

THE FATE OF CONQUERED NATIONS.

From the Richmond Examiner.

Try to imagine the scenes which would take place all over this country on the first day of acknowledged submission—that is, the day which should witness a treaty for reconstruction upon any terms whatsoever.

OFFICERS OF THE ARMY OF TENNESSEE

Correspondence of the Savannah Republican. MAJOR GENERAL JOSEPH WHEELER. TRIMASTON, GA., Jan'y 1, 1864.

Early in March 1861, when the storm-cloud of war gathered over our country, he complied with the summons of the day.

WHAT ONE MAN CAN DO

The Lynchburg Republican having mentioned the gallant conduct of B. Foster in resisting the advance of the Yankees upon Salem, Va., last gentleman has communicated to the Albemarle Virginian the following statement, which shows what one man can do.

Red Sulphur Springs, Va., Dec. 26, 1863. — Messrs. Editors: I would not trouble your readers with a communication, but from the fact that I have seen an article in the Lynchburg Republican, in which the writer makes mention of my name in a very complimentary manner.

WAR NEWS.

From Wilmington.—At about half past five o'clock this morning a concussion was felt here that caused every house in town to shake, jumping the doors and windows and making the sleepers awake.

The concussion yesterday morning was accompanied by the burning of a Yankee gunboat which had grounded not far from the wreck of the Bendigo, near Lookwood's Polly Beach.

A HELL ON EARTH

The articles touching the fate of Poland, Ireland, and other oppressed nationalities, which have appeared in recent issues of our contemporary, the Examiner, cannot fail to arrest the attention of a people who have been forced at last to contemplate, not without seriousness, a contingency, which, at the beginning of the war, was never mentioned, or it mentioned, excited only derision.

It is hardly needful to remark that the post-office also—as in those three other countries—would be made a bureau of espionage, in order to know the secrets of suspected persons, and to find out with whom they correspond either at home or abroad.

It takes no effort of imagination to conceive this state of things in all its details; there is no need of any imagination at all in the matter. When the sun sets, it is not by imagination, but by induction, we know that clouds and darkness will come over us.

And our masters would be the Yankee nation. Think of it. Such, imperial House of Commons—a single brood of the blood-royal kings—would be our rulers and taskmasters; but a man only of the lowest of the white races of the earth.

Navigation of the Mississippi

And here I will end my short letter, stating that the enemy of account of swollen creeks and severe weather, found Salem a rough road to travel.

A beautiful affair in Fauquier.—On July 1st, 1864, a scouting party of 84 Yankees dashed into Upperville to capture some of Mosby's men, whom they expected to find there.

Capture of a Yankee Train and Yankees.—A portion of our cavalry forces, under command of Gen. Fitz Lee and Gen. Rosser, have been looking after the Yankees, Yankee trains, &c., in the mountains of Hardy.

Success of Gen. Forrest.—A private despatch from Gen. Forrest, dated Senatobia, the 31st inst., "I have returned with three thousand men for arms. On my way out I met the enemy and fought them four days, and repulsed them each day with heavy loss to them. My loss was light."

Christmas Prophecy

Among the Christmas Carolists in the fine old collection, edited by Wright, published in the very interesting Miscellany of Anglo-British Literature, issued by the Percy Society, occurs a series of prophecies, touching the several days on which Christmas falls in successive years.

Removal of Beut Butler.—A report was in circulation yesterday in the city that Beut Butler had been removed from his command of the Department of Virginia and North Carolina, and that Burnside had been appointed in his stead.

Relief to T. E. Skinner.—The friends of this gentleman will be gratified to learn that he has had a safe voyage and has probably arrived in England. When his letter was written he was within two days sail of Liverpool.

Bank Stock for Sale. A. McLEAN, 88-NR

CONFEDERATE BONDS

Confederate Bonds are selling in Richmond at the advance. Agents are selling eight per cent bonds at 102. We doubt not but for the bonds they expect after, but the only one who can afford to buy them is the Government, and accordingly they will be sold to the Government. It is an apparent sacrifice, profit, while the present war.

Confederate Bonds—A New York paper says the sale of Confederate Bonds in New York is very slow. The bonds are selling at 102. The Government is the only one who can afford to buy them.

Confederate Bonds—A New York paper says the sale of Confederate Bonds in New York is very slow. The bonds are selling at 102. The Government is the only one who can afford to buy them.

Confederate Bonds—A New York paper says the sale of Confederate Bonds in New York is very slow. The bonds are selling at 102. The Government is the only one who can afford to buy them.

WAR NEWS

From Wilmington.—At about half past five o'clock this morning a concussion was felt here that caused every house in town to shake, jumping the doors and windows and making the sleepers awake.

The concussion yesterday morning was accompanied by the burning of a Yankee gunboat which had grounded not far from the wreck of the Bendigo, near Lookwood's Polly Beach.

Removal of Beut Butler.—A report was in circulation yesterday in the city that Beut Butler had been removed from his command of the Department of Virginia and North Carolina, and that Burnside had been appointed in his stead.

Relief to T. E. Skinner.—The friends of this gentleman will be gratified to learn that he has had a safe voyage and has probably arrived in England. When his letter was written he was within two days sail of Liverpool.

Bank Stock for Sale. A. McLEAN, 88-NR

Confederate Bonds—A New York paper says the sale of Confederate Bonds in New York is very slow. The bonds are selling at 102. The Government is the only one who can afford to buy them.

Confederate Bonds—A New York paper says the sale of Confederate Bonds in New York is very slow. The bonds are selling at 102. The Government is the only one who can afford to buy them.

WAR NEWS

From Wilmington.—At about half past five o'clock this morning a concussion was felt here that caused every house in town to shake, jumping the doors and windows and making the sleepers awake.

The concussion yesterday morning was accompanied by the burning of a Yankee gunboat which had grounded not far from the wreck of the Bendigo, near Lookwood's Polly Beach.

Removal of Beut Butler.—A report was in circulation yesterday in the city that Beut Butler had been removed from his command of the Department of Virginia and North Carolina, and that Burnside had been appointed in his stead.

Relief to T. E. Skinner.—The friends of this gentleman will be gratified to learn that he has had a safe voyage and has probably arrived in England. When his letter was written he was within two days sail of Liverpool.

Bank Stock for Sale. A. McLEAN, 88-NR

Confederate Bonds—A New York paper says the sale of Confederate Bonds in New York is very slow. The bonds are selling at 102. The Government is the only one who can afford to buy them.

Confederate Bonds—A New York paper says the sale of Confederate Bonds in New York is very slow. The bonds are selling at 102. The Government is the only one who can afford to buy them.

WAR NEWS

From Wilmington.—At about half past five o'clock this morning a concussion was felt here that caused every house in town to shake, jumping the doors and windows and making the sleepers awake.

The concussion yesterday morning was accompanied by the burning of a Yankee gunboat which had grounded not far from the wreck of the Bendigo, near Lookwood's Polly Beach.

Removal of Beut Butler.—A report was in circulation yesterday in the city that Beut Butler had been removed from his command of the Department of Virginia and North Carolina, and that Burnside had been appointed in his stead.

Relief to T. E. Skinner.—The friends of this gentleman will be gratified to learn that he has had a safe voyage and has probably arrived in England. When his letter was written he was within two days sail of Liverpool.

Bank Stock for Sale. A. McLEAN, 88-NR

Confederate Bonds—A New York paper says the sale of Confederate Bonds in New York is very slow. The bonds are selling at 102. The Government is the only one who can afford to buy them.

Confederate Bonds—A New York paper says the sale of Confederate Bonds in New York is very slow. The bonds are selling at 102. The Government is the only one who can afford to buy them.