THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. XIV. WILMINGTON, N. C., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1890. NO 225.

The New York Herald is still to the fore and has no mercy for those who have disgraced the country and are ruining the people. There is no uncertain sound in its utterances. It calls a spade a spade. Here is one of its squibs in its yesterday's issue: "When the House of Representatives adjourns it is the custom to move a vote of thanks to the Speaker—the motion coming from the leader of the opposition. Speculation is rife as to which Democrat will move the vote in honor of Mr. Reed. We would respectfully suggest that the duty be waived by the Democrats and devolve upon Mr. Cannon, of Illinois. No member has better reasons for thanking the Speaker."

In referring to Mr. Cannon's shameful and indecent utterances in the House of Representatives and the mantle of protection thrown over him by the chair it says, among other things: "It goes, therefore, into the history of the country, if not upon the records of Congress, that an offense for which the offender would have been kicked out of any drawing room in the land can be committed with impunity because of the connivance and protection of the Speaker of the House. Furthermore, and this is even a more painful side of the unpleasant story, we have not been able to find one word in any one of the four New York and Brooklyn Republican journals in condemnation of the outrage. One of these journals bears the honored name of Murat Halstead. But not one word. How many columns would Mr. Halstead have written had the offense been committed by some poor fire-eating Confederate from the South, and not by the acting leader of the House?"

Referring to the result of the elections in Vermont it says: "The Republican losses and Democratic gains in Vermont—not only on the State ticket but also in the Legislature—are too great to be accounted for by the local issues. The State goes Republican, of course, but the reduction of the usual majority is beyond anything hitherto known. For a result so unusual and striking we must look beyond State to national influences. The causes are easily found at Washington. The election can only be interpreted as an emphatic rebuke of Republican doings at the national capital. The people of the Green Mountain State have rebuked the Czarism of Speaker Reed and the rash partisanship of the men bent on getting the Force bill through. They have rebuked an outrageous tariff bill which would sacrifice the material interests of the people to party ends and reckless pension legislation that invites an endless raid on the Treasury. Not only for the iniquitous bills passed and threatened is a Republican Congress thus rebuked by a Republican State, but also for the many measures of importance and merit that have been neglected. This verdict of Vermont is significant. It may be taken as an index finger to the population sentiment of the nation. Republican leaders may well set to thinking over it and we fancy they will."

The New York Star says that the vote of Vermont and the abstention from voting of so large a part of the electors show that, while the bravest Republican spirits are ready now to array themselves on the side of the Federal Union against the Imperialists, there are large numbers who have as yet only gone so far as to determine not to sustain their own party when it is in the wrong. These non-voters at the late election will become voters at future elections, and their ballots will be cast boldly for the Democratic nominees unless the Republican party abandons its programme of taxation beyond reason and control of elections by fraud and force organized to promote Imperialism.

The receipts of cotton at this port to-day foot up $51 bales.

The moon enters on its last quarter to-night at 15 past 10 o'clock.

Mr. Jno. F. Garrell, Jr., of this city, is now engaged in business in Asheville.

Mr. Leopold Brunhild has returned to the city from an extended visit to New York and other cities in that section.

A colored camp meeting will open to-morrow at the grounds at Wrightsville, a few hundred yards west of the station.

From this date until the 14th inst. Turner's almanace promises fair weather, after which we are to have some "cold and showers."

Hood's Sarsaparilla is in favor with all classes because it combines economy and strength. 100 Doses One Dollar.

I am Manufacturer's Agent for Barbed and all kinds of Wire, Combination Wire and Iron Fences. Orders solicited. James L. Metts.

The next entertainment at the Opera House will be Bell's Marionettes, who appear here for the entire week beginning with Monday, the 15th.

Last night was oppressively warm and sultry. Generally, at this season, we have cool nights but they have not as yet put in an appearance.

On Sunday next, Sept. 7th, Rev. R. H. Jones, of Norfolk, Va., will conduct services in St. James' Church at 11 a. m. and in St. Mark's at 5.30 p. m.

A big excursion party from Mt. Airy is expected here on Wednesday next. They will remain two days, taking in the river, the sound and the sea.

With "Regal" Paint on your house and "Plastico" on your walls, your house will be beautiful and your family happy. Sold by the N. Jacobi Hdw. Co., factory agents.

Headaches and some other kinds of aches prevailed this morning, caused by the muscular exertions in laughing so much, so long and so loud last night. This is a fact.

Messrs. J. T. Collins, Gibson James and E. M. Johnston, of Pender county, were in the city to-day. They report too much rain for the cotton but that otherwise every thing is lovely and the political goose hangs altitudinously.

New Push and Pull Blind Hinges. Locks the blind when opened or closed. Saves labor and cost of putting on inside fastenings, which are not needed with these hinges. Carpenters, it will pay you to examine and use same. N. Jacobi Hdw. Co.

We have it now. A Pump that is always primed, never requiring a tub of water to start it. It is the bright invention of a North Carolina genius and is pronounced by all to be the best pump on the market. See it and you will have no other. N. Jacobi Hdw. Co.

At Rest in Oakdale.
The remains of the late Mr. John Sholar were interred to-day in Oakdale Cemetery. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Pritchard, at the First Baptist Church, at 11 o'clock. The following gentlemen were the pall-bearers: Mr. Wm. Larkins, Col. Roger Moore, Dr. A. M. Baldwin, Capt. W. P. Oldham, Mr. W. M. Hays, Col. Jno. D. Taylor, Mr. S. H. Burt, Sr. and Mr. Owen Fennell.

Excursionists To-Day.
Five coaches full of colored people came in on an excursion train this morning from Roseboro, on the C. E. & Y. V. R. R., 60 miles above the city. The excursion was given by the colored Baptist and Methodist churches of that place. They return to-night at 7 o'clock. Many of them went direct down to salt water over the Seacoast R. R. and others remained to see the sights in the city.

A "People's Meeting."
A large number of colored Republicans met last night at a "people's meeting" on Nixon, between Sixth and Seventh streets, to express dissatisfaction at the result of the recent county convention in some of the nominations made. C. P. Lockey and J. E. Sampson were endorsed for the House, Jas. B. Dudley for Register and David Jacobs for Coroner. Another meeting is to be held next Tuesday night, at the same place, when it is claimed that the above will be present and address the meeting.

DON'T GO TO BED till you buy Rough on Dirt Soap.

Forecasts.
For North Carolina, light local rains and warmer weather.

Local forecasts from 8 a. m. to-day, for Wilmington and vicinity, showers, followed by fair and warmer weather.

To Dispel Colds,
Headaches and Fevers, to cleanse the system effectually, yet gently, when costive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, use Syrup of Figs.

A Cheerful Outlook.
Hon. Chas. M. Stedman, who has recently returned to the city after an extended tour of the North and Northwest, says that the indications now all point to large gains for the Democrats this Fall in those sections.

The like of it, he says, was never heard of before and the outlook is in every way flattering to Democratic hopes. Ex-Mayor Fishplate, who is a keen observer in political matters, and who has also recently returned from the North, says that there is going to be a regular political upheaval this Fall. So mote it be.

Sudden Death.
Mrs. Lydia Wheeler, who resided on Fourth street, between Queen and Wooster, was found dead in her bed yesterday afternoon. She had not complained of being sick and her death was unknown until two of her grandchildren, who resided with her, were found by neighbors crying on the stoop of the house and saying that they were unable to awaken their grandmother. The house was then entered and the old lady was found lying across the bed, cold in death. Dr. Potter examined the body and stated that in his opinion death resulted from natural causes, probably from heart disease.

The Masonic Excursion.
The grand family excursion, under the auspices of the Masonic lodges in this city, will take place on Friday next on the steamer Sylvan Grove to Carolina Beach, Southport and Fort Caswell, with probably a short run to sea. The committee consists of Messrs. James W. Monroe, from Wilmington Lodge No. 319, Mr. J. M. Forshee, from St. John's Lodge No. 1 and Mr. C. C. Brown, from Orient Lodge No. 395. These gentlemen are working hard already for the success and interest of the excursion. The proceeds are to be devoted to the benefit of the Oxford Orphan Asylum.

Dr. Dixon's Successor.
At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Oxford Orphan Asylum on Tuesday, Rev. J. T. Harriss, of Durham, was elected President of the Asylum, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. B. F. Dixon. The Greensboro Patriot says that "one of the affecting sights ever beheld, and one that brought tears to the eyes of the sturdy men standing near, was when the children of the Asylum, from the least little "toddlers" to the largest boys and girls came in with outstretched arms and streaming eyes to bid farewell to their beloved friend and late Principal, Dr. Dixon. The cries and sobs of the little ones as they clung frantically to the Doctor begging him not to leave them was truly heart-rending and almost made one believe it was a sin to take Dr. Dixon away from the Asylum."

Pender County Tobacco.
We were glad to receive a visit to-day from our good friend, Mr. Thos. J. Lee, of South Washington, Pender county, who is here on one of his rare visits. Mr. Lee is the pioneer in tobacco culture in Pender county. For twenty years past he has raised it, merely for his own use, however. It is good to smoke as well as to chew. Mr. Lee also makes from it cigars, for his own use, however, and not to sell, and kindly presented us with some this morning. They are not doctored, in any way, but are made from pure tobacco and it is needless to say they make a fine smoke. Mr. Lee assures us that there are plenty of fine lands in Pender as well adapted to tobacco culture as any in Granville county and he expects to see the cultivation of tobacco gone into largely in the next few years.

Opera House Improvements.
Numerous improvements to the interior of the Opera House were noted last night. The walls have all been repapered, handsome lace curtains screen the windows and new scenery and stage fixtures have been introduced. The new chairs for the parquette have not yet arrived but they are expected in a few days and will be put in next week. The new steps to the front portico are a great improvement over the old, steep and cumbersome things that have been in use there for a generation past.

Full of Fun and Frolic.
There was a tremendous crowd at the Opera House last night and the management should, and doubtless do, feel highly gratified at this auspicious opening of the theatrical season of 1890-91. Never in the history of the building has there been such an audience on the first night of any season and, in fact, it is not often that such a crowd has been drawn together there at any time during any season. There could not have been far from one thousand persons in the house. There were a great many ladies in the audience and it was therefore not only a large house but a fashionable one.

The performance was certainly an excellent one. Ferguson was here last season and made a decided hit then and we were therefore justified in expecting something good last night. And we got it. It was one of the most thoroughly laughable and enjoyable things ever put on the boards here. There is not one particle of common sense in the thing, no plot, no heroics, no tangled web to weave, or unweave, but it is simply a pack of nonsense strung on one long laugh which breaks out in the first scene of the first act and is kept up until the curtain falls on the last tableau. It was all good and every individual is a team in himself—or herself. There is but one stick on the stage and he but serves to emphasize the abilities of the others. If they will come to see us again this season we can promise them another big house.

Strong Men.
Women love strong men. A weak man may excite their sympathy and a woman's careful tenderness soothe and soften the anguish of a weak man's soul, but the laughing, joyous, warm, exuberant love of women dear, belongs to the men that are strong and noble and kind. Then why will a man continue weak, and mean and peevish?

An old gentleman writes: "B. B. B. gives me new life and strength. If there is anything that will make an old man young, it is B. B. B."

Some men say, and women too, they never feel weak and mean except in the spring. Why then feel weak and mean and nervous and prostrated in the spring time when life and spirit awakens with thrilling buoyancy even the vegetable world? Must you allow sluggish blood, inactive organic functions, rusty joints and general weakness to make your life miserable simply because the long winter has restrained your natural activity? It need not be. If only you will use that pleasant and incomparable tonic blood purifier known as B. B. B. or Botanic Blood Balm, your health in spring time will be all that you can wish. Try it this spring. Try it now.

P. A. Shepherd, Norfolk, Va., August 10, 1888, writes: "I depend on B. B. B. for the preservation of my health. I have had it in my family now nearly two years, and in all that time have not had to have a doctor."
