Editors sometimes preach sermons as well as the "reverend clergy."

They do not have before their eyes that golden rule, so wise, so just, so humane—to do unto others as they would be done by.

The weather is so tremendously hot we cannot undertake to preach much from our own secular pulpit to-day.

In the first place it is not the hire the laborer would like, but his hire, of which he is worthy.

Secondly, it is only the laborer who is worthy of his hire. When he ceases to be a laborer and becomes a strikers or a rioter, our text has nothing more to do with him.

Fourthly and lastly, the laborer is worthy only of his hire, not that of other men.

With all men selfishness predominates. Man looks at his own interests. He is so limited in his vision he can see but one side, and that is sure to be his own side. The employers are too prone to consider their own interests only in bargaining for labor.

The weather is so tremendously hot we cannot undertake to preach much from our own secular pulpit to-day, but must borrow the heads of a discourse from another section of the country where the mercury is content to stop short of running out of the top of the thermometer, giving due credit for the same.

When laborers have less wages than their necessities require or than their services are worth, it is bad policy, unwise action to have recourse to violence in order to redress their grievances.

We trust that the railroad companies may be as liberal and kind to their employes as circumstances will allow, and that they may consult the public interests more and their own selfish ends less.

Lord Macaulay's Prophecy. We remember reading some twenty years ago some letters that were addressed to Mr. H. S. Randall, of Virginia, author of the life of Thomas Jefferson.

Until within the past few days, the idea entertained by Macaulay, that the greatest danger to which the institutions of this country could be subjected, would issue from the contest between capital and labor.

by the authorities in the face of a grant of a permit, may be best appreciated by those who will give Macaulay's calm words a respectful and deliberate consideration.

We cannot publish all of Lord Macaulay's letter, but copy some striking sentences. The letter is dated "Holly Lodge, Kensington, London, May 23rd, 1837."

I have long been convinced that institutions purely Democratic must, sooner or later, destroy liberty or civilization, or both. In Europe, where the population is dense, the effect of such institutions would be almost instantaneous.

At the present time, when the number of our population is rapidly increasing, we are in a more dangerous position than we were at the time when Macaulay wrote. We must have a more liberal and kind policy towards our employes.

Horst's Prophecy. Marshal MacMahon recently expressed his admiration of the facility with which Americans become good soldiers.

The experience of the country—especially of the South—has been such that it will never favor a large standing army. With another Grant in the Presidency, backed by an unscrupulous, overbearing, vindictive and persecuting Senate, and a large standing army to obey the mandates of tyranny, the South would be ground down and bull-dozed again—only with four-fold intensity and barbarity.

perate resistance to the laws in all parts of the land. The Federal troops were not required here, because the militia were organized and trusted defenders, and the former were free to be used in other sections where the local soldiers failed from cowardice or lack of numbers or discipline.

All honor then to the New York militia. We cannot doubt that they rendered very efficient service by their promptness and willingness to do what was needed in suppressing or overawing the rebels.

The South has not the same elements of disorder that cause the North. Hence, there would be less danger of a riot. But the reliance in case of riots would be upon the militia, and not upon the U. S. Government.

We have some fine military organizations. We hope that companies now organized will be recruited to the largest size, and that other companies will be formed.

Why cannot two slender persons ever become great friends? Because they will always be slight acquaintances.

Now, instead of trying an increase of the national army, it is perfectly evident that should every State proceed at once to organize its militia, as in the States named by the Graphic, there will not be a particle of necessity to work up an imperial army of regulars.

There is every evidence, however, that the States are realizing the necessity of perfecting their militia systems, and that the idea is carried out, the struggle by the Graphic, there will not be a particle of necessity to work up an imperial army of regulars.

If Alexander Stephens does not cease his liberal talk he will be ostracized and not allowed to sit on the same side of the Chamber with "Democratic Democrats."

me I think that counts since that time have conspired to produce great results and prevent great evils. In my opinion, the people of the South outside of the party should sustain and aid him in his policy of pacification.

The Georgians are more tolerant than North Carolinians. "Gen. Leach, or Gen. Ransom, or Gov. Vance were to dare express himself in that free, candid manner, he would be denounced from Crittuck to Cherokee as a traitor, and would be kicked out of the little party of the "Democratic Democrats."

The Crops in Robeson. A correspondent at Alfordville, P. O., who has lately had occasion to travel through the greater portion of Robeson county, says the crops, especially cotton and corn, are promising well.

To exhibit at Smithville. Burr's "Oceanic" will exhibit at Smithville on Monday or Tuesday next, and we assure our friends there that a great treat is in store for them.

TWINKLINGS. The cotton mills of New England are beginning to show encouraging symptoms of more work.

Capital did not believe in anything as anybody before the strike. Confidence was practically gone then, it must be in the Jim-fam now.

Courier-Journal: When a high-toned female customer is buying at a store in New York, a "labeled" calls out, "Aak some of the young ladies to come and show gloves to this woman."

My strong belief has been and still is that the drunkard's only hope is in a renewed heart, with new desires and strength from God to keep him.

Richmond Dispatch: "We read that Mars was on September 5, he only 35,000,000 miles from the earth." How to prevent a collision on that day, between Mars and the fashionable shirt collar is the problem now agitating Richmond philosophers.

The following definition, which occurs in most abridgments of Webster's Dictionary, must be extremely satisfactory and instructive to a foreigner who is studying our language: "Cook: male bird, form of a hat, part of a gun, notch of an arrow, spot to draw beer, small part of hay."

Danbury News: "How beautiful in the sea and stand upon the rocks of the coast and watch the incoming waves and listen delighted to their low music for hours at a time, and yet it is the sea that causes thousands of strong men to swear, chew plug, drink rum, go without sleep and die of old age."

The Columbia Investigation. (Special Dispatch to the Charleston Journal of Commerce.) COLUMBIA, S. C., July 31. Woodruff, accompanied by his counsel and Lieut. Chapman, left for Charleston at 7 o'clock to-night. He was admitted to bail by Justice Marshall in the sum of forty thousand dollars.

Moses' testimony was concluded to-day, and his early release on bail is assured. His evidence is invaluable to the committee in the prosecution of their purpose, and involves to a damaging degree all the prominent Radical leaders, with a sprinkling of Democrats.

Workington testified to-day. No warrant had been issued for him, but simply a summons, as a witness. Randall and Jones, of Aiken, were also heard, and S. J. Lee will fill an engagement to-morrow.

SOUTHERN ITEMS. There are 800 Baptist churches in Mississippi.

Sanderville, Ge., had a gork tree, planted fifteen or twenty years ago, which is now one foot in diameter and thirty feet in height.

Hon. Alexander H. Stephens appeared in a Justice's court in Crawfordville the other day as the attorney of a blind colored man.

An eel, measuring thirty-three inches in length and seven inches around the body, was killed near Walton, Monroe county, Ga., a few days ago.

There are five Baptist churches in the Georgia convention. Rev. B. F. Thorpe, D. D. of Perry; Rev. G. E. Cooper, M. D. of Americus; Rev. P. W. Edge, Rev. J. R. Rouse, and Rev. A. B. Wright, of Rome. These last two are Primitive and Presbyterians. The Rev. Dr. G. Phillips, D. D.

Spirits Turpentine.

Marrages in Wake for July, five white and sixteen colored couples.

The Charlotte Weekly Observer is to be made a 26 column paper, at $2 a year.

The Charlotte Observer is publishing letters from Europe from Mr. J. C. Jenkins.

Raleigh has received 43,571 barrels of cotton since September 1, 1876; Charles, 47,294.

John Montague, an honest man and sincere Christian, died in Granville on July 20th, nearly 80 years of age.

Gov. Holden having tendered his resignation as a member of the Republican State Committee, we have, says the Raleigh Register, taken his name out of the list of members.

Mr. Rehm, of Newbern, died from one acre, on the 20th of May, thirty-five acres, of large-size Irish potatoes, which were sold for him in Baltimore, at seven dollars per barrel—$235.

Biblical Recorder: The main building of Wake Forest College is beautifully painted. The place never looked so bright and cheerful as at present. When the campus is improved it will be the prettiest place in the State.

The following prices for tobacco raised in Granville have just been realized at Henderson: B. P. Reeves, $35.50; B. H. & D., $37.75; G. M. Hunt, $35.00; H. C. B. Sackett, $40.50; J. B. Burroughs, $36.45; J. T. Cheatham, $38.50. This county beats the world for the tobacco.

Wadesboro Herald: In the garden of N. Frederick, is a watermelon vine, one branch of which produces and bears the natural and expected fruit, while on the others appears a hybrid amalgam production, which looks like lettuce, cauliflowers and cabbage. The hermaphrodite thing has been observed in the garden, and now seed, resembling those of the radish, appear.

Reidsville News: We learn that Prof. Reed, of Chapel Hill, who is investigating the case of Mrs. Bowman, who is suspected of having been poisoned, disinterred the body of her husband, and took his heart, brain and liver for examination.

The Rev. S. S. Bryant, D.D., of Jefferson City, paid our town a visit last Saturday, and preached twice Sunday in the morning at the First Baptist Church. We have the good fortune to listen to sermons of so much merit.

Ashville Pioneer: On Monday last the Supreme Court affirmed the decision of the Superior Court for this county, in the case of W. V. Fleming vs. O. M. Roberts and others. This was suit to recover from the defendants the block of business houses on Main street, west of the Public Square. The amount involved is about $10,000, and the case has been before the courts seven or eight years. There is still litigation on foot, but our friends for every decision has been in favor of the defendants.

Raleigh Observer: The many friends of Wiley D. Jones will deeply sympathize with him in his case, and look deep and sore affliction. His son-in-law, Mr. E. A. Carver, died Monday night of typhoid fever, and his daughter, Mrs. Carver, is lying at the point of death with the same disease. From the friends of the family, Mrs. Carver, died of the same fever. So there were two corpses in the family at one time, and another member of the family barely breathing.

Hillsboro Recorder: A number of tobacco planters were in town on Saturday, and gave good accounts of the crops. One of our friends, Mr. W. A. generally doing well, says he has no more names; but a party of little children, the offspring of a man who died last fall, leaving his property in destitution, were engaged in gathering berries, and while picking, one of the boys, who had been mentioned, with the hope of giving them a little money by the sale of the dried fruit. The owner of the field came upon them, and finding them gathering berries, he called out, "What are you doing here?" and threw away the contents, and gruffly ordered them off the premises. This when blackberries were in millions in every hedge, row, and position on the vines. Can you make a better case, than? Give his name. Hunt him around.

Oxford Twilight: A difficulty occurred at Oxford last night between Mr. Reid and Mr. Fuller, in which Mr. R. was badly cut about the face. Mr. Fuller is now confined in Oxford jail. Before the war Edgecombe was recognized as the banner farming county in the State. The friends of the name of Lee Granville stands firmly, but modestly, at the head of the list, and will continue to do so, for the reason that chessal chess players produce far more profits for excellence unequalled in America. We have seen from the garden of our town, a man, A. H. Cooke, a tomato that weighed 2 1/2 pounds. We are informed that a grocery merchant in this county has proposed to put on glasses and block. The reason is that the price of tobacco has rotted on the hill from the effects of the late rains. The prospects for other crops are good. It is rude and ungentlemanly to strike a young lady, but the dear girls like to be smacked—on their lips.

Charlotte Observer: A physician says the health of Charlotte was never better. There is scarcely any general sickness at all. A gentleman from Asheville yesterday reports all the hotels and boarding houses crowded to their fullest capacity. A grocery merchant says that in his experience in business he never before saw as many eggs on the market at this season of year as at present. The young man who has already written twelve hundred and forty-five words on one postal card, but if the county commission should direct that he has done so, he should be made to pay for it. General D. H. Hill leaves to-day for some point in Canada, which the reporter did not learn, there to deliver an address by invitation upon the subject of the ground, its origin, work and purpose. Mr. H. D. A. Raleigh, who was so badly stabbed, week before last, by a knife in the hands of John W. Roberts, is improving very rapidly. Deputy Sheriff Griffith steps up and hands over the largest fish he has ever taken, and it is one of weighing two pounds, and was raised on a log near the jail.

Raleigh News: A correspondent in Barton's Creek township, this county, writes that he has a hen that had seven or eight eggs at a litter. After performing this feat she treated herself to a well-deserved morsel of recreation, and then commenced laying again. The next litter produced one hundred and seventeen eggs. Geo. Penny, colored, employed on the farm of Mr. Ransom Penney, ten miles southwest of this city, dropped dead, Saturday morning, while plowing in a field. He had been extremely hot and thirsty, and had drunk a large quantity of cold water, dropping dead in a short time afterwards. Lewis, the man who was so severely bitten by dogs last Sunday afternoon in the orchard of Dr. G. W. Blackhall (at the Green place), we hear, is improving, and will, the attending physician thinks, recover, providing lockjaw and hydrophobia do not set in. The amount of fees, mortgages and other instruments admitted to probate and ordered registration, in Wake county, for the month of July, was one hundred and sixty.
