Ringwood, N. C., Nov. 24, 1873. Editor Tribune.—I have seen somewhere, an article written on the subject of "Thats not Right" and some of the suggestions struck me as being of considerable interest.

When travelling in a stage-coach (says the writer) I saw a man dressed a gentleman and ready to shoot any other who should deny that he is so, puffing tobacco smoke into that air which his fellow passengers have to breathe, regardless of the discomfort he causes them; or placing his feet upon the seat they occupy.

How much more is this true of him who as a husband, lays aside the kindness and courtesy by which as a lover he had won his bride! In many, many, a house, does the spectacle of such altered conduct wring from me a deep ejaculation, "Thats not right."

When I see a tobacco chewer spit upon a clean floor or carpet, when a window or fire place is in a few feet of him, it strikes me "Thats not right." When a man refuses to pay the printer for his paper, and the Doctor who rides through heat and cold, sun-hine and storm to administer to him, every honest man and his conscience will be forever telling him in unmistakable language, "Thats not right."

To WASH BLACK AND WHITE DRESSES.—Take half a pound of the best yellow soap, and slowly dissolve it in hot water about a quart, so that it forms a jelly.

Prayer is the peace of our spirit; the stillness of our thoughts; the evenness of recollection; the seat of meditation; the rest of cares and the calm of our temper.

Religion is becoming as easy to wear as an ancient well ventilated shoe, and is to be kicked into one corner when it is in anybody's way.

An enterprising phrenologist once wrote to the late Charles Dickens, asking leave to make an examination of his cranium. Dickens replied, "Dear Sir—At this time I require the use of my skull, but as soon as it shall be at leisure, I will willingly place it at your disposal."

THE TRIBUNE. THURSDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1873.

We take the following from the Petersburg Index & Appeal. "An old Confederato" evidently Gen. Jubal A. Early, writes to the Lynchburg Virginian, inquiring what the "boys in grey" have to do with the troubles of the United States with Cuba and arguing that our people should have nothing to do with the matter.

What has the "nation," whose name we are called upon to vindicate, done to protect our rights and our liberties, that we should be in such a hurry to see that the Congress, at whose hands we have had nothing but wrong and indignity, should bring this Cuban question to a close at once? No, sir; if the fair name of this nation is to be vindicated, let the work be begun at home by undoing the many wrongs inflicted upon the people of the South.

WHY IS NATIONAL BANK CURRENCY LIKE AN UMBRELLA? So asked a Boston Journal of its readers, and these are the answers: Practical Man: It aint like it! Nice Young Man: Because you can make a spread with it.

UPON THIS PLEA WE ASK YOU TO PAY THE PRINTER.—Printers are most patient and faithful toilers, and, therefore, we do not wish to be continually "blowing" about their hard, hard lots; nor do we at all mean this little article as a dun—either directly or indirectly.

How quiet the composers are, and yet how fast they pick up the type! There is a sort of nervous stillness in these men, and it grates harshly on their feelings to have this stillness broken.
