On the Beach. The night is warm, the moon is bright, And here, upon the sandy beach,
A brush fire burns with glaring light,
Removed above the billows' reach.

The rest have wandered down the shore We two are left awhile alone. We talk, as we have talked before, In quiet, confidential tone.

A well known young calico jerker for a dry goods house in this city secured a bewitching bathing costume from below a few days ago, and privately informed a few of the boys that he was going up the creek to "wet it" on the following night, and that was just where he was wrong. Whether the boys were jealous or whether they objected to the deviation from long established rules of Chico swimming holes we cannot determine; at any rate they laid for their comrade when he appeared in his gay pink and white costume. The wetting was all right, but when he came in out of the wet he found to his horror that his store clothes had disappeared, and all search was unavailing. He sat around bewailing his fate, and finally struck for home just as he was. The boys, though, had posted a number of the urchins of the burg, and when he hove in sight of one of the well traveled streets twenty kids, real live American kids, hailed him with a rich vocabulary of slang.

"Say, look at the Chico guard with his funny pants."

"Get onto de Chinaman, fellers. Who's got a tomato?" "Look at the Turk."

"You get a nickel if you hit it in the

The poor clerk started in on a run, and was followed all the way home by a yelling crowd of boys. He found on his arrival his clothes neatly done up in a bundle and an explanatory note from "de gang." The cestume-well, that's gone to the poor .- Chico Enterprise.

The King of Dahomey. The king of Dahomey is a man of education and accomplishments. He was reared in Paris, and much money was spent and careful attention lavished upon his instruction. But in an evil hour he fell in love with a Parisian beauty, and because she would not have him the young man made up his mind that the life of a barbarian was preferable to that of a civilized and enlightened being. He bade eternal adieu, therefore, to the classics, the arts and the sciences, and zealously set himself to the pursuit of a barbarian career. His most remarkable reform as king of Dahomey was to surround himself with a bodyguard of strapping women, regular amazons who rode horseback man fashion, used the bow and spear and wielded the battle ax with singular dexterity. His majesty has a theory that these women are better fighters than men, and are more likely to be loyal to his interests. A contingent of these amazons is to be brought to London soon and shown to the public in the French exhibition now in course of preparation in that city. - Berlin Letter.

Inspection of Summer Resorts. In choosing a resort for summer one does not omit questions as to how far it is to church or station, whether 6 o'clock dinner is served or there are spring mattresses on each couch-matters of just interest and comfort. But add such pertinent inquiries as these: Do you serve oatmeal or cracked wheat for breakfast? Can I have brown bread and fruit three times a day? Have you a water filter in good condition? How far is the well or the water supply from the cesspool and drains? And last, but not least, have you a well ventilated earth closet? All boarding houses and summer resorts should be visited monthly by a sanitary inspector with power to enforce necessary improvements for the health of inmates. The Catskills and the north shore demand supervision in this way just as much as Mulberry street, Baxter street and South Fifth avenue, those flowers of the slums.-Shirley Dare in New York Herald.

A Speckled Lobster. Captain Robert Staplins, a lobster fisherman of Stonington, Conn., caught in one of his pots just outside of Fisher's Island, on Saturday a lobster with yellow and red spots of the brightest hue all over its body. The lobster was viewed by of lobsters their entire life, but none had the results of three years' use in the hands of the results of three years' use in the hands of the best farmers of this and other States will attest their value as a high grade manure weighed about one and a half pounds, and the spots were regular in size and shape. Advice to Mothers.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the enild from pain, and the little cher-ub awakes as "bright as button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remely for diarrhoa, whether arising from teething or other causes. the best farmers of this and other States will attest their value as a high grade manure. The MATTING, made from the leaves of our native pine, is conceded to be equal to any wool carpet for comfort and durability and the demand for it is daily increasing. It has virtues not found in any other fabric.

The FIBRE or WOOL is extensively used for upholstering purposes, and as a filling for Mattresses is almost equal to hair, being light elastic and proof against insects.

Cerufficates from reliable parties using our goods can be seen at our office, or will be mailed upon publication.
