JOHN BLAKELY, D. M.
Wilmington, March 14.

THE subscriber intends to leave the state, for a short time, in April next; and desires all persons indebted to him to settle their respective accounts and pay the balance that may be due him before that day: as he will otherwise be compelled to bring immediate suits against them, indiscriminately. Those who may have claims upon him will receive payment on application.

Subscription for a Publication of
THE PRIVATE ACTS of the
GENERAL ASSEMBLY,
OF
NORTH-CAROLINA.

THE publication of a Revision of the public laws of this state, by Judge Iredell, having seemingly superceded the necessity of preserving the pamphlets published at the rise of each session of the Legislature, these are now looked upon as useless lumber, and in a few years will probably cease to be extant. It is in them alone (if the records of the Secretary's Office are excepted) that are contained a number of Acts, which tho' called private, are of momentous utility to many of the inhabitants of this state, and may eventually become so to all of them. These were not included in the Judge's revision; and the difficulty of finding a number of them is already extreme, and without a republication, will soon ripen into an absolute impracticability.

Under these impressions, F. X. Martin has undertaken to collect and reprint them and will furnish a well bound copy of his collection to any gentleman who may wish to honor the undertaking with his patronage.

The subscription is 40s.—From such persons, as are particularly known to him, or have encouraged his former undertakings by subscribing either to his Justice, Statutes or Gazette, he will expect no advance money. A wish to provide against deception imposes on him the necessity of requiring a small earnest from all others, to wit: ten shillings.

Any person who will subscribe and become accountable for six copies will be entitled to the seventh gratis.

The expediency of the undertaker, knowing what number of copies will be wanted, renders it necessary that application should be made early.

The gentlemen who superintend a press or a Post Office in this state are desired to afford this aid to the undertaking.

Application by post (postage paid) or otherwise will be thankfully attended to.

As this Collection will contain all the Town Acts, the Commissioners of the different towns in this State are solicited to consider of the propriety of procuring copies for their respective offices.

BOOK BINDING.

Of any size, ruled or unruled, made at the Printing-Office.

TEN DOLLARS REWARD.

RUN away from the subscriber, on the 19th of September last, a negro woman named ROSE, about 30 years old, stout built, very black, has a tear over her right eye bone, a flesh mole on one of her ears, near as large as a pea; it is probable she is lurking about the town of Newbern, or over trent. Whoever secures said negro in Newbern jail, or bring her to the subscriber, shall receive the above reward, with all expenses paid.

March 29.

BENJAMIN GARROT.

ALL those indebted to the subscribers, are requested to make payment, before the first day of May next, or at least to settle there accounts, as no further indulgence will be given them, that will not take notice of this advertisement; those who we are indebted to, are requested to call on us, and receive payment.

March 29.

MANNING & BYRNE.

FOUR POUNDS REWARD.

RAN away from on board of the schooner Endeavour, now lying in the road of Newbern, a mulatto fellow named JOE, about 25 years of age, five feet eight inches high, remarkably broad shouldered.

He was brought up to the sea business and speaks the French, Dutch, Spanish and English languages.

I suppose he is gone towards Washington, with a white sailor who left the vessel about the same time that he did, and who will probably pass for his master.

Whoever will deliver him to me or to Major Tagert, in my absence, will receive the above reward.

PHILADELPHIA, March 4.

Lisbon, December 17, 1793

Mr. WILLIAM BELL,

SIR,

WE have just received the inclosed letter, by a Portuguese frigate Itis, we presume, from Captain M^rShane, who had the misfortune of being captured near the mouth of the straits, by an Algerine cruiser, and carried a slave into Algiers. We feel very much for him (having had the pleasure of knowing him here in the ship Mary-Ann, owned by Messrs Stewart and Barr, of Philadelphia), and all the Americans who have fallen victims to the detested rovers, and it will give us pleasure to alleviate their unfortunate situation.

"We are sorry to inform you, that on the 5th of November, the date of Captain M^rShane's letter, there were 120 or 130 poor Americans in slavery; and this is not the worst, the piratical beings came out again into the Atlantic the 29th ult. in search of more plunder, and we fear they will do further mischief. Their cruising now is contrary to their old system of retiring from the ocean in November, and coming out in April; but they never did much harm to the Portuguese, for since our residence in this city (half a century), they captured but three brigs, one ship, and three or four schooners, and carried them into Algiers. We hope the United States will soon establish a force to keep those pirates from ever entering the Atlantic again."

"We suppose you have been informed that this Court and Spain grant copyrights to your flag, as well as those of the Hans-Towns. Our letters from Gibraltar, dated the 25th ult, advise that a Portuguese frigate had taken under her protection five Americans, to see them the westward, cut of danger."

"This opportunity, of Captain Stafford, to Baltimore, not allowing us time to enlarge, we remain, &c."

JCHN BULKELEY and SON.

Extracts from Captain John M^rShane's letters, dated at Algiers, the 2d, 3d, 5th, and 13th of November, 1793, to his owner in this city.

"DEAR SIR,

"I have to inform you that on the 30th of August, we were boarded by the Culloden, an English 74, who pressed the chief mate (Andrew Tullock) and three of our men (Edward Kerr and William Brown, the other's name I have forgot) being Englishmen, and sent us one man and two boys instead of them. The man's name is Mott, and has a family in Norfolk, Virginia; the boys name are Lurgis and Smith, apprentices to Captain Conyngham, of the same pace, who with their friends, to know where they are. We had light winds and calms with 25 days easterly winds on the coast, which was the cause of our long passage. After having run the gauntlet with two frigates, on the 18th of October, about five leagues from Gibraltar, we were boarded,
