cape Fear left there.

The troops all left camp by an early train this morning and have all gone home. Hope to see them next year at the new encampment grounds.

Mr. E. Bellissario and family, of Jacksonville, Fla., arrived here this morning on the Southern train, and went directly to Masonboro. Sound on a visit to relations there.

Hon. O. P. Meares, commanding the veterans of the 18th N. C. Regiment, has issued a call for the annual reunion of the survivors of that regiment to take place at the Hammocks, on the Friday of next week, August 8th.

A large excursion party from Fayetteville, under the auspices of the Presbyterian Sunday School of that city, arrived here this morning over the C. F. & Y. V. R. R. and went directly down on the Seacoast R. R.

Farmers, we can supply you with Peanut Sweeps and Diggers, Scraper and Colter Points. Seven different size wings and two size points for the "Boy Clipper," the most improved plow on the market. N. Jacobi Hdw. Co., factory agents.

Capt. W. A. Johnson, of the Clinton Company, was in the city yesterday with his wife, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. West. Capt. Johnson will be on hand next week with his command at the Encampment and he says that he expects to have full ranks.

We have it now. A Pump that is always primed, never requiring a tub of water to start it. It is the bright invention of a North Carolina genius and is pronounced by all to be the best pump on the market. See it and you will have no other. N. Jacobi Hdw. Co.

It is related of a clever and handsome friend of ours that during the panic on the Sylvan Grove yesterday he turned to his clerk, who was also on board, and shaking his hand fervently hoped that he would meet him in Heaven. They have met since, but not at the proposed rendezvous.

The Regatta Yesterday.

The second regatta of the season took place yesterday afternoon over the Club's course in Wrightsville Sound. There was a good attendance and a spirited race. The Pirate, Capt. Norwood Giles, won the race, with the Peggotty, Capt. T. W. Meares, second, and the Vixen, Capt. E. S. Latimer, third.

Some Good Music.

The Third Regiment Band, from Newton, an excellent musical organization, went down on the Passport to day to Carolina Beach. They played some delightful pieces at the steamer's wharf and as she left her dock. They will return to the city this afternoon and put up at the Purcell House where we may expect to hear them again.

No Blackfish for Supper.

The Sylvan Grove, the accident to which we reported yesterday, arrived here in tow of the tug Alex. Jones just after we went to press. The accident was to the steam pipe, as reported by us, and was simply a disabling one. She will go into the ship hospital and will be in service again in a few days, as soon as the pipe can be replaced. It is the first time, since she has been at work here, that the least accident has occurred to her. No one was hurt but there was almost a panic on board. Engineer Platt promptly and bravely stood to his post and shut off the steam and then the excitement rapidly subsided. Capt. Harper was, as usual, as cool as a cucumber and as soon as he realized the position of affairs raised a signal of distress. There was a large number of passengers on board, among them several ladies, but no one was in the slightest way injured. But they didn't have any blackfish for supper last night.

For North Carolina, showers and warmer weather. Local forecasts, from 8 a. m. to-day, for Wilmington and vicinity, showers and warmer weather.

The Ladies Delighted.

The pleasant effect and the perfect safety with which ladies may use the liquid fruit laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions make it their favorite remedy. It is pleasing to the eye and to the taste, gentle, yet effectual in acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels.

The Purcell House.

The handsome and attractive advertisement of the Purcell House, in this issue, speaks for itself. The new proprietors and managers, Messrs. E. L. & J. H. Hinton, have proved the right men in the right place. Their aim is not only to maintain the already excellent reputation of the house but to improve upon it, and this they will do.

Belford's for August.

The complete novel in this number, by George Parsons Lathrop, is quite out of the line of summer stories; it contains a great deal of the unexpected. The apparent hero, who makes room for a true man, "had been carefully brought up in the fear of God and the admiration of himself," and acts so like a cad that it is not pleasing to find him winning one sweet girl after being a brute to another. One of Long Island mysteries is skillfully worked into the tale. Besides the novel there are two clever short bits of fiction. "The Race Horse in America," by Colonel F. F. Warburton, is full of information for admirers of good horses. The venerable Charles Gayarre, of Louisiana, contributes an interesting essay on the literature of his native State. "Canada Under Protection" is by Hon. J. W. Longley, of Nova Scotia, who believes that intercontinental trade would afford the most available solution for the Dominion's commercial and political problems. Dr. Alexander Wilder writes entertainingly of "Editors I Have Known." In the editorial department some facts and figures are so arranged as to convey the impression that the majority of the Federal soldiers in the civil war were Democrats, but this conflicts with a statement we have seen that tens of thousands were raw recruits from Europe and that many of them did not know enough of the language to make known their wants.

The Lightning's Freak.

This morning, between 11 and 12 o'clock, during the hardest part of the rain storm, lightning struck the residence of Sergeant Bender, of the police force, on Castle, between Sixth and Seventh streets. It struck on the Southwest corner of the house passing through inside of the room, where a child was on the bed asleep, but did not hurt it. From there it went into the room on the Southeast corner, splitting the floor very badly and doing other damage, and passed out of the back part of the house. Mr. Bender was sleeping in the room on the Southeast corner, but it didn't touch him. It was a strange freak of the lightning and a strange and unaccountable jump it made.

Col. Saunders.

The Charlotte News says: "We were glad to meet that splendid Carolinian, Col. W. L. Saunders, at Cleveland Springs yesterday. Col. Saunders is still a great sufferer, but in general appearance he seems to be improved over recent years, and notwithstanding his physical suffering, he retains his usual cheerful disposition and looks on the bright side of things. We were glad to learn from Col. Saunders that he has about completed the collection of material for his colonial history of this State. He has secured data sufficient to make a history of ten volumes. He has spent years of time and no amount of trouble to secure this material, and it is undoubtedly a historical collection of inestimable value to the State. The work of compiling this history could not have been undertaken by a more capable man than Col. Saunders. Racked with pain, Col. Saunders has never allowed his interest in the work to lag, and his work, when completed, will be one to claim a place in every public and private library in the State."
