

THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. XIV WILMINGTON, N. C., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1890. NO 274.

PLEASE NOTE.
We will be glad to receive communications from our friends on any and all subjects of general interest, but
The name of the writer must always be furnished to the Editor.
Communications must be written on only one side of the paper.
Personalities must be avoided.
And it is especially and particularly understood that the Editor does not always endorse the views of correspondents unless so stated in the editorial columns.

Dr. Deems made a political speech in Chickering Hall the other night in which he denigrated the counties pretty severely. The Doctor is on the cold water tack now; he doesn't talk for Tammany, or for bismacite, but for prohibition.

The Parkworth Club, of Cincinnati, of which Gov. Campbell was a member, passed resolutions of censure because he demanded the abolition of the corrupt Board of Public Improvements, whereupon the Governor promptly handed in his resignation.

Up at Bound Brook, not far from New York, at a Sunday School entertainment recently, there was a song and dance act by two young women in ballet costumes. Some say that the women with abbreviated skirts appeared by mistake, although there is no mistake about their appearing but the young men say that it was the best part of the show.

The Republicans are kindly making Democratic votes in the Western part of this State. On Wednesday, Capt. Mills, a prominent Democrat, was set upon at Dysartville, in Burke county, and brutally assaulted by five Radical desperadoes. Result: Capt. Mills may vote on Tuesday next but his assailants will not dare show themselves for fear of arrest. Net result: Five more for the Democratic majority.

Congressman Charles F. Crisp, of Georgia, addressed an immense assemblage of Democrats in Faneuil Hall, Boston, Saturday evening last. The Boston Herald says the "distinguished statesman held the attention of the assemblage with one of the most interesting addresses made in Boston during many years." At the conclusion of his speech, Mr. Crisp was greeted with three rousing cheers "for the next Speaker of the House of Representatives."

Mr. Hayes feels better. He has had some private assurances that pour a little balm upon his troubled soul. He is beginning to believe that the Democratic majority in the next House will not be more than 25, whereas he has been thinking that it might be 35. Again, he has been assured that there may be a gain of three Congressmen in Indiana, which might be taken as a harrisonian endorsement; and again, and thirdly, he has private advices to the effect that Maine and Vermont will probably go Republican.

Capt. S. A. Ashe, from his outlook on the watch-tower at Raleigh, says: "We feel happy enough over the outlook of the elections. The Republican party in North Carolina has fallen into a minority that is entirely hopeless. The Democratic people have largely increased and the Republican people have largely decreased. Without any further movement of population, the State of North Carolina is now securely Democratic indefinitely, unless issues shall unhappily arise to split the Democratic party and divide us into factions. At present we are able to poll certainly thirty-five thousand more votes than the Republicans can muster; while because the negroes have not fully registered in the State, we might go even beyond that. It is not merely our temporary advantage, but the stability of our majority that gives us satisfaction."

When winter's wind, with mad turmoil,
Sweeps o'er hills and plains,
Tis then you need Salvation Oil
To heal your aches and pains.

"Down on your knees, and thank Heaven fasting," not for a good man's love this time, but because you have cured your cold so easily with Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

There was a heavy hoar frost this morning and tender plants left exposed to it were cut down. It looked like a young snow in the early hours.

We sampled some of the famous Lynn Haven oysters at the Orton House Cafe this morning and pronounce them as fine—very fine indeed.

We wouldn't give a—well, we wouldn't give a continental for the man who calls himself a Democrat and scratches one single name from the ticket. Go the "whole hog," my friend, or else carry your vote somewhere else.

The cold snap has carried wood away up yonder, almost out of sight. There is almost no cord wood here now and the run on the mills for slabs and blocks has been enormous and almost more than any well-regulated mill can stand.

Mr. Arnold preached his last sermon at St. Paul's Church to-day, at the All-Saint's services, which was attended by the congregation of St. James', St. John's and St. Paul's. Mr. Arnold leaves here this afternoon for Goldsboro where he will at once take charge of St. Stephen's, preaching his first sermon in that church to-morrow.

Children Enjoy

The pleasant flavor, gentle action and soothing effects of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative and if the father or mother be costive or bilious the most gratifying results follow its use, so that it is the best family remedy known and every family should have a bottle.

Isn't This Good Doctrine?

The contract for supplying the policemen with overcoats this winter has been given to D. Klein & Bros., New York, at $15.75 for each overcoat. It ought to have been given to a home dealer, even if the cost had been much greater. In fact, no one but a Wilmington clothing should have been allowed to compete for the job. The dealers here pay a tax to support the city government; the New York firm don't contribute a cent for the purpose! We think this good logic and sound doctrine.

November Weather.

The U. S. Signal office gives us the following data based upon the records of observations at this place, during November, for nineteen years; and, while not given as a prediction it is noticed that about the same or nearly the same conditions prevail each year, viz: We have slightly warmer weather during the first three days, then a cold change between the 4th and 7th, warmer until the 12th, slight cool changes between the 13th and 18th, still cooler between the 19th and 23d, then a few days warmer, which is again followed by decidedly colder weather during the last three days of the month.

The highest temperature recorded in any November was 83° in 1877 and again in 1879; the lowest temperature was 23° in 1880.

We have rain most frequently on the 2nd and 3rd, 8th, 9th and 10th, 18th, 19th and 20th, and 28th and 29th, averaging .09 of an inch per day.

Clear days occur about once in every three.

The prevailing wind is northeast, which blows at about seven miles an hour. The highest hourly wind in any November was 48 miles from the northeast in 1874, and again in 1877.

Magazine of American History.

The November issue is particularly rich in material reminding one that the events of our own day have a definite understanding with the events of the past, and also with those before us, beyond our own horizon. Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst, D. D., contributes the opening chapter "Divine Drift in Human History." The best portrait ever published of Dr. Parkhurst forms the frontispiece to this number. The second article, "American Outgrowths of Continental Europe," by the Editor, covers a broad field of scholarly inquiry, and is handsomely illustrated. It is followed by General Winfield Scott's "Remedy for Intemperance," from Hon. Chas. Aldrich; "The Puritan Birthright," and "The Action at Tarrytown, 1781," with a graphic account of the heroism of Captain George Hurbutt. One of the longest papers is the third in his instructive series of "The French-Canadian Peasantry." The "Library of a Philadelphia Antiquarian" will be perused with interest by all scholars; "Revolutionary Newburgh" is an admirable historic poem; a glimpse of the "Literature of California" is from the writings of Hubert Howe Bancroft; and diversified information agreeably presented in the several departments completes a notable number. Every issue of this monthly is invested with human, popular and timely interest. Price, $5.00 a year. 743 Broadway, New York City.

DON'T DIE IN THE HOUSE.
"Rough on Rats." Clears out rats, mice, roaches. ROUGH ON WORMS. Safe, Sure Cure. 25c. Rough on Toothache. Instant relief, 15c.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered at the close of the morning services. Sabbath School 5 p. m. Weekly prayer meeting and lecture, Wednesday evening at 7.30 o'clock. Seats free. A cordial invitation is extended to strangers and visitors.

373rd Anniversary of the Reformation.

In the Lutheran Church to-morrow special reference will be had to the 373rd anniversary of the Reformation begun by Dr. Martin Luther October 31, 1517. There will be specially fine music. The choir will not only render some choice selections but Prof. Miller's proficient orchestra will also aid in both the morning and evening services. Both services will be English. In the evening the Christian Association will celebrate both the anniversary of its existence and also that of the Reformation. All are welcome to attend.

Mag. Stedman's Visit to Asheville.

Hon. Chas. M. Stedman has returned to the city from Asheville and the Citizen speaks as follows of his visit to that city: "A few years ago the 'Oakland Inn' in Victoria was built by A. and R. U. Garrett, who opened it as a hotel. The hotel was run for one season and the building was afterward used for school purposes under the name of the Oakland Institute.

"A trade was closed to-day whereby ex-Lieut. Gov. Charles M. Stedman, of Wilmington, a brother-in-law of D. C. Waddell, of Asheville, becomes the owner of the property. The price paid was $102,500.

"Mr. Stedman has leased the building and grounds to New York parties, who will refit the Inn and open it as a sanitarium, which will be the finest in America. Dr. Neefus, who will have charge, has lately been connected with the 'Dansville Sanitarium' in New York. He is a most experienced and eminent physician, and is thoroughly up on the times. The house will be elegantly and comfortably furnished. Two elevators will be run to accommodate the guests, and a most complete system of all kinds of baths will be put in.

"The class of people that this sanitarium will bring to Asheville will be the wealthy, who will add to the ever increasing prosperity of the city.

"The sanitarium will be opened on the 15th of December."

Russel in the West.

Judge Russell spoke at Asheville last Wednesday night. Gov. Jarvis met him in joint debate. The Citizen gives an interesting report of the occasion. Gov. Jarvis' speech was a magnificent effort. What Judge Russell said is of peculiar interest to us here, as he hails from this city and it is the first time he has been on the stump in years. There was a large crowd of whites and but few "savages" present. We remember, in 1876, at Pittsboro, hearing Gov. Vance and Judge Settle speak. It was a notable occasion. Two giants were pitted at each other. Settle charged that Vance was not exactly the same in the West, where there are few negroes as he was in the East, where there are many, and remarked that "when the wind blows from the East you can always smell the nigger on Vance." Zeb retorted in reply that this might be true; he didn't dispute the proposition at all; but that you could smell the nigger on him (Settle) in a dead calm! Well, this is merely a reminiscence and we were reminded of it by what the Asheville Citizen says in its report of Judge Russell's part in the joint debate alluded to above, which is as follows:

Judge Russell spoke for an hour. In the first part of his speech he actually asserted that the "Republicans of the South did not want any offices." He made another statement also; he said that "the prosperity of Asheville was not due to the Democratic rule, but to the fact that protection had been inaugurated in 1861." To back up this statement he declared that there was no railroad built before 1861, because rails were so much higher under free trade. One of his greatest arguments in favor of protection was that articles were cheaper in price than they were thirty years ago. Judge Russell really praised the people of this district for electing Ewart and spoke as if it were an evidence of "being anxious to develop the country." He said he was "not particularly in favor of the Lodge bill," but was in favor of some bill to put elections under Federal control and divorced from the State.

Judge Russell made the best Republican speech that has been heard here during this campaign.
