The St. Louis Globe Democrat says: "If the desires of the Republican masses of the West had been consulted in the framing of the McKinley bill, that measure would have a different shape from which it at present bears. It is true of course, that a majority of the members of the committee which drew up the bill are from the West, but they do not correctly represent the feeling of this section on the question. The West, too, declared against the Federal election bill long before the East began to show any hostility to the measure. Had the sentiment of this section been given the weight in these questions at all proportionate to the potency of the party here, the Republicans would be in a better position to wage an aggressive and enthusiastic campaign in the coming two months than they now find themselves in."

The St. Paul (Minn.) Globe strikes out in a new direction, condemning regular legislative sessions, either annual or biennial. It argues that there is no call for them aside from the regular appropriations, and these the Legislature could make provision for at one session for several years ahead, and then it might adjourn, to come together again only in case of public emergency and at the call of the Governor of the State. This system, it says, would relieve the people of a vast expense and abolish the absurd spectacle of 150 or 160 men getting together every year or two whether there is any urgent public business or not to make laws which the public has not asked for and which, in numbers of cases, are so stupidly drawn up that the consequences are disastrous to people who act under them.

Lansing B. Mizner, who has dishonored the United States in Guatemala, is a gift of the spoils system. When Cleveland's administration began the minister to the Central American States was Henry C. Hall, a competent and judicious person, who had been there since July, 1882, and had the run of very important relations and business than pending such as the Nicaragua Canal. He was retained and served acceptably through Cleveland's term, but when the new deal occurred he hastened home to congratulate the party on its return to power—to be greeted on the dock in New York with the news that Mizner was appointed in his place—and this saved Mr. Hall the trouble and expense of going back, which was so far good. "Who Mizner is as nobody knew," says the Springfield Republican, "and if anybody knows to-day, he is keeping painfully still about it. He was appointed from California and Mr. Blaine is not charged with the responsibility for him; probably the place was pay for an election debt. At all events, he is an inferior person who has never suspected his inferiority and whatever he does he makes mischief where a diplomat of the greatest sagacity would find his power taxed."

We grieve, says the Washington Democrat, to see increasing evidences of disloyalty in Kansas. The people there have denounced the Supreme Court for interfering with their prohibitory law, and their Lieutenant Governor has declared that he owed primary allegiance to the laws of his own State, and the peaceful Ingalls has had to counsel his constituents not to resort to violence in their defiance of the Supreme Court decision, and now Senator H. B. Kelly, of McPherson, is at the head of a movement the purpose of which is sufficiently indicated in the following, which is to be offered at the next session of the Legislature: "WHEREAS, During the past ten years there has grown to be a community of interests in the States and

Territories of Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Arizona, Utah, Wyoming, and Montana, by reason of the transportation problem, river and gulf harbor improvements, change of silver, the tariff, and Western Representatives in Congress, and believing that a convention of States would bring about a concentration of the great powers of the central and western portions of the United States, and give to the "New West," which comprises Southern and Northern States alike, the influence that properly belongs to this section; therefore be it

Resolved, By the Senate of the State of Kansas, the House of Representatives concurring therein, that the Governor of the State of Kansas be, and he is hereby requested to correspond with the Governors of the States and Territories named with a view to securing joint action of such States and Territories upon the questions indicated."

We warn these Kansas patriots that an effort to get up a confederation inside of the United States will not succeed. The Hartford convention is not yet forgotten in New England.

A Scrap of Paper Saves Her Life

It was just an ordinary scrap of wrapping paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and could live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. One piece of wrapping paper she read of Dr. King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her; she bought another and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy, plump, weighing 140 pounds. For fuller particulars send stamp to W. H. Cole, Druggist, Fort Smith. Trial bottles of this wonderful Discovery free at Robt. R. Bellamy's wholesale and retail drug store.
