VALUE OF THE IMPROVED ESSEX HOG. [Rural Carolinian.]

The Essex is justly esteemed as one of the most valuable breeds of hogs for the South. It was originated by the late Lord Western, of Essexshire, England, and has since been extensively bred and disseminated by W. Fisher Hobbs, who had unusual facilities for obtaining the very best animals, on which he has since made considerable improvements. This breed is said to have carried off a very large proportion of the prizes at the shows of the justly celebrated Smithfield Club, England. The Essex was derived from a cross of the native hogs of Essexshire with the Neapolitan; they closely resemble the last named, both in form and color, but have better form and size, much more hardiness, and a better consti-

Stevens, in his Book of the Farm. says that he never saw a breed of hogs equal to the Essex in the disposition to fatten. They are exceed ingly gentle, indisposed to travel far, could attain, if kept long, great weight, and are so compact in form and small of hone and offal, that they invariably yield greater weight of pork than was judged before being slaughtered; and more delicious ham was never cured than they afford.

The Essex is usually black. Sticklers for colors say that the spotted E-sex is no Essex at all.

The color, however is not skir deep, it being entirely confined to the hair and outer or scarf skin. When dressed by the usual mode of scalding and scraping the skin is white, The meat is of superior quality, the fat being firm and the lean tender, fine grained, and rich in flavor. They also like the Berkshires, are quite free from cutaneous diseases, their skins being usually smooth and healthy, however much they are exposed to the sun and mud. And as compared with the Suffolk, they attain greater weight at a year old; but they resemble the Suffolk in everything except color, are more hardy and yield a larger proportion of lean meat.

Handling Grain in New York.

Communications have been received at the Produce Exchange from the officers of the Erie and New York Central railroads, stating that the arrangements concluded between the grain committee of the Produce Exchange and the general freight agents of the roads named was satisfactory to the companies. It is understood the arrangement is also satisfactory to the Pennsylvania road. By this new arrangement the grain reaching New York by rail will be inspected by a person appointed by the grain committee of the Produce Exchange, after which each lot of grain will lose its identity and will be known only by the grade to which it may belong. The plan will very much facilitate and cheapen the handling of grain at New York, being similar to that which has been in practice for several years in most cities in this country where a large amount of grain is handled. An effort will be made to enter upon the new system on the 1st of September.

The O'Connell Celebrations.

At the O'Connell celebration in Dublin in the absence of Lord O'Hagun (a Roman Catholic whom Mr. Gladstone has made Lord Chancellor of Ireland and a peer), who was to have been the orator of the day, the Mayor undertook to read the oration, but was hooted down by Fenian sympathizers, and Mr. Butt, the Home-Rule leader, was called for, and made a eulogy on O'Connell.

Apart faom this incident the immense demonstration was conducted in good order. At the banquet in the evensisted on Mr. Butt in place of one of the programme speakers. When Mr. Butt began to speak the gas was shut off and the company broke up. The numerous commemerations in the United States were harmoniously conducted and including several magniticent examples of pageant oratory.

DONALDSON REPORTED ALIVE.

His Disappearance Said to be an Advertising Dodge. The New York Times of Wednesday says: Since Washington H. Don-aldson, the aeronaut and his companion, Grimwood, made their ascension from Chicago in a balloon on July 15th, from which time they have not been seen, there have been various rumors and conjectures regarding their probable fate. While many believe that Donaldson and his companion are lost, there are many persons who believe that it is all an ingenious advertising dodge and that Mr. Donaldson and his companion will make their appearance again. There have been various rumors since his disappearance. One was that the balloon was seen passing over Lake Michigan dragging through the water. Another that the balloon had been seen passing over the land in a northerly direction. Then his body was said to have been found, but it turned out to be the body of a German sailor who had been washed from some steamer. Another report states that a bottle was found floating in Lake Michigan containg a memorandum signed "W. S. G.," (Donaldson's companion,) dated July 16th, stating that the gas was escaping, and that they could not stay up more than half an hour longer. The latest sensation comes from Algonac, Mich., a town on St. Clair river, in the shape of a letter from J. H. Stanwood to a well known professional in this city, who emphatically declares that he saw Donaldson in company with a young man in that village last Friday. He was positive as to Donaldson's identity, having frequently seen him at Barnum's Hippodrome in New York last winter. He says: "Donaldson had no mustache, but the scar on his cheek rendered recognition an easy matter."

The mysterious disappearance and prolonged absence of Donaldson, in view of the letter received yesterday, is considered by many as a revival of Donaldson's alleged advertising trick, introduced by him recently in Philadelphia, where, after making an ascent from that city, a false dispatch was published announcing that Dou-aldson's dead body had been found in the basket of his balloon near a small village in New Jersey. This dispatch was signed "Dr. Fuller." Afterwards an investigation developed the fact that the dispatch emanated from Donaldson himself.

A paper printed in Allenton, Penn., tells the following: "Two years ago Washington H. Donaldson resided in this city for several months, and made several ascensions from Centre square. While here he told Mr. Kramer, at whose hotel he boarded, that a notion had entered his head which would realize him a pile of money if carried out. It was this: He would make an ascension, if a favorable opportunity offered, accompanied by a ready writer, who was to take notes while in the air of the experience they met with as it appeared to him (Donaldson.) For this purpose they would ascend to an unusual attitude, and remain up as long as possible. After having gained the desired knowledge of aerial travel, they descend at a place where they would not likely to be seen, and repair to some quiet and undisturbed nook, and then the ready writer was to enlarge on his notes, which would be printed in book form and be distributed to the world."

Radical Dissension.

So the Republican party is not altogether harmonious in Wisconsin after all. It is only a short time since The Milwaukee Sentinel assured us that the old animosities had all died out and everything was lovely. Since then the same journal has been insinnating that the reunited party was a unit in favor of ex-Senator Carpenter's return to the Senate. Whereupon the organ of ex-Gov. Washburn makes this discordant suggestion: "We would suggest to The Milwankee Sentinel that ex-Senator Carpenter is not running on the State ticket this year, and that any attempt to flood him into popular favor on the strength of the popularity of the ticket nominated will be a failure. Leave the dead in quietude.'

Rousing the Lion.

[Vicksburg Herald.] The other morning, an hour or two before a packet was to make the Vicksburg landing, a Kentuckian, wearing a No. 18 paper collar, turned out of his berth half dressed, felt up and down his state-room door, and then yelled for the captain. When the captain arrived, the Kentuckian inquired in deep tones:

"Ar' you the capting of this boat!"

'I am." "Well I don't want to make any trouble here, but I am a lion when ye rouse me! I left a big cud of gum sticking right thar last night, and I'm goin' to find the man who stole it, or I'm goin' to tear the bottom ont'n this boat!"

The gum was found.

What Has Become of the Impeachers?

The vote acquitting Andy Johnson in the impeachment trial, it requiring two-thirds to convict, was as follows:

FOR CONVENTION—Anthony, Cam-FOR CONVENTION—Anthony, Cameron. Cattell, Chandler, Cole, Conkling, Conness, Frelinghuysen, Harlan, Howard, Howe, Wade, Morgan, Morton, Pomeroy, Ramsey, Sherman, Sprague, Stewart, Corbitt, Cragin, Drake, Yates, Edmunds, Ferry, Morrill, (Me.,) Morrill, (Vt.,) Nye, Patterson, (N. H.,) Sumner, Thayer, Tipton, Wiley, Williams, Wilson—25. Wiley, Williams, Wilson-FOR ACQUITTAL—Bayard, Buckalew, Davis, Dixon. Doolittle, Fessenden, Vickers, Fowler, Grimes, Henderson, Hendricks, Johnson, McCreery, Norton, Patterson, (Tenn...) Ross. Saulsbury, Trumbull, Van Winkle—19

The Brooklyn Eagle reminds us what has happened to these men.—
"Mr. Anthony has been re-elected from a State in which a property consideration is present to property qualification is necessary to voters, and the firm Brown & Ives which he represented rather than the State has come to naught. Simon Cameron has lost Pennsylvania and will be of no more account in politics, now that corruption has been struck down in him. Alex Cattell has been left at home and is now known as the Naval Ring is known. Zack. Chandler has been defeated permanently. Cole, of California, is a sturdy office beggar, succeeded by a Democrat. Mr. Conkling sees New York 50,000 democratic and himself without a following except that which he keeps in office.— John Conness has followed his colleague, Cole. Mr. Frelinghuysen finds New Jersey and himself with separate careers. Harlan has been ruined by disclosures of Credit Mobilier, and he is infamously rich.-Howard, of Michigan, was first defeat-de and then died of a horrible acci-dent. Morgan, of New York, was put to a double degradation. He was defeated, and he was defeated by R. E. Fenton. Cragin is a barnacle on the Navy, and Williams has been retired for the corruption of his family and the incompetency of himself. Mr. Morton sees Indiana repudiate him and his party by 23,000 majority.—Pomeroy goes out all over corrupt.— Ramsey was defeated by his own party. John Sherman has lived to see Ohio 27,000 democratic on a Congress vote. Sprague has failed both in politics and business. Stewart, of Nevada, survives at the product and horrible example of rotten borough politics to see worse jobbers than himself succeed him. Corbett has been sent back to retail shopkeeping in Oregon. Drake has been buried in the Court of Claims, and finds Frank Blair honored, though dead, and himself execrated, though alive, by Miss-ouri. Mr. Edmunds and the two Morrills seem exceptions to retribution. They have not lost their seats or their States, but the country has repudiated their party. Poor Nye is in a madhouse. Ferry, of Connecti-cut, is a hopeless invalid and his

State has repudiated his party, too

Patterson has retired, disgraced with Credit Mobilierism. Sumner, he is dead. Thayer, Tipton and Wiley are not even remembered. Henry is a victim of a terrible malady, and Massachusetts has sunk into a senile lobbyist, and Yates died in a condition not necessary to recall. Of those who voted for acquittal Garrett Davis, Wm. P. Fessenden, James L. Dixon, James R. Grimes. Charles Norton, of Minnesota, and Willard Saulsbury are dead. Their memories are held in honor as men who dared do right when it cost much to do so. Pennsylvania has swung back to the faith of Buckalew and Indiana to that of Hendricks. Iowa has remained steadily radical but has vindicated the name of Grimes by high honors. Delaware, Tennessee, Kentucky, Maryland, West Virginia and Illinois have either remained or become conservative. Kansas has made Ross a State Senator, and Pomeroy lingers, as said, in corrupt obscurity. Mr. Henderson unaccountably went back to radicalism but Missouri did not. Mr Fowler holds a high State office in Tennessee, and wealth and even fame wait on Lyman Trumbull. Mr Reverdy Johnson retired at his own wish and so did Mr. Vickers. Mr. McCreery is again in the Senate, while Mr Bayard's son succeeded him there.-In recalling these facts and the rewards and retributions presiding in them, nobody need speculate about what the people thought of impeach-

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. General Spinner was made glad today by the recovery of $14,500 of the money stolen from the treasury, which Ottman, the saloon keeper and alleged manager of the robbery, had deposited in the Arlington Bank of Alexandria, of which he is a stockholder. It is believed that still more of the stolen money will be recovered, and, at all events, it is known that Ottman has property enough to make the whole amount good. To show what a load of anxiety has been lifted from the minds of the clerks in the cash room, it should be known that one of them has been so disturbed at the position in which he has been placed since the robbery as to become almost if not quite insane, and just before the arrests it was seriously contemplated to send him to the in save asylum. There is no doubt that others besides Brown were at work at the North disposing of the five hundred dollars stolen notes, as Ottman lately deposited several large checks received from abroad. The authorities are on the look out for these parties. Benj. Halleck, the clerk who stole the package and handed it to Ottman, was one of those in whom the fullest trust was reposed, and not long since he was sent to Philadelphia to aid in the inspection of the sub-treasury there. He is a son of the Rev. Mr. New York, who it will be remembered met with a horrible death by being burned up in a railway accident in Penusylvania about two years ago.

THE RIVAL DETECTIVES.

The secret service force of the Treasury have produced reports from members who say that they have, since the robbery, been shadowing the right track and had kept the thieves under surveillance up to the George?" inquired the ex-master.

Arrest of Parker. We condense from an extra issued by the Camden (S. C.) Gazette the following information concerning the arrest in that town of the notorious Niles G. Parker, ex-Treasurer of South Carolina, and defaulter to the State to the extent probably of far more than the amount for which he was convicted, viz: $75,000:

Parker escaped from jail, accord ing to his own account, by means of an entrance through the scuttle in his cell, and then down the lightning rod. He had on at the time of his escape a pair of light colored pants, a felt hat and a dark brown coat; was not disguised as a negro, as surmised by the daily papers. He expected to effect his escape from the county on horseback, but was foiled in his plan. He remained in Columbia until Saturday night, when he and Andy Johnson, col., left on foot in this direction. At McClair's plantation (twelve miles from the city) he bired negro man to bring them as far as Camden. He pretended that he had given up all hope of escape when he approached the city.

Parker had with him only the clothes which he wore, and a bundle containing some small articles besides the "quilt." Andy Johnson had in his pocket a roll of money, showing evidently that he was Parker's money-

Meeting of the Friends of the Southern Historical Society. There will be a meeting of the friends of the "Southern Historical Society" at the Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs, on Wednesday, August 18th. The design of the meeting is to excite and widen interest in the important objects of the Society; and we have the pleasure of announcing that Hon. Z. B. Vance, the distinguished "war governor" of North Carolina, will deliver an address upon the occasion.

The proprietors of the Springs kindly offer to make every arrangement for the meeting, and to reduce their charges for board to members of the Society.

It is regretted that circumstances over which we had no control prevented an earlier announcement of the meeting; but it is hoped that a large number of members of the Society and friends of the good cause will make it convenient to be present. By authority of the Executive Com-J. WM. JONES,

The failure of the jury to agree in agree in the trial of John D. Lee, a Mormoh, for the horrible butchery known as the Mountain Meadew massacre, renders it improbable that there will ever be punishment by the courts for this fiendish atrocity. The num-ber of Mormons on the jury rendered it doubtful from the first whether the accused would be convicted. It is, however, proof of a progress of civilization in that region, which might be emulated with safety in certain more pretentious localities, that two Mormon jurors joined the one Gentile juror in wanting a verdict of conviction. The jury stood exactly as it did in the Beecher case-nine against three .-The nine, in the case of Lee, seemed to have been entirely indifferent to the evidence against the prisoner .-The material points of the prosecution were made out clearly and connectedly, and the blood of the victims fixed upon Mormons under the leadership of Lee, and in obedience to a real or pretended mandate of the so-called Mormon Church. It is nearly twenty years since this crime was committed. The "Danites," then and for years thereafter as much a part of the Mormon Church as its priests and prophets, guarded every channel to retribution. They were the "Avenging Angels" of the Church, and scores of offenders, often unconscious of their offence, fell before the swift and pitiless stroke of that murderous organization. It has passed away as the advance of civilization encompassed it. and now, after two decades, justice has been strengthened to make a feeble effort to assert her majesty in the Mormon dominions. It is a good beginning, and the day is not distant when the Mormon Church shall cease to protect the murderer even in the Utah courts.

Southern Losses. The losses sustained by the South in the civil war are estimated by a Halleck, a well known clergyman of correspondent of the New York FOREIGN. 000,000 independent of the slave property, which amounted to $2,400. 000,000, making a total of $3,684,-000,000. But this is below the mark, for the correspondent estimates that had not the war occurred the wealth of the South, taking the ratio of the decade ending 1860 as a test, would in 1870 have reached $15,381,000,000, instead of which it fell to only $5,462,-000,000-a difference of nearly $10,-1000,000,000, 1 1001 8
