The University Commencement. The two literary societies held their Annual Commencement meeting on Tuesday night. Judge Grant, Col. Wheeler and Capt. John E. Dugger were called out and addressed the Philanthropic Society. We learn the Dialectic Society had a very pleasant meeting at the same hour. Interesting addresses were delivered by Judge Kerr, Judge Dick, Judge Battle, Major Engelhard, Major John W. Graham, Captain James A. Graham and Rev. A. D. Betts, all of whom are old members of the Society.

On Wednesday Maj. J. A. Engelhard delivered the literary address. The address was very well received and frequently applauded. His theme was "The Duty of the Young Men of the South at the Present Time." We cannot give even a synopsis of the address. The Alumni Association then met, Judge Battle presiding. The officers of the Association were reelected.

Hon. Giles Mebane, a classmate of Judge Grant, in behalf of the surviving members of the class, introduced him: Judge Grant arose and gave an epitome of the history of the University, stating briefly its officers and plans of instruction. He dwelt with earnestness on the good the Alumni of the University had done in all the fields of life. He paid a high tribute to the late Dr. Hooper, and expressed the most earnest love for his native State.

The subject of his discourse was the improvements which the last half century have realized in all the useful and ornamental arts, dealing especially with scientific advancement.

At the close of the address His Excellency, Gov. Vance, was loudly called for, and responded in a motion to the effect "that the thanks of the Alumni be tendered Judge Grant for his able and eloquent address, and that a copy be requested for publication."

The motion was put by Judge Battle, and was carried with much

Richmond Dispatch Correspondence.] Stanley Matthews will come before the committee and explain. He looks very sad and feels painfully the attitude in which he stands before the country. Some of his brethren give him sympathy and comfort. The rumor that Ben. Butler has agreed with Sherman to defend him is to night believed, owing to the fact that Butler is watching the case with as much eagerness as he would a criminal examination in which his fee was $20,000. The rumor fo-night is that Potter, Butler, and McMahen will remain at Washington, and Blackburn, Morrison, Cox, Reed, and Stenger will go to Louisians. Mr. Hayes says he knows of nothing wrong that was done in connection with the presidential election.

It is determined to night by the Republicans to introduce a resolution in the Senate, probably to-morrow, to investigate the alleged frauds in Oregon, South Carolina, and New York city. They allege that Me-Gowan, chairman of the New York State Democratic Committee, went to South Carolina to buy electoral votes for Tilden.

A telegram to-night says McLin has reached Jacksonville in better health than usual, and Morton says he will stick. The Florida sub-committee will examine him to-morrow. L. G. Dennis is here in response to

FREIGHT DISCRIMINATION.

What Must be Done to Arrest It and How It can Best be Done. From the Railway World, A June 1: 11 The railway owners must accept as fact that, in a contest with the peor ple, they will go under, and the extent to which they will be made to yield will be in proportion to the extent of the business interests of the people dependent upon them and I

that would attempt to regulate tariffs of rates or through taxation, or undue interference with the operations of the railways attempt to prevent a fair remuneration to the proprietors, would be both unjust and suicidal to the interests of the people themselves. 40,811

The people must be taught to be ware of the demagogues, political or not, who would teach them to disregard the rights of the owners of the railways. There are plenty of such now, and with the prominent position this question is assuming there will be large crops of demagogues produced, who will teach a dangerous portant railway centre in this country.

HOW TO REMEDY THE WRONG. 1. Each railway company, or last speciated lines of railways, forming a through line between leading cities in the country-such as the New York Central and counciting roads between Boston and Chicago or New York and Chicago; or the Pennsylvania Railroad and connecting roads between New York and Chicago or Philadelphia, Baltimore and Chicago; or the Baltimore and Ohio line between New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Chicago-should, from time to time, publish tariffs, contain ing the following features: ... Classification of freights; also rules for its transportation. These rules should embrace a provision that all charges shall be made per 100 pounds of actual weight of each class of freight. Rates of charge for terminal services, separated as follows: For clerical services and stationary: for use of depots; for labor, loading and unloading; for use of sidings and and when the shipper does his own loading and unloading. Rates of charge for transportation per mile; no distance to be rated less than some arbitrary number of miles, ranging from 20 to 50. From the rates of charge for transportation service only, a specified per centage of reduction to be made per 100 pounds, when the ship-ments are in car loads; and a certain other per centage of reduction to be made when the cars of private owners or shippers are furnished.

2. No other reductions of any kind, nor any secret rates to be permitted. 3. No tariff to be varied from until after the publication and posting (for reasonable number of days in advance) of the new tariff which is to supercede the old.

4. That a penalty shall be prescribed against any reduction of rates, rebates or changes whatever, or in any manner from the published tariff of rates.

The Carpet-Bag Campaign in Louisiana.

From the Washington Correspondent N. Y. Herald I. What is of more general importance, however, is the showing of how, under such men as Packard Kellogg, Pitkin, and their pals, the State of Louisiana was politically manipulated. The parish of East Feliciana is nearly as big as the State of Rhode Island, but under the rule of these Carpet-Baggers an obscure custom-house clerk, who had never before even been in the parish, was sent up from New Orleans to take entire charge of the election, to register the voters and conduct all the long preliminaries and the actual voting among a population about whom he could know nothing and with whom he had no interest in common. He appears to have conserred mainly with persons of bad character, and took for his assistant in his political duties a Republican ruffian whom several witnesses declare to have killed at least twenty men. Sherman is a little diffuse in his explanation of the Anderson letter. 1, he thinks he didn't write it; reasonable detention of cars when 2, he is sure he didn't write it: 3, he depots are not furnished by the road, I thinks it entirely harmless if he did write it. -- The only man in the whole raudulent gang who seems to be afflicted with conscience or a sense of shame is Stanley Matthews. He feels the stabs given to his reputation most keenly and hides his head. In this respect, at least, he deserves infinitely more consideration than John Sherman, who falls back on his attorney and tries to brass the thing through; or than Hayes, who smiles and smirks, and gets the records of the State De-partment doctored so as to let him out through a small crevice. Wash.

Post, Dem. - On the whole, the first day of the investigation was a pretty good day for the Democrats. It revives the unsayory Returning Board performances; it shows Senator Matthews in an unenviable light, and it puts the Secretary of the Treasury on his defense. Mr. Sherman seems quite likely to come out of it all right, but Senator Matthews can hardly escape a bad smirch, and the Republican party must inevitably suffer from the fresh exposure of the disreputable gang which it so long fostered in Louisiana. - Springfield Republican,
