ORGANIZATION VERY IMPOR-TANT.

Organization is the most important duty the Democrats of North Carolina have to perform in the pending campaign. Earnest, persuasive, argumentative, practical speeches are valuable, and do good doubtless The newspapers are indispensible as allies in behalf of good, honest economical government, because they are the great distributors of intelligence. It is through them mainly that the politicians and the people The Annual Appropriations for Ten Fisca gather the important facts. But thorough, systematic organization is worth them all, and is absolutely necessary. We do not see how one side can expect to triumph without organization when the other side has organization. The vote in North Carolina is sufficiently close to demand the most pertinacious effort, constant watchfulness, and a system of party discipline and organization that shall be described as thorough.

The basis of hope, of expectancy has been shown already more than ouce in these columns. The census of 1880 and the natural increase since authorize the statement that there are at least 70,000 voters in North Carolina who did not vote in 1880 or have never voted. Of this large number it is fair to say that 50,000 are either Democrats or are not Radicals. Upon them the Democrats must rely chiefly for victory. Starting with a majority of six or seven thousand they must build upon this-they must secure enough of the 50,000 to give assurance of victory.

How is this to be done? By organization. Try every other means and appliance and leave this untried and you have no guarantee of success.

Organization is not so difficult as is thought. It requires cool, directing heads and energetic, intelligent workers. Is the Democratic party so bereft of its live men that these can no longer be found? Not a word of it. In every county the material exists and it should be utilized. What is required is a firstrate Chairman of the County Executive Committee. A man of judgment, of wide acquaintance with the people of the county, of zeal for truth and liberty, of devotion to principle and party, must first be found in every county. With such an earnest, devoted, discreet, intelligent chairman the work may be accomplished without any serious difficulty. It is true he must have good assistants. The General cannot deliver successful battle unless he has good commanders under him. An show how the organization of every county can be perfected. It will require something of devotion to a noble cause, something of consecration to grand principles of government, something of tact and ardor and labor, but organization can be secured, and must be secured.

have had much to say about organi-

tive participant with the pen both by day and night in many campaigns. and we have had our share in writing about organization, but with the exception of a very few sporadic cases there has been nothing of the kind. What is needed, and what we must have, is a wide-spread attack, a general diffusion of the organizing spirit. Democrats in every county and township must for one time in their life feel how very important, how absolutely necessary, it is to organize They must know what the fight means in this year of grace. If the Democrats should lose the State in 1882, is it not altogether probable that they will lose it in 1884? If lost in 1884 there is good reason for saying in view of past elections that the Presidency will be lost. But a failure to carry the State in the coming election means a great deal more to North Carolinians than the loss of the President. A defeat in November means a Radical triumph Look back into the past, and as you recall what your State and county governments were when under the control of Radicals, swear upon the altar of liberty and just rule that you will do your duty like men, and God helping you nothing possible shall be left undone that will aid in saving North Carolina from the deep affliction of passing again under Radical supremacy, and in preventing the Eastern counties from being remanded to the blasting curse of negro management of the finances.

In another article we shall have something to say on "How to or-

GOVERNMENT EXPENDITURES.

The Northern Republican papers and the Independents also are devoting much of their strength against what they call the "big steal" of the Congress that has just adjourned. The following from the New York Sun brings out in a condensed way the magnitude of the performance.

This Year's Appropriations as Stated by the Chairman of the Senate Committee: 884—Robesonian Congress. . $294,293,097

Well, what are you going to do about it? These figures are enormous and speak for themselves. Now who is to blame? What party is responsible? Would you believe it that some of the Republican papers are trying to make it appear that the minority is to be held responsible? Was there ever before any such thing heard of under the sun? Majorities rule and in the matter of electing officers and appointing committees the majority in the Forty-Seventh Congress did control. Why not then hold it responsible for any extravagance that marked the legislation of the session? Could it not have prevented it? Who will say nay? The truth is the Republicans are to be held responsible for every dollar that was improperly expended. This is the rule. The Democrats, when in power, were held responsible not only for what they did, but for what they failed to do. The same chalice must be held to the Republican lips.

James Buchanan was the last Democratic President. He served for four years. His total expenditures to run the Government for four years were about $250,000,000. The Robesonian Radical Congress in one session expended nearly three hundred million, or nearly fifty million more than Buchanan expended in four years. But really Buchanan is charged with more than he ought to be. On the eve of the war there was a general business paralysis and a debt had to be created necessarily. He was in no sense responsible for its creation. If there had been no disturbances his Administration would army cannot beat a disciplined enemy have expended but $176,000,000 in of nearly equal numbers with a pro- four years—an average of $44,000,miscuous crowd of stragglers and | 000 annually. That sum would not run Arthur, Robeson and company We propose, in another article, to but about two months, much le twelve. It takes nearly a million dollars a day to carry on the Government under Radical rule.

There is one fact connected with Radical management that should not be forgotten. It is this. The New Haven Journal and Courier, a Republican paper, sets up this elaim, For many campaigns the papers and it seems to regard it as very creditable to its party. It says that zation. It was all talk. There has in addition to moneys raised for curnever been any organization worththe name, and the man who says there has been does not know of what he is talking. We have been an ache is talking. We have been an acnever been any organization worth rent expenses, and we all know some expenditures. This is a singular laim to set up in the way of merit. The Radicals, then, raise some $450, 000,000 annually. The Democrats only asked for and expended $44,000,-000. Behold the contrast.

PROHIBITION IN THE NORTH. Gov. St. John is the great Prohibition wheel-horse of Kansas Radicalism. He says himself that on the subject of liquor prohibition he is a pronounced fanatic. He has done a great deal to make Kansas a prohibitory State. He has been just renominated for Governor by the Republicans in Convention assembled and by a very large majority on the first ballot. The resolutions adopted are very significant. The Kansas Republicans are as silent as death on the war tariff, on the extraordinary expenses of their party, on the excessive revenues, and indeed, upon all national issues. They confine themselves to regulating the liquor traffic and to giving the women of the land the right to vote. We copy three of the resolutions for the benefit of our Republican friends in North Carolina. They show that their brethren in Kansas are, like Gov. St. John, more interested in the inforcement of sumptuary laws and the women's rights craze than they are in relieving the tremendous burdens of the people. Three of the resolutions are as follows:

"Resolved, That we declare ourselves unqualifiedly in favor of the prohibition of the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, and pledge ourselves to such additional legislation as shall secure the rigid enforcement of the constitutional provision upon this subject in all parts of the State.

"Resolved, That we request the next Le gislature to submit such an amendment to the Constitution of the State as will secure to women the right of suffrage. "Resolved, That we request our delegation in Congress to secure such an amenda the revenue laws as will prevent the issuing of receipts or stamps to sell intoxicating iquors to any persons other than those with the right so to do under the State laws."

In Iowa the Republicans have passed a prohibitory law also. The truth is in the States generally the Republicans, as in Maine, and as once in Massachusetts, are the liquor-prohibitory party, and the Democrats in the same States have been the license

DEATH OF HON, BEN HILL.

Senator Ben Hill is dead. The country has been looking for the final scene and there will be no shock. A great man has fallen The first debater in the United States Congress sleeps his last sleep Georgia has lost her ablest and one of her most devoted sons. Senator Hill was 57 years of age. He appeared of iron monld, and looked a year or so ago as if he would live to a very advanced age. His sufferings have been terrible, and were protracted through months. He bore all with exceeding fortitude and looked at the approaching hour of dissolution with the calmness and resignation of a Christian philosopher. When the hour came he passed away without a struggle or apparent suffering. He died yester day morning at his home in Atlanta. surrounded by several of his family A true Southron has gone to his rest. A sincere patriot and an honest man is gone. A grateful and appreciative people will long cherish his memory. For many years he has been a conspicuous public character, and among the men of the North there was no man who could ride with him in the lists and not go down before his lance.

Mr. Alex. Stephens is in excellent health for him. He does not think the Independents have any show ing in Georgia and that all elected to the House will be Democrats. The following from a special from Washington to the New Orleans Picayune is interesting:

"He is very emphatic in his support of the River and Harbor bill lately passed and recognized the fact that the opposition to the measure is largely based upon sectional considerations. Mr. Stephens has completed and sent to the printer his latest work, being a comprehensive history of the United States, which is brought down to the time of the assassination of Garfield the time of the assassination of Garfield Mr. Stephens has taken especial pains with this work and attaches more value to it than to any of his former publications. Of his book on the 'War Between the States,' 60,000 copies were sold last year, and the entire sale is estimated at over 300,000 copies. The demand now is chiefly from the North."

The people of Georgia have great faith in "little Alex's" integrity. His popularity is as much moral as it is political, possibly more.

A Large Cargo. The British ship Mersey, Capt. Niejah was cleared from this port for Bristol, England, yesterday, by Messrs. Alex. A LIFE FOR A RIDE.

The 6.20 W., C. & A. R. R. train, ye rday morning, brought in a passenge who, though he purchased no ticket, and was not troubled by the conductor, yet paid an enormous price for his short ride. The individual alluded to, a young colored nan, was found cold and stiff in death, face downward, on one of the passenger oaches when the train reached the depot. Coroner Hewlett was notified and repaired to the depot, when a light ladder was furnished him and he mounted to the top of the coach, where he gave the body a thoough examination. There was no fracture of the skull, but one side of the face and head bore evidence of having received a severe blow, which seemed to have twisted the neck. The opinion of the coroner and others was to the effect that the man came to his death by being stricken on the head by some bridge through which the train had passed, and it is supposed that his death was instantaneous. It is presumed that the unfortunate man was stealing a ride, and that he thoughtlessly raised his head at the

The remains were finally removed from the roof of the coach to the depot platform, where a further examination was had, a large crowd having by this time assembled at the spot eager to obtain a glance at the lifeless body. Coroner Hewlett decided that an inquest was unnecessary, and preparations were thereupon made for the removal and inferment of the body.

Deceased is described by one James Wiggins, colored, whom we met at the depot, as a man named Horace Darvey, of Fair Bluff, where he leaves a wife and one child, his age being about 23 years. Wiggins says Darvey applied at the Messrs. Chadbourn's mill, near Whiteville, Columbus county, on Friday last, for employment, which he was successful in securing, and that he commenced work at the mill Saturday morning, and was paid off that evening. Wiggins, who was himself an employe in the mill, says this was the last he saw of deceased, who is also said to have been formerly a wood passer ou the W., C.

Since writing the above we learn that the body was placed in a coffin and sent to Criminal Court.

The trial of Sam. Reese (colored) charged Maggie Davis, a young colored girl, occupied the whole session of this Court yesterday. There were thirty-five witnesses present, and about twenty of these were put upon the stand. The examination of witnesses consumed the greater part of the day, and an evening session of the Court was held for argument by counsel. Messrs. Davis and Bellamy appeared for the defence and Solicitor Moore for the State, The case was given to the jury about 12 o'clock, and after remaining out about an hour, they returned into court with a verdict of "not guilty," and the prisoner was An informal meeting of the school committeemen of Wilmington Township was held at the City Hall yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of consultation as to action preparatory to the reopening of the public schools in the township. No definite plan of action was determined upon, but it may be stated as the purpose of the meeting that the present school system will be overhauled, reorganized, and put in such shape as to make a marked increase in the usefulness and efficiency of the public schools of the city, both white and colored.

The Drowned Man. Henry Bryant was the name of the coored man who got drowned off the steamer Wave on her upward trip last Friday. He was employed as a deck hand, was about 25 years of age and claimed Lumberton as his home. When he first came he ran on the Hurt for about one month, since which time, or for about three months, he has been running on the Wave. We learn that up to yesterday afternoon the body was still tied up near the Navassa Guano Factory. The authorities of Brunswick have

MERERIS, August 14.—The appound that Richard B. Garland, who s and killed Joseph Addison, of more, in an impromptu duel fought near Wedderburn's saw mill on the 14th of last July, was to be arraigned for trial to-day at Lunenburg Court House, attracted an immense crowd of people, who came from every section of the country. At 11 o'clock the grand jury (on which there were five colored men) were olored men) were sworn and sent to their oom. After an hour's consultation they reported a true bill in the case of R. B. Garland, who was indicted for murder. At o'clock the court took a recess for dinner. The court convened at 2 o'clock, when Garland was brought from jail into the court room. The prisoner is about 27 years of age, a native of Lunenburg county. Dr. John R. Garland, father of the accused, occupied a seat next to him On arraignment Garland pleaded not guilty Of the forty-eight jurymen summoned twenty-four had expressed an opinion and were rejected as incompetent. During the alling of the venire in Garland's case the rand jury came into court and reported rue bills in the cases of W. W. Boswell and John Roche, charged as principals in the killing of Addison and indicted for murder. The Garland jury was next called and the examination of witnesses commenced At ten minutes to three this afternoon ther were twenty-three witnesses to be examined; sixteen for the prosecution and seven for the defence. The prosecution is being conducted by G. C. Orgain, commonwealth's attorney, and Judge Drury A. Hinton, of Petersburg and Archibald H. Loylar, of Baltimore The defence is represented by C. L. Lee, of Lunenburg county, P. W. McKinney, of Farmville, this State, and Clem Green, of Charlotte occupied in the examination of Dr. John R. Mayo. He testified that Addison's death was caused by a shot in the right groin the ball perforating the bowels. Pending the examination of E. T. Orgain, a witness for the prosecution, court adjourned until 9.80 o'clock to morrow morning. The sheriff took charge of the jury.

The Garland-Addison Murder Trial Testimony of a Witness for the Pros

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.] MEHERRIN, August 15.—The second day's trial of Richard D. Garland, at Lunenburg Court House, for the murder of ames Addison, of Baltimore, commenced at 9.30 o'clock this morning. The first witness called was E. T. Orgain, an inti mate friend of the murdered man. He testified to knowing W. W. Boswell, brother in law of the girl, and calling at Wederburn's saw mill and informing Addison that Garland was down the road waiting to see him, and of Addison going to meet Garland, accompanied by witness and John E. Eans, the subsequent intro-duction of Garland and Addison, and the duel which followed. Witness stated that but after being wounded the deceased told witness he fired twice. The pistol was exhibited to the court and the jury, when witness said that he examine pistol after Addison had been and found one barrel empty. and the impression of the hammer of the pistol upon four of the cartridges which had failed to explode. After Garland ex-hausted the loads in his pistol he asked Boswell for another. When Boswell handed Garland another pistol Addison remarked, "Foul play. My pistol has refused to fire but once and I have no other." Boswell then remarked, "I am satisfied, gentlemen, if you are." Addison next said, "Wel boys, I am done for. I have been shot through the bowels." Garland next replied, have been shot through the arm." At the conclusion of this portion of the testimon the letters which caused the duel and which Miss Mamie Hatchett to Garland, and those written to Miss Hatchett by Garland-were read to the court and jury. Pending the reading of the letters the Court took a re

Senator Hoar Gives his Views on the River and Harbor Bill and the Vete

[By Telegraph to the Morning Star.] WORCESTER, August 15 .- Senator Hoar has written a letter to the people of Massa chusetts, in which he at considerable length gives his reasons for voting for the River and Harbor bill, and his views on internal improvements. The Senator asserts that if he and his associates erred in their views upon the River and Harbor bill, was with the sincerest desire to do right, and without the smallest motive to do wrong, affirming that he considered that his duty to the State and country, required of him to vote as he did. Mr. Hoar pro ceeds to argue with regard to the national rather than the local character and importance of the River and Harbor bill, and says the President did not point out an item which he thought of local interest only, and did not point out an instance in which he thought the bill unconstitutional. He did not refer us to the information on which he acted, that we might see whether it were we or he that were deceived. We were, therefore, left to our own resources. If the bill failed all public works of this class musstop. The suggestion that the general appro-priation should be made of half the sum provided in the bill, with authority to the President to expend it on such public works as he thought fit, seems to me, with due respect, totally inadmissable. It does not seem to me to accord with sound constitutional theories to intrust to any execu tive the power of determining what public works are for national advantage. In conclusion, he says whether the policy of the bill is to be popular in Massachusetts this afternoon or this week, or this year, I don't knew; but one thing I do know, it is in the line of all her traditions, and is sure sooner or later, to secure her support.
