Hollyhocks.

The hot days fold spring's tender petals down, But even while we say, "The blooms are done," Lo: through the tangled gardens cometh one Lo: through the tangled gardens cometh one Clad, all unconscious, in her quaint old gown. Perchance the old time days we might forget if hollyhooks ne'er set themselves ablow.

Ne'er like old dames and squires moved to and fro in stately measures of the minuet.

Now art thou welcome, Orthon old time bloom, Thou and thy friend, the fennel at thy side; Our hearts like those in oldern times are wide, And in this new day summer is there room; So let the old flowers and the new join hands

In Luck.

In happy gardens through the waiting lands.

-Lucy E. Tilley in Harper's Weekly.

A broker stepped out of the Broad street door of the Stock Exchange recently, apparently after having made some money. He espied a little mite of a ragged newsboy not three feet high, and a philanthropic notion took possession of him. He caught up the little bunch of rags, and carrying it to a cigar stand procured an empty cigar box. This he placed in the dazed boy's hands. Then the broker dashed into the Exchange with a wild whoop that directed general attention to him. Instantly he was surrounded by a crowd, and Broker Dick Halstead threw a coin into the box. seized the boy, passed him to J. W. Bass, who also passed him on after dropping a contribution into the box.

Coins and bills began to rain into it. The Sugar trust crowd was invaded, then the New England crowd, and the pile of money in the box grew rapidly. The yells, the sight of the money and the general novelty of his trip were beyond the little fellow's comprehension. He simply stared blankly. Finally he was released. There must have been $50 in the box. He shot out of the exchange, and was last seen running up Nassau street, hugging the box tightly to his breast. Who he was, where he lived, or what he would do with his fortune no one knew.-New York Times

The Small Boy's Rights Assailed.

The Jersey City small boy will be deprived this year of his right to eat green apples and get the colic. Health Inspector Benjamin has officially declared that green apples are a detriment to the public health and a menace to the growing republic. Moreover, he says they must go. The inspector is nearly 50 years old, and has gray hair. He started out from his office yesterday looking for the forbidden fruit with all the ardor of a small boy. He sent his sanitary policemen out, too. By noon they had visited twenty fruit stands and had captured nearly as many bushels of green apples. At the same time they had made every fruit vender they came across solemnly promise that he wouldn't buy or sell an apple in which the seeds were not black enough to prove that it was ripe. They didn't give the fruiterers any instructions as to how the color of the seeds in the apples was to be ascertained. - New York

Comfort with Neglige Shirts. Wearers of neglige shirts ought to be thankful to a New Haven man, who has hit upon a means by which all the advantages of suspenders and belt can be had without any of the disadvantages. His plan is a very simple one and consists of wearing the suspenders next to the undershirt, the silk, cotton or flannel shirt being outside. At the waist of the outer shirt horizontal slits are cut and stitched like buttonholes. Through these slits the straps of the suspenders are brought and fastened to the trousers. A broad belt or sash covers the waistband, slits and straps, and the result is a belt effect with a suspender comfort.-Philadelphia Ledger.

A Real, Live, Wild Boy.

The Humane society of Pittsburg has turned up a genuine wild boy. He is colored, aged 13, and his name is supposed to be Harry Allen. He was brought from the mountains of Virginia because his parents, who lived there in a BOARD BY THE DAY, WEEK OR MONTH semi-civilized state, could not keep him at home. He would run away eversince he was old enough to climb up the mountain side. Sometimes he would be in the woods alone for a month at a time. He lived on berries, roots and live birds. which he could catch with the facility of a cat. These birds he always ate raw. His hands are like claws, and the pupils of his eyes dilate like those of a cat.-Exchange.

Grass Graces the Icc.

It is a most peculiar sight to see the canal boats which are burdened with ice coming down the river. There are hundreds upon hundreds of them now being hurried to the metropolis. The whole deck of the boats is covered with earth several inches in thickness to protect, as far as possible, the precious commodity from the ravages of the sun. On several of the boats which passed the city yesterday grass was luxuriantly growing from the earth which covered the decks.-Albany Argus.

There is a plague of moths in Brooklyn and the suburbs of New York. They make their appearance at about the twi- LOUR REGULAR COURSES OF STUDY, light hour, and in the gloaming are mistaken for bats. The moths are big, some of them measuring four inches with outspread wings. These moths differ from the ordinary insects of the butterfly family in respect to their wings containing hard, bony ribs, slightly resembling those in an umbrella.
