OFFICIAL COMMUNICATIONS.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Genet, Minister Plenipotentiary from the Republic of France, to Mr. Jefferson, Secretary of State.
New-York, November 14, 1793.
Second Year of the French Republic.

Sir,

I BELIEVE I ought to communicate to you the copy of a letter which I have just written to the Attorney General of the United States, to demand of him, that Messrs. Jay and King, the one Chief Justice, and the other a Senator of the U. States, who have published in the newspapers a libel against me, should be prosecuted at the Federal Court. I have to this moment omitted nothing to ascertain the falsity of the perfidious imposture to which these Gentlemen have not been ashamed to add their names. It is with this view I ventured to write to the President of the U. States—it is with this view that my friends have called, in many papers upon Mr. Jay and Mr. King to produce the proofs of their assertion; but the answer which you were charged to make me, Sir, being as indecisive as the silence of those gentlemen was profound, a judicial enquiry only remains for me to confound those who have traduced me, both as delegate of the French people, and as an individual. This satisfaction will be the most agreeable I could obtain, for I have only wished for the esteem of a free and virtuous people, of whatsoever country they might be; it is doubtless grievous to see at this day calumny bent upon pursuing me, and the benevolence of a people whom I revere, surprised from me, as well as that of their first magistrate. But what will be my satisfaction when truth alone shall force those who now misconstrue both my intentions and my principles, to do justice to my courage, my unshaken patriotism, and the purity of my conduct. Accept my respects.

G E N E T.

Mr. Jefferson, Secretary of State.

Copy of a letter from the Minister Plenipotentiary of the French Republic to Mr. Edmund Randolph, Attorney General of the United States.

New-York, November 14, 1793.
Second Year of the French Republic.

Sir,

MORE pressing avocations have hitherto prevented my applying to you, on the subject of a public insult to my nation and to myself, which I understand from Gentlemen of the law here you are the person officially to be made acquainted with. I enclose you, Sir, a newspaper printed in New-York, in which the Chief Justice of the United States, Mr. Jay, and a Senator of the United States, Mr. King, have certified to the public, as a declaration of mine, what is utterly and totally false. To you Sir, who are doubtless acquainted with the contemptible arts practised by parties to hurt the characters supposed to obstruct their views, it is needless to enlarge upon the injury this certificate has done the cause of my country in the opinion of this; or the personal dilemma into which it has, as was intended, plunged myself. The lie having effected its purpose, I can unfortunately for justice but too slowly follow it with detection. It is, however, a duty I owe my own official character, to procure a public prosecution of a calumny, which nothing but their public situations who are the authors of it, induces me to think more of than of the rest of the low newspaper abuse to which I have been so much accustomed.

As you are, as I am informed, from your official situation, the prosecutor of outrages committed by citizens of the United States, either against foreign nations or their representatives to the United States, I am satisfied that it is sufficient for me to acquaint you of the scandalous falsity of the charge made against me, to induce you to take such steps, at the ensuing Federal Court, as the honor of your own country, as well as of mine, exact upon such an occasion.—I shall attend you for this purpose at any time and place you point out, and desire to be favored with your answer, when and where that must be.

Accept my respect.

G E N E T.

Edmund Randolph, Attorney-General of the United States of America.

Answer of Mr. Randolph, Attorney-General of the United States, to Mr. Genet, Minister Plenipotentiary of the French Republic.

Germantown, Nov. 19, 1793.

SIR,

I this moment received the letter which you did me the honor of writing to me on the 14th inst. Understanding that you propose to return to Philadelphia shortly, and conceiving, from this circumstance, that it will be the most convenient place for yourself, I shall be ready to have a personal interview with you there, on the subject of the letter, whenever you may think proper to signify to me the time which will best suit you.

I have the honor, &c.

EDM. RANDOLPH.

The last intelligence from France advise, that the whole Republic was in a state of the most active warlike movements and preparations—all the male citizens, from 16 to 45 years of age, being required to bear arms, and to hold themselves in constant readiness to march.—All stores, provisions, &c. were held at the service of the public, the owners to receive such compensation therefor, as may be awarded by referees. That all the artizans in metal and wood, were employed in manufacture of wood and warlike implements. In the manufactory at Paris, 25,000 musquets, and 30 pieces of cannon, were manufactured every month; and the useless bells in the churches melted down to supply the forges.
