TO THE SICK. DEAD THE FOLLOWING:-Rev'd John W. Potter

"For twelve years I was a great sufferer. My liver was diseased. I lost my flesh and strength, and my skin seemed changed in its color by the bils with which my system was overcharged. I became subject to frequent and violent attacks of bilious colic, every attack leaving me weaker than its predecessor. The physicians had been able to patch me up a little, but my health was in a deplorable state. I had taken patent medicines until I was tired of tham. Without energy medicines until I was tired of them. Without energy or comfort, I was barely able to go about a little. At or comfort, I was barely able to go about a little. At length I yielded to the carnest persuasion of a friend and commenced taking the HEPATIC PILLS, with no confidence in them. They acted like a charm on me. From that how I improved 1 have persevered in their use, until now, by God's blessing, I am well and hearty. I had a negro man who, as I believed, was saved from death by a dose of these pills. My Doctor's bill was annually from $100 to $200, but I have had no use for a physician since.

The ingredients of which the "EOUTHERN HEPAT-IC PILLS" are made are so couldy as to compel the proprietor to put them at present prices, which are not remunerative as when the pills sold for less.

Full directions accompany each box.

Price $8 a box. For $30 a dezen boxes will be sent repaid.

The accomplished humorist, known as Asa were handed us by a friend of the gifted captive. They will be read with pleasure by Asa's thou-sands of admirers in the South-west, and we trust, bring tears to the "love-lit eye" of his ladye love: MY LOVE AND I. My love reposes on a rosewood frame—

A "bunk" have I;

A couch of feathery down fills up the same—

Mine's straw, but dry;

She sinks to sleep at night with scarce a sigh—

With waking eyes I watch the hours creep by.

My love her daily dinner takes in state—
And so do I(?);
The richest viands flank her silver plate—
Coarse grub have I;
Pure wines she sips at ease, her thirst to slake—
I pump my drink from Eric's limpid lake!

My love has all the world at will to roam-Three acres I;
She goes abroad or quiet sits at home—
So cannot I;
Bright angels watch around her couch at night—

A yank, with loaded gur, keeps me in sight. A thousand weary miles now stretch between My love and I;
To her, this wintry night, cold, celm, serenc,
I waft a sigh,

I waft a sigh,
And hope, with all my variousness of soul,
To morrow's mail may bring me my parole! There's hope shead! We'll one day meet again, My love and I;
We'll wipe away all tears of sorrow then;
Her lovelit eye,
With all my many troubles then beguile,
And keep this wayward reb from Johnson's Isle!

Yankee Speculations on the War .- What is the Prospect of its Termination .- The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Times, writing of the probable termination of the war, says:

The administration is still endeavoring to make a physician since. I can confidently recommend them the public believe that the rebellion is on its last see a superior family medicine." campaign of next.summer. Never was there a greater delusion. To those who know the real facts, it is evident that the end of the war, so far as the conquest or the subjugation of the South is concerned, is as far off now as it was two years ago. The South may not have as many troops in the field in 1864 as they had in 1863. But, it they have only three hundred thousand, they can give abundant employment to over six hundred thousand, and if they have four hundred thousand, they can attack Washington besides. It is understood that the South will act entirely on the defensive, and will seek to draw our armies as far as possible into the interior of the country, where they expect to defeat them. And there is very little doubt that they will depart from the defensive system, so far as to make an attack upon Washington. If they do this, and act on the defensive everywhere elee, they have means and material for carrying on the war for five years more. I am satisfied from the in-formation that reaches me, that Richmond will never be abandoned so long as the Confederacy can put fifty thousand troops in the field. Sweetheurts .- And speaking of sweethearts, says the Richmond Enquirer, reminds us of the poor soldier and the pathetic missive of the sweethearts of Georgia, who thus-saith one of them -express their sympathy and commisseration for the objects of their attachment who prefer the storms of battle to the ease and enjoyments of doniestic beatitude: "Tis hard for you une to be in camp, Tis hard for you uns to fig at;

'Tis hard for you uns to lay in the damp,
And steep in the snow at night. But it's harder for we uns from you uns to part, When you uns have stolen away we uns heart."

Mr. Lincoln's last "Joke" on the Florida Massacre.—The President, on hearing of the bad generalship which, as it at first appeared, characterized the management of our forces at Olustee, in Florida, and the heavy slaughter which followed, burst out with the following exclamation: "It seems to me there are no heads down in Florida except dead heads." Of course, every one in the vicinity laughed as heartily as the President himself did when Ward Lamon sang for him, as they rode over the graves and among the burying parties after the battle of Antietam,

A Crane's Creek Moore county, N C -. The soldier checked him. "Did I not call for these dishes? And did you not charge me fifteen dollars for them? The surplus is mine, and it shall serve me for an extra ration." The soldier was right, and we recommend his example for adoption to all who lunch in saloons. The first charge compensates the keeper, without the guest leaving behind him the tragments, to be served up to the next oustomer, to be paid for a second time. - Richmond Examiner.

A negro went in a menagerie, in which was a large baboon, in a cage. He approached the cage closely, while the baboon went through several gyrations, such as nodding and shaking his head, holding out his hands to shake, &c., to the evident delight of both negro and baboon. Finally, the baboon seemed so intelligent and knowing, the negro addressed him some remarks, which the baboon only answered by a nod of the head. At length the negro was still more delighted, and broke forth with the remark, "You're right; don't open your mouth, kase if you spokes a word the white man't have a shovel in your hand in less dan a minit."

A married lady found her two sons quarrelling, and, in hopes of putting an end to their differences, uttered the following: "You young rascals, it you don't desist directly, I'll tell both your
