THE DISTINCTION DRAWN. At the present day, it is the usage of patent licine Proprietors to offer their articles with mmendation, that "they are a sure cure all or the most of the maladies to which the an race is subject. The result is, that the led by them. It is quackery of the deepest to offer medicine for the cure of diseases at differ totally in their nature and character; to for instance, consumption, or liver affecns, dropsy or rheumatism. Scientific mediie holds that one remedy is to cure only such ections as are similar or analagous, and consequently there must be different medicines for ifferent diseases. Quackery holds that one renedy is sufficient for all or many disorders,

Without a patent or guaranty of any kind from government, and none ought to be wanted, br. Little has found it absolutely necessary, ducting an extensive Drug Business, to ve a few Pharmaceutical Medicines prepared family use, that are really good, if not in pared to attend to all orders for advance of any of the day. Some of these comcounds are entirely new, whilst others are an rovement upon the old plan. They are preared in the best manner from select medicines al are prescribed for such maladies as they assuredly cure, or are very likely to do so, and no others. And from the fact that he has been enabled to cure a great many cases with them, that other physicians had failed in, as well as that they are now extensively, rec mended by many, he doubts not but that they are not only superior, but rarely equalled from iny quarter. To illustrate, wherever the Anolyne Cough Drops and Vermifuge have been well tried, and it is the case in many places, not only individuals but whole neighborhoods are ready to vouch for the unparalleled success of have the Dyspeptic Medicines, Ringworm and Tetter Ointment, and the French Mixture, been HEMORRHAGE OF THE LUNGS.
