Col. Charles Marshall's oration on Lee is of a certain historical value and for the occasional light it throws on the great struggle and the great soldier. It is not particularly eloquent or impressive. It will not compare as an oration with Daniel's magnificent effort at Lexington on a similar occasion. Daniel's oration -The members of the police force on Lee is a splendid sun-burst of Foraker crowd. - A dispatch from eloquence and description. It was worthy of Lee and that is compliment enough. We quote a passage

> Marshall: "It was the proclamation of Mr. Lincoln, not Mr. Lincoln's election, which caused the Border States to cast in their lot with the Cotton States. Col. Marshall says unhesitatingly that the Confederacy which sollong resisted the Federal armies was brought into existence by the act of Mr. Lincoln.' The place which Virginia took in the new struggle was the same that she had taken when George III was King, and, as then she placed her sword in the hands of her Washington, so in the later struggle she committed it to the no less worthy hands of Lee."

from the Charleston News and Cou

The Northern people cannot understand the sentiment and feeling that move the Southern people in paying honors to the noblest living and the heroic dead. They have never passed through the horrors of war at their home as the Southern people have. They know nothing of the humiliations and disappointments and sorrows of defeat. The South seeks not to rekindle strife. The men who honor and revere Davis and love the memory and name of Lee are the truest of the true and the bravest of family sailed for Europe from the brave. They would fight for the W York yesterday. — It was not Union as quickly as the men would who once fought against them. The Philadelphia Record only sees a half truth. It says:

"The bitterness of conflict can no more be recalled than the crumbling bones of those who fell in the war-can be clothed with flesh and restored to life. While the South shall keep step to the music of the Union none will begrudge her the privilege of honoring her dead sons in her own way.

Mr. Theodore Roosevelt, a leading New York Republican, some months ago published a "Life of Thomas H Benton," (a North Carolinian), and in it he pays the Southern soldiers and the incomparable Lee a just and surprising tribute. We once before gave it and again reproduce it, as it is specially timely now. He says:

"The militant spirit of these last certain-ly stood them in good stead in the civil war. The world has never seen better soldiers than those who followed Lee; and their leader will undoubtedly rank as with out any exception the very greatest of all the great chieftains that the English speaking peoples have brought forth-and this, although the last and chief of his antagonists may himself claim to stand as the full equal of Marleborough and Wellington."

We learn from the London Standard that the benefactor of the race who invented spectacles was named Salvino Acmotod Aamati, of Flor ence, Italy. He died in A. D. 1318 The watch is not the invention of any one man, according to Diderot in the preface to the celebrated Cyclopedie.

- Capt. Bacon, of the British steamship Coventry, says that he has taken in cargoes of cotton at Savannah and Charleston, but is better pleased with the treatment he has received here than at any other port.

-The pilot boat Gracie, of South port, has been entered for the race to take place at Charleston on the 3d of November. Thus far there are six entries in her class. Good luck to the Gracie. May she "walk the waters like a thing of life."

-The Rev. Mr. Arnold, the new rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, is expected in a few days. He made a fine impression when here a few weeks since, and the congregation hope, under his charge, to raise the Church to a higher place of usefulness than it has ever before reached. Mr. Arnold is not only a fine preacher, but is energetic, zealous and full of devotion to his high calling. -- The Laurinburg Exchange says: "Of the sixty daily papers taken at this office the Wilmington STAR supplies one-half." It may be well for advertisers to make a note of that. It must be remembered that daily papers are taken at Laurinburg, from Raleigh, Charlotte, Wilmington and several other points. And yet the circulation of the STAR equals that of all the others combined. The people of the "rural deestricts" "know a good thing when they (see it," and "hold fast to that which is good."

Cotton for Europe.

Messrs. Alex. Sprunt & Son cleared the British steamship Coventry yesterday, for Bremen, with 5,025 bales of cotton, weighing 2,387,179 pounds and valued at $220,815.

Messrs. Williams & Murchison cleared the British steamship Parklands, for Liverpool, with 4,908 bales cotton, weighing 2,814,826 pounds and valued at $214,121.

It is a well established fact that the ealth of a community depends largely on its water supply. And this is something in which Wilmington is interested; especially as so large a proportion of its drinking water is drawn from wells. It has been asserted that no well water is pure. However this may be, much depends on the character of the soil. If sandy, as is the case in Wilmington, and the water will quickly disappear from the surface after a rain, the well will drain the soil for a long distance around it, and the consequence will be that a large portion of the soluble filth of the soll will find its way into the well, although the water may appear sparkling and clear.

There is a very general impression that the soil removes all the impurities from the water; and we have often heard it said that the well water of Wilmington, east of Third, street, ought to be pure, because it passed through sand which acted as a natural filter. But all this depends upon whether the soil, by long continued absorption, be not already so thoroughly saturated with impurities as to refuse to take up more. But that the soil does not remove all the impurities, even from new ground where a well has been recently dug, has been demonstrated elsewhere by actual experiment. The surface earth at a distance from the well was saturated with kerosene oil, which gradually found its way to the well (having been washed down by the rains) and imparted its odor to the water.

If the soil be of heavy clay the danger will be lessened, but on all porous soils the liability of pollution of the water is great. No manure heaps, sinks or other receptacles for fifth or refuse of any kind should be within forty feet of the well, and the farther off the better. Wells should be thoroughly cleaned at least once a year, and especially in the Fall. For a distance of ten feet around the well the surface should be cemented, and where pumps are used they should be cleaned occasionally. Remember, that only a few drops of a solution from a filthy drain or sink, finding its way into the well, will carry bacteria enough to rapidly multiply and contaminate all of the water. Roots of trees and vines also serve as drains into the well, as they loosen the soil and for that reason they should never be planted near the source of drinking water. It is noticeable of late years that the number of cisterns for rain water has largely increased in Wilmingtou. This is gratifying, as it shows that our people realize the danger that lurks in the well. As a question of economy, the cistern is but little more expensive than the well, and we imagine there is no difference of opinion as to the relative purity of the two

The Jessica Thomas Comedy Com

This company will begin a five day's engagement in the Opera House here next Tuesday. The company has been playing in Tarboro recently and the Southerner of that place says of them:

On the opening night "The Daughter of the Regiment" was rendered in a style that disarms criticism. Every player in every part attained the cli-max of glory and received due deserts of encores. The dresses of the ladies were models of costly elegance.

Miss Jessica Thomas is a most beautiful specimen of the loveliest type of blonde. Her ffigure is simply su-perb, chiseled after the fashion of perfect Hebe. Her every action is a poem in grace—her every ges-ture a dream of beauty. As an actor she is second to none. Her voice would do credit to any metropolitan stage. It is full in volume, clear and cell-like in tone and marvelous in sweetness. She just fairly captured this town and is voted to-day the finest soubrette that ever gladdened an audiençe here. The support was very good, several oming in for enchores. The cosumery is all new and very handsome. It is pleasant to add that this is a horough Southern Company, and perhaps that accounts for the realistic manner in which Miss Jessica rives the rebel whoop. Joe Physicc, hough born in Richmond, is of North Carolina parentage and a thorough lar Heel.

370th Anniversary of the Reforma-

It being three hundred and seventy ears since Luther nailed his ninetyfive theses against the church door at Wittenberg, and thus began the work of the Reformation, from which the Evangelical Lutheran Church started which has now grown to a membership of about fifty millions, appro priate services will be held to-day in St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m., and in the Sunday School at 3 p. m.

The Cape Fear S. F. E. Co. at Raleigh. The best colored fire company in the State is probably the Cape Fear Company of Wilmington. It is here attending the colored fair, and yesterday gave an exhibition of the power of their splendid engine and the training of the men. The force worked with clock-like regularity and accuracy and the power of the engine racy and the power of the engine seemed unlimited, both as to the amount of water and the number of streams thrown. It puts on four powerful streams with damaging effect to a fire.—News and Observer.

The following are the indications for to-day, received at 1 a. m.:

For Virginia, light rains, followed by fair weather, colder, light to fresh northerly winds.

For North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, fair weather, preceded by rain on the coast, cooler, light to fresh northerly winds.

The Weather-A Cool Wave Coming.

Yesterday ended the fifth day of almost continuous rain, and without any local indications of its having reached its end. The total precipitation here during the five days only amounted to 2,35 inches, of which .56 of an inch fell yesterday before 10

The Signal Office reports that the barometer at 10 o'clock last night registered 29.84 inches—a fall of 20-100 of an inch since 7 in the morning. There was also an extremely high barometer (30.66 inches) with a cold wave in the Northwest which is moving towards the depression on this coast. The approach of this high pressure will dispel the damp and cloudy weather, and will no doubt once more obviate the use of the always-missing umbrella.

The temperature in the Northwest yesterday morning was at some places only 14 degrees above zero. In this city the lowest temperature recorded was 53 degrees, and the maximum 58 -making a range of only five de-

With the vast difference in the pressure of the atmosphere and in the height of the mercury, it is probable that the cold wave will reach this section with some intensity, and that the coolest weather of the season will be recorded within the next three days. This change is likely to take place to-day.

An Artestan Well.

We understand that the Carolina Oil and Creosote Company have made arrangements for boring an artesian well at their works in this city, for the purpose of supplying their plant with water for condensers, etc. The borings will be similar to those undertaken with such great success at Jacksonville, Fla., by the Creosote Lumber and Construction Company.

As the STAR has heretofore stated. this experiment may solve the problem of supplying this city with an abundant supply of pure and wholesome water.

The water supply of both Charles ton and Savannah is derived from artesian wells, which, in the case of the latter city, furnish over two million gallons per day, and at no greater cost to consumers than the water pumped from the Savannah river.

Gem of a Gift Presented to St. Paul's

Evangelical Lutheran Church. St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church has become the recipient of one of the finest pieces of workmanship, in curly pine, that has ever been made or seen in Wilmington, in the line of church equipment. It is a beautiful baptismal font finished in oil and varnish. A gentleman of much experience and of a ripe old age, said it was the finest thing of the kind he had ever seen in all his life. This gem of a gift was donated to the Church by Mr. and Mrs. Wessell. It was made by Mr. L. M. Guyton, in the employ of Messrs. Foster & Fore. The font will be dedicated at 11 a. m.

Proceedings of Friday and Waturday-The Next Meeting to be Held in Goldsboro.

Special Star Report. FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Friday, Oct.

28.—Rev. H. G. Hill, D. D., was appointed correspondent of the Synod on the complaint of Mecklenburg Presbytery against the action of the Synod in the Robinson case. The Synod will next meet in Golds boro, October 24th, 1888, at 7.30 p. m. The roll was called for expression of opinion as to the complaint against Wilmington Presbytery. The complaint was "not sustained" by a large majority. The Synod resolved that the records of the Wilmington Presbytery touching the licensure of W. P. King were not full and explicit enough.

Rev. J. B. Clark, D. D., was heard in the interests of Christian (Protestant) education in general, and of Davidson College in particular.

The complaint against the action of the Mecklenburg Presbytery in regard to the discipline of church members who make or sell liquor for a beverage, or rent property for its manufacture or sale, was withdrawn upon an understanding that was sat-isfactory to the complainant and respondent. SATURDAY, Oct. 29.—The Moderator having been granted leave of absence, Rev. H. G. Hill, D. D., presided. Two overtures—one from Orange Presbytery and one from a member thereof in regard to licensure of candidates for the ministry—were referred for answer to next Synod to a special committee, Rev. J. W. Prim-

THE FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE OF THE NURSERY.—The following is an extract from a letter written to the German Beformed Museumer, at Chambersburgh, Penn.: A BENEFACTERS. Just open the door for her, and Mrs. Winslow will prove the American Florence Nightingale of the Nursery. Of this we are so sure, that we will teach our "Susy" to say, "A blessing on Mrs. Winslow" for helping her to survive and escape the griping, colloking, and teething slege. Mrs. Winslow's Scothing Street relieves the child from pain, and cures dysentery and diarrhoea. It softens the gums, reduces inflammation, cureswind collo, and carries the infant safely through the teething period. It performs precisely what it professes to perform, every part of it—nothing less. We have never seen Mrs. Winslow—know her only through the preparation of her "Soothing Syrup for Children Teething." If we had the power we would make her, as she is, a physical saviour to the infant race. Sold by all druggists. 25 cents a bottle.
