A Letter to be Read and Thought upon. THE South and North have spoken, now speaks the South. The sunny South—Bene the blue sky given by one of her sons in his youth, and the first glow has so much followed that I consider it but justice to give to the entire world the result of his application. Mine was a large one in the North. The first little article like a charm, the almost restored strength in my poor afflicted back and I am now as well and old as going as when I was sixteen. I am now seventy-four years of age.
I consider your Throats the greatest discovery of the age, and poor suffering humanity ought to erect monuments to the discoverer. I have never known of any other medicine, except your Throats, which has so much followed that I consider it but justice to give to the entire world the result of his application.
