The Hon. James E. Neal, chairman of the Ohio Democratic Executive Committee, predicts the success of the Democratic ticket this year, and the election of fifteen of the twenty-one Congressmen. He expresses the opinion that the main issue will be tariff reform, and that the Democrats will make gains in all the rural districts.

It may be news to some men who smoke perfectos and Manuel Garcias at 20 cents apiece to learn that the list price of the better brands of Cuban stock runs up to $800 a thousand. This means that they are 80 cents apiece at wholesale. Now, with the duties paid and the profits expected on an article of this kind, they could not be sold for $2 straight, or about $2,000 a box. These cigars are bought by the royal families of Europe. There's not much market in America for cigars costing $2 each.

The Harrison family is certainly in need of a guiding head. While the father, who is the accidental President of the United States, is writing a vigorous message to Congress against lotteries, his son Russell, who is president of a Montana newspaper, is in Mexico soliciting an advertisement from the Mexican National Lottery Company. On the day that the President's message appeared the Helena (Montana) Journal contained a two column reading notice of the lottery, which Gen. John S. Mosby, who is manager of the lottery, says was secured at the personal solicitation of Mr. Russell B. Harrison. It looks as if there was a family combine, President Harrison after the saints and Prince Russell after the sinners.

During the week ending August 2d, usually the dullest in the year, the Chattanooga Tradesman reports a number of important new industries for the South. Among the notable new enterprises are the following: The Equitable Electric Co. at Alexander, Va., with $500,000 capital stock, a brewery at Griffin, Ga., extensive railroad shops at Charlotte, N. C., cotton factories at Durham, N. C. Canton, Miss.. Clayton, Ala., Raleigh, N.C., also at Buena Vista, Ga. A $125,000 egg case factory was organized at Memphis, $125,000 flour mill at Augusta, Ga., ice factories at Vicksburg, Miss., and Rockwood, Tenn., a $1,000,000 developing company at Charleston, W. Va., a shoe factory at Athens, Ga., $100,000 stone and marble company at Fincastle, Va., $150,000 woodworking factory at Luray, Va., a woolen mill at Marshall, Texas. New banks were organized at Boonville, Miss., Clarendon, Ark., Helena, Ark., Humboldt, Tenn., Llano, Texas, Maryville, Ky., Middleborough, Ky., and Oxford, N. C.

The discovery of a case of genuine leprosy in New York once more directs attention to this dreadful disease. It should excite no wonder, however, if now and then a stray leper should get into New York, whither so many strangers flock from all parts of the world, bringing with them from time to time unfamiliar maladies or the germs not common to this country or climate. There are health laws and regulations to guard against the introduction and spread of contagious and infectious diseases, which have been properly applied in the case of this leper as they are in all other cases. As to leprosy itself, the accepted theory about it now is that it is "a specific blood poison which may be transmitted from person to person by direct contact, but which is generally inherited." In Eastern or old Bible land it has been from time immemorial a dreadful curse, but it has been made familiar to use in the New World by its ravages in the Sandwich Islands; it exists in India and China, and cases have been reported in Scandinavia and parts of the United States. It is a disease regarded with horror because, though gradual and slow in progress, it is hideous to the sight and certain in its fatality. Nevertheless it is not intensely contagious and is never epidemic.
