WASTING TIME. Mr. Stewart, of Nevada, has introduced in the Senate a bill for the free coinage of silver, and Mr. Bland has announced his intention of introducing a free coinage bill in the House of Representatives. This might be expected from Mr. Stewart, for both of his eyes are fixed on silver; that is his platform, and he can and will affiliate politically with the men who agree with him on that, however they may differ from him on other things. Belonging to no party now he can and will clasp hands with any man who believes in free comage, no matter what else he may believe in. Mr. Stewart, once a stalwart Republican, is now a free lance in politics, and rather enjoys the dissensions in the Democratic party caused by the agitation of the silver question.

Mr. Bland, however, is a Democrat, always regarded as a rattling good one, and therefore we cannot see what he has to gain for himself or for the party by a further agitation of the coinage question in this Congress. If the coinage of the seigniorage is strangled by a Presidential veto, what hope is there for a free coinage measure? It it took a bard, and for some time an apparently hopeless fight, to carry the seign'orage bill through the House and Senate where does he expect to get the votes to carry a free coinage bill through? There were Democrats who voted for the seignlorage bill who would not vote for a free coinage bill. As far as putting himself on record goes, or forcing the President or others to put themselves on record that has already been done by the action upon the unlimited, there is no hope of ap- are ways to enforce even bad laws proval from the President unless coupled, (under present conditions) with impossible provisos. The advocates of silver coinage limited or unlimited will never give the authority suggested to issue bonds while there is silver available for coloage, for that means the continued and indefinite discrimination against silver, the very thing that the silver men are fighting against. They may enter their protest if they will against the action that the President has seen fit to take in vetoing the seigniorage bill, but any turther agitation of that ques- as he has an income sufficient to suption in this Congress, and at this port him in comfort without this he time, is not only a waste of time, but | prefers to have a good time, and not is obstructing and perhaps endanger- fool with his tenants, who pronounce ing measures of much more impor- him a daisy landlord.

tance than the coinage of the seigniorage, which would add but little to the volume of money in circulation, hardly enough to make it worth a fight, if that was all the fight was

This silver fight will go on, it will go on before the people, and the issues will be so clear cut that there will be no question as to the construction of the platform, and no doubt as to the position of the candidates who stand upon it. The people of this country will never consent the continued discrimination against silver and they will never consent to let the Northeast corne of the Republic dictate our financial policies and say what shall or shall not be the money of the country. That is about the situation now and has been the situation for the past twenty-six years, with the exception of the interval during which the Bland act of 78 was in operation. If the silver men of the West would weaken the power of the money combinations of the East they would favor any measure which would tend to break the monopoly they have in the money of the country, and therefore they should join hands with the advocates of the repeal of the bank tax, and thus open the way for the establishment of State banks in the South and the West, which would not only help to release the country from the grip of the money monopolists, but would also hasten the free comage of silver. There is not a new bank that would be started which could not find use for silver coin as a basis of circulation and a reserve, the aggregate so used amounting to many millions of dollars. This would create a demand for silver which does not now exist, and never will exist while the present monetary system prevails and is the only one; the discrimina-resorting to the debt-perpetuating, debt-increasing, interest-paying policy which has been suggested. The South and the West are running pretty close together on the silver question, and they should work together on the bank tax question, for the repeal of that will do much to break up the Eastern monopoly of money than anything that has been suggested or is possible until the free and unlimited coinage of silver be-

tion against it would cease, the price of bullion would go up and the parity gave his version of the recent col-

causes that led up to it. It seems, even from his statement, that the immediate cause was the search of the houses of citizens for contraband liquor, search by armed men sent there by State authority and armed expressly, not simply with weapons of defence but some of them with Winchester rifles, weapons of war. From this it is evident that Governor Tillman anticipated trouble, trouble that might culminate in bloodshed, which it did. He anticipated it because he had had some correspondence with the municipal authorities of Darlington some time ago in which they resented his assumption of the right to dictate to them as to how they should govern that city. Possibly this may have something to do with sending that squad of constables there armed as they were, and composed of apparently desperate men. He claims the right of search under the Dispensary law, and calls God to witness that he will execute it, "with warrant if necessary." We do not know whether the Dispensary law authorizes the search of private houses or not, but presume from his statement that it does; but no search of a citizen's house should be made without warrant, for when that can be done no man knows when his home is safe from invasion or his family from annoying persecution and insult by irresponsible and brutal men, for it is only a low order of men who would accept such commission and execute such offices, in the present state of feeling in South Carolina. The Dispensary law is bad enough from any point of view, but if it contains such a provision as this it is one of the worst features of it and one that would make it odious anywhere. Unfortunately this bad law has been left to the execution of a stubborn, rash man, who acts first and thinks afterwards, whose judgment is warped by his resentments and who seems to be under the impression that he has been especially seigniorage bill, which shows that chosen to fight the "oligarchy" and while there is a majority of Demo- thus vindicate the rule of the macrats in both Houses of Congress in jority. Governor Stone, of Missouri, is in rouble. A negro sentenced to be hanged has sent him the rabbit foot he toted, with a bag of "hoodoo" powder, with instructions how to nanipulate the foot, and a threat that if the instructions are not carried out he will be a "hoodooed" Governor. The Governor hasn't much faith in a rabbit foot that let its man get into jail and be sen tenced to be hanged, but there is that "hoodoo" staring him in the face if he doesn't tie to it.

Senator Vance's health: Senator Vance is said to be suffering from an enlargement of the liver. By using highly concentrated food since his return here he has slightly improved in condition, but is not able to walk. The above information is on good authority, but does not come from a member of the family. Mr. Charles N. Vance tells me to-day that his lather was badly jolted by the trip and did not rest well last night, but he is better to-day, and is recovering from the effects of the journey.

And now it is Asheville that is putting on airs. The people there are moving for an Inter-State Encampment, and propose to take in all the troops composing the State Guard of North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennesses. It is more than likely, however, that Tillman will soon have a "melish" organized after his own heart, and that he will not be specially anxious to have any of his cohorts leave the Palmetto State even for a day.

An April Fool. The ordinance of the city of Charlotte taxing dealers in cigarettes $200,00 each, and which was to go into effect April 1st, had a very brief existence. The Board of Aldermen held a meeting Monday and reduced the tax from $200 to $10, with a penalty of $50 for selling without license. So the Charlotte cigarette emerges from the smoke of battle with flying colors, and the Charlotte elver John Gill Arrives and Tekes ession of the Road-The edings Before Judge Sim As stated in a telegram printed in the TAR of Sunday, Gen'l John Gill, Presi ent of the Mercantile Trust and De posit Company, of Baltimore, was appinted receiver of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railway Company by Judge Simonton, of the United States Circuit Court, at Charleston, Saturday, Whether the appointment is permanent or temporary is not stated.

Gen, Gill, accompanied by Mr. Frank Jenkins and Major J. D. Ferguson, of Baltimore, the latter being President of the Equitable National Bank of that city, arrived here from Charleston about noon yesterday. They were met here by Dr. W. A. Lash, Hon. George M. Rose, Capt. J. W. Fry and Mr. J. R. Williams, of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley railway, with a special train, on which the party left for Fayetteville and Greensboro in the afternoon.

Receiver Gill took formal possession of the road yesterday, and the running of trains will continue as usual. Whether or not there will be any change in the personnel of officers of the road, has not yet transpired. Arrangements have been made, it is understood, to pay all arrearages of salaries and wages of em-

Messrs, Frank Jenkins, of New York and Cowan & Cross, of Baltimore, and Turner, McLean & Ralston, of New York, yesterday appeared before Judge Charles H. Simonton, in the United States Circuit Court, with a petition for the appointment of a receiver for the Yadkin Valley Road. The case in which the proceedings were taken is en-titled "The Farmers' Loan and Trust Company of New York against the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad Company," and was brought in consequence of the insolvency of the railroad company. Upon considering the petition Judge Simonton appointed Col. John Gill, of Baltimore, receiver of the road.

Cold Snap. Capt. S. W. Noble, of this city, correspondent for New Hanover of the Agricultural Department, has forwarded to Mr. Henry A. Robertson, statistican at Washington City, by request, special information in regard to the damage done to crops hereabouts by the recent cold weather. He reports as follows, the information being based upon his own personal knowledge and information: Asparagus cut down; beets and cabbages no damage; corn and potatoes cut down but not materially damaged; beans, canteloupes, melons and squashes killed; early-blooming apples, buckleberries, eaches and plums killed: radishe killed; strawberries damaged about 40 per cent.; peas damaged 75 per cent. As to grapes, Capt. Noble says that the new wood and forms are all killed, back to the old wood, but it does not follow that the grape crop is damaged materially. He has had them killed back twice the same season, and they have yielded a good crop without any perceptible difference in quality or in time of ripening.

Wilmington and Newbern Mail. The first regular mail from this city for Newbern and intermediate points over the Wilmington, Newbern and Norfolk Railroad, was carried yesterday; and it was a very heavy one, including all the Sunday mail matter from the North and West that has heretolore had to lie over at Goldsboro until Monday afternoon. There were five or six large sacks of newspapers and miscellaneous packages and a very large letter mail. Young Lady of Newbern Found Dead in Bed-Drowning Accident on Neuse

[Special Star Correspondence.] NEWBERN, N. C., April 9 .- This community was shocked and grieved vesterday morning to learn that the eldest daughter or Mr. L. J. Moore, a prominent and popular attorney here, who was one time solicitor of this district, was found dead in her bed when they went to call her for breakfast. Another sad death was the drowning of Will Cannohan, of Chesapeake City, Md., at Johnston's Point, Neuse river, shortly after noon yesterday. Mr. Cannohan was mate of the three-masted schooner Chas, T, Straun, of Bethel, Del., Capt. Jno. A. Marshall, bound from Elizabeth City to this place, with a small cargo of truck barrels. Opposite Johnston's Point the mate undertook to lower one of the men, George Hopkins, in the yawl boat. The davits knocked Cannohan overboard, the yawl filled and both men were in the water. A brisk breeze was blowing, the force was short, and Capt. Marshall says his men lost their heads and would do nothing. Calling to them to keep up, as quickly as possible he lowered another boat and went to their succor. Cannohan had sunk before he reached him, only staying on the surface a few minutes. Hopkins was taken up without other inconvenience than cold and exhaustion. Both mer were good swimmers, and the captain thinks the mate must have had the

MOUNTAIN DEW"

And Moonshiners in the Swamps of Robeson County-Arrests for Violation of Internal Revenue Laws -A Negro Charged with Shooting at Revenue Officers.

[Special Star Correspondence.] MAXTON, N. C., April 4th, 1894 .- It seems that the moon shines in Robeson as brightly as in the mountains and the "dew" falls almost as plentifully in Raft Swamp as in the deep glens of Skyland. The irrepressible E. J. Graham,

Lumber Bridge, was again up before U. S. Commissioner B. F. McLean yesterday, and together with Andrew ish, of the same place, was bound over to the U.S. Court, when next it convenes in your pleasant city, on the charge of retailing without license. Lumber Bridge township joins Cun berland county, and has a population noted for being good, law-abiding citi-zens, industrious and sober, filled with noble aspirations, which found expression in the establishment and mainten ance of churches and a school of high grade. They are naturally very much exercised over the state of affairs now existing, so foreign to their past. The trouble began a few years ago, when E. J. Graham decided that there ought to be an easier, if not more royal, road to wealth and fame than by raising cotton and bread corn, and set up Government distillery, against the advice and pleadings of his neighbors. However, making mountain due on the olan upon which the Government claimed a large interest did not prove profitable, and was abandoned. It was not long after the fires were put out of the registered still before it was known that the "dew" continued to fall, and it was found that Graham's still had been stolen(?). To make a long story shorter, the people of Lumber Bridge believe that six illicit distilleries are in use in that section; four of them being con trolled by Graham and two by parties. They believe that there has been formed a band held together by a most mystic tie-an improvement or that more ancient and honorable tie which bound the Wise Man and the men of Tyre. The stills are kept constantly on the move. One was seen in Lumber Bridge township a few weeks ago with certain parties around it. That night it had disappeared, and was again seen last, week in Saint Paul's township, with the same parties about it; but the same night they olded their tents and departed. STAR twenty-six years and six months old. And if we mistake not, it is one of the oldest papers in the State, and we are sure one among the best. The STAR has been enlarged to an eight column paper and will be otherwise improved. And while this is the case there will be no advance made in the price of sub-

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

Haden, a white prisoner, died in the ail here at 19 o'clock Saturda 60 years of age, and was serving out a six months seutence on the chain gang - Danbury Reporter: Prof. H. B. Tilden, of Greensboro, and an English mining engineer spent a day or two among our iron mines here last week We learn that the Englishman said that iron ore here is as fine as he eyer saw, as fine as any in England, Their sta was short but much can be seen in a day, sunshine from four to ten feet thick. - Durham Globe: A letter has been received here from Chatham, Va. giving a description of the white man found there which accords in almost every particular with the description of Mr. Charles E. Crabtree. W. C. Bradsher has gone to Chatham. In Chathan county, N. C., it is reported that a mar answering to Mr. Crabtree's description has been found. A man has also been

- Lumberton Robesonian: Tust at nine o'clock this (Tuesday) morning the alarm of fire was heard, and it was soon discovered that the dwelling house of the editor of this paper was in flames. Every effort was made by the people to save the building, but as the wind was blowing and the fire was under such headway before help could be rendered it was impossible to do anything, except save most of the furniture, which wa

High Point Enterprise : The child of Mr. Will Wicher died suddenly last Thursday. Last July he fell down and stuck a knife in his head. He apparently recovered from this, but or Thursday morning he complained of pain in the head and lived only seven hours. —A sensation was caused in South Randleman on last Wednesday by a child being found in a well where i had been thrown about a week before. A young negro woman was immediately ar rested on suspicion and sent to jail.

- Charlotte Observer: Among Charlotte's latest enterprises is an organ factory. It is owned and operated by Messrs. Brown & Barrett, and is located on West Trade street. Organs are manufactured just as they are in the large factories North, the casing, works, etc., being made in the shop. There has al-ways been a good demand for small organs in the city, and Messrs. Brown & Barrett, recognizing this, have started out to make Charlotte organ headquarters. Of course they have begun on a scale, but will increase the business as they find it profitable. - Charlotte Observer: News has just reached Marion of what seems to be a horrible murder in Mitchell county re cently. The report received by your correspondent says that on last Sunda Mrs. English, wile of Oliver English disappeared and her body was found in the river by some boys. The report says Mrs. English's body was bruised her skull broken in places and her face wounded. The evidence before the cor oner's jury of inquest showed that Mr and Mrs. English were together late heard the woman scream shortly after dark. English evidently bas left, as my report says that he was tracked for several miles, and the tracks corresponded in size and shape with tracks known to have been made by English. - Newbern Courier: Mrs. Jezabel

A. Barfield, aged 66 years, died yesterday morning at the residence of Mr. G. W. Fulcher, her son-in-law. - The three-mast schooner Charles T. Stram. of Bethel, Delaware, Capt. John A. Marshall, with a cargo of truck barrels from Elizabeth City for this place, while beating along under a strong wind lost her mate, Wm. Callahan, off Chesapeake City, Mn, opposite Johnson's Point, last Sunday. Mr. Callahan was lowering one of the crew, Geo. Hopkins, in a yawl boat when in some way he was knocked overboard by the davits, the yawl filled and both men were thrown struggling in the water. They were good swimmers and Captain Marshall, observing that his small crew were too dazed by the accident to render assistance, called to the two men to keep up and that he would rescue them. As quickly as he could he lowered another boat and went after them, but Callahan, who only remained on the surface a few minutes, had already disappeared from sight. Mr. Callahan was about 28 years of age.

- Shelby Review : A lady of this place is crippled by a broken toe. Her laughter kicked her in her sleep breaking the bone in one of her toes. ttle daughter of Jno. Green, of Boiling Springs, was fearfully and probably fatally burned by her clothes catching fire a day or two ago. - Mr. Milton Wylie was found dead in his bed at Hickory Grove Wednesday morning. He died of heart disease, and his death occurred only a few minutes before he was found, as his body was still warm. - A mad dog appeared at the house of Mr. Jesse Hogue, near Patterson's Springs, Monday, and bit a little child William Hogue. The child's face was badly lacerated. The dog got away before it could be killed. It is suppose to have been the dog that was killed at the Hackett Blanton place Tuesday. - As the Carolina Central train, headed this way, with Capt. Shannonhouse in charge, was clipping along at fifty miles an hour a day or two ago, i struck a fine specimen of the razor-back hog. The cowcatcher picked up the hog and threw it up on the platform in front of the engine, where it lay quiet and unhurt for several miles. Then in jumped off and was cut in two by the train.

- Charlotte News: The death of Mr. Wade Stoudemire, a young man just 17 years old, occurred at the home of his mother, Mrs. E. E. Stoudemire, this morning at 10 o'clock. - Yesterday afternoon there was a sudden death under peculiar circumstances in Concord. Henry Sarratt, the janitor of the New South Club, was to have heen married there, and at the appointed hour he repaired to the house of his intended bride. The guests were assembled and the minister was in the parlor ready to perform the ceremony. Sarratt, with his intended bride, started to descend the stairway from a room above, and as they were going down Sarratt suddenly threw up his arms and fell dead. The tragic event produced a scene, as may be imagined - Most of the farmers say there will be a decrease in the acreage of cotton this year. This report usually goes out about this time of year and i the crop is decreased it never shows it in the number of bales. The report, however, that the crop will be increased is false, and the matter has been based on the fact that an unusual amount of commercial fertilizers have been sold to the farmers. This is due to the fact at the farmers out fertilizers under al their spring oats, which is a larger crop than common. The cotton will doubtless be decreased and the planting season will be delayed if the cold weather continues much longer. Cure for Headache.

POLLARD-BRECKNRIDGE

The Colonel's Testimony Concluded - Evi. dence in Rebuttel to be Submitted To-

By Telegraph to the Morning Star WASHINGTON, April 4 .- Col. Breck. aridge ended his testimony to-day, after having been on the stand almost coninuously since Thursday. To-morrow the defense may submit additional testimony, but it is more likely that the rebuttal of the plaintiff's evidence will bezin, and there is every indication that all the evidence will be before the jury when the court adjourns on Friday until Monday. The day was not sensational
