MR. DORTCH AND THE "SALE. We present to the readers of the Post to day the very admirable argument of Hon. Wm. T. Dortch, of Goldsboro, against the calling of the legislature in extra session, and in opposition to the apparent purpose of the Democratic party leaders to sacrifice the state and the interests in the Western North Carolina Railroad.

The Post never would make any work of internal improvement a party matter, and it will not do so new, but with Governor Jarvis, his official family at Raleigh, and his Democratic Congressional advisers at Washington, this business is simply and purely a purty question. Mr. Dertch, however, Democrat. With acceptable candidoes not so view it, and, perhaps the most prenounced Democrat of them all, looks at the subject as one of North Carolina interest.

We need not review Mr. Dortch's argument, his remarks are of ample force and scope. We invite an attentive perusal and study of the facts he h: s set forth in his very conclusive ar-

We see no reason why the state should be in haste to sell this public work, unless the approach of the great campaign renders it necessary for the Democratic party to "bave a clear dec's for action," as the Oxford Torchlight, one of their organs, put it. We have observed that they always want something for every campaign, and we well remember that in 1875 they took on this deck-load of the Western North Carolina Railroad to put their convention measure through, and actually seduced western Republicans of the legislature to vote for the call in March of that year, that through altering the Constitution they might give better state aid to the completion of the road. In like manner they obtained votes for ratifi cation of the Constitutional Amendments in 1876.

The ugly look of this Best proposition is its great haste. Best can't wait till January next and let people have that time to think of it. He even threatens that if his proposition isn't attended to at once, he will go into some other speculation, and North Carolina will lose the benefit of making a present of a couple of millions to him ic return for his building their road. mitigated villain and murderer to a All the most difficult and expensive high and responsible office was a grave part of the road has already been built. Why did not Best come along earlier sertion and twenty-five cents per lin before the tunnels were all bored, and the broad jaws of the chasms spanned Eight (8) lines, Nonpareil type, con- by those splendid and expensive stone

We began to fear at one part of the Governor's jeremiade that he would sell out the Capitol, Penitentiary, Asy-Blind School, and all the swamp lands did not burry up and accept Best's preposition.

SHERWAN AND THE DEBT.

One of the most cherished ideas of the Democrats were that our national debt should be treated as is that of England-as a debt never to be paid. The Republican party has always said, "Let us pay that debt as soon as we can. It is sound financial and economical policy to do so." Senator John Sherman devised the plan, and Secretary Sherman has carried it out. Under his skillful guidance the most marvelous reduction of a great public debt the perforation should be completed that the world has ever known, goes

The wisdom of such a policy is plain, By paying our debt our credit is en hanced. By this policy Secretary Sherman has been able to save millions of dollars to the people in the rate of interest alone. He has reduced our great national debt so much that the 2 that stood as the left hand figure, when naming the total, has been changed to having bored the longest tunnel in the all. When this magnificent reduction was announced the Democratic press commenceed a general chorus of sneers and lies.

There is only one thing he could possibly do that would please the Democratic party, and that is, to die! But, he will not do that. He will live to take a high official part in the great Democratic wake next autumn. The Blaine men now circulate stories to the effect that their candidate would divide the Obio delegation with Mr. Sherman, Said an Ohio Member of Congress, in will certainly have the entire vote of the state so long as there is any chance of his nomination." Those who underate Mr. Sherman's gower make a great mistake.

POLITICAL.

The Republicans of Indiana are working vigorously, Hon. John C. New is to be chairman of the state com-

The Congressional nominating conventions will be held mostly in June. The delegation in Congress now consists of six Republicans, six Democrats, and one (De La Matyr) Greenbackdates, the Republicans, in the next election, can easily carry seven districts, and perhaps eight. The present apportionment was made by the Democrats, with the expectation of aid from the Nationals. But in this they are probably destined to disappointment. The contest for the Republican nomnation for Governor is unusually spirted. Gen. Morton C. Hunter has hitherto been decidedly in the lead, but during the past few days General Streight, of Indianapolis, and General Shackeiford, of Evansville, have gained rapidly in strength.

The Third Ferm boom has run into a hole in the ground. The syndicate composed of Penasylvania, New York Indiana and Illingis has collapsed. First, Grant had only 20 majority in Bennsylvania, and would not have got that except for Don Cameron's dictation. Then New York, at Utica, with Senator Conkling sitting right there appealingly, only gave 34 majority for the Third Term, and it would have been veted down if Conkling had stayed in Washington. The Illinois convention met on the same day as the New York, and seeing that the Third Term had no strength, postponed action to the 19.h of May. Indiana broke away from the Third Term.

There is no doubt but the Third Term infatuation is growing weaker and weaker every day. In the very states selected to begin the fight in the nominal success was so miserably trevial that no enthusiasm was raised.

The butcher McNeil was almost unanimously rejected by the Senate as Marshal of the Eastern District of Missouri, The nomination of such an unalmost any of the other candidates that souri, The nomination of such an unand inexcusable insult to the American

It is difficult to tell this filthy did piece of property, which Mr. Dortch and poisonous composition from good foretells will in twenty years be able butter. But the effect on health of from its surplus earnings to earn enough using it is terrible, and it is our opinion that the men who sell the vile compound ought to be hung at the gallows. This vile and dirty compound of dirty tallow scraps is made into such a perlum for the Insane, Deaf, Dumb and feet imitation of cow's butter, that many people buy it and eat poison without for what he could get, if the legislature knowing it. No punishment is too severe for the scoundrels who knowingly engage in this villamous traffic which is planting the seeds of disease in the human race merely for lucre.

THE ST. GOTHARD TUNKEL. A dispatch from Berne, Switzerland, announces that the work of piercing Mount St. Gothard was satisfactorily completed at 9 o'clock vesterday morning, amid great rejoicing. The contract for the construction of the St. Gothard Tunnel was awarded to M. Louis Favre, of Geneva, on Aug. 7, 1872. It was one of the conditions of the contract that within eight years from that date, with a large premium in case of the completion of the work in a shorter time, and with a not less heavy penalty in case of delay. It will be seen, therefore, that the contractor has kept inside of his limit by some months. Despite difficulties, which were sometimes serious, and always great consumers of time, M. Favre has the satisfaction of world by over a mile in less time by over five years than was required to bore the Mount Cenis tunnel, now the second greatest work of the kind. This rapid achievement is a triumph for the improved drilling machinery of modern invention which has been employed upon the St. Gothard Tunnel from the beginning. Comparison of the three largest tunnels shows that the Mount Cenis, length eight miles, less a few yards, cost $15,000,000, was constructed in the 13 years from 1857 to 1870; the Hoosac Tunnel, length, 43 miles, cost $13,000,000, was finished in 11 years from the time the work was properly begun; and the St. Gothard, length 9 miles, has been bored in less than seven an interview last week, "Mr. Sherman wears and a half. The contract prices sum up to a total estimated cost of $9,-700,000. This amount was to cover al expenses, whether direct or accessory, and all risks and contingencies from whatever cause arising. If this part of the contract is held to, the St. Gothard will be much the cheapest of the three tunnels in cost of construction, in addition to its other and sufficient dis-

The Ashville Journal enquires "who tor Governor?" and adds:

We want to make a suggestion and see how many of the Republican papers in North Carolina will endorse it. Say for Governor, Judge Buxton, for ticket, we can carry North Carolina with good men for the rest of the places. We would also suggest W. F. Craigg of David A. Jenkins for Treasurer. On the subject of the sale of the Western North Carolina Railroad on the basis of the Best proposition, the Journal says to the Republican members of the legislature;

Examine well the papers and references that Governor Jarvis has as to the ability of the syndicate who propose buying the W. N. C. R. R., and it you believe the security good, and that the road will be built, don't rest until you cast your vote for the sale.

We want the road, and any sacrifice that the state might make on what the road has actually cost it, would be a 17,022 matter of nothing to our people if the road can be built. Then again, pass an act that before anybody could enjoin the progress of the work that the person so enjoining should give a bond to fix it that no man outside of North Carolina could get hold of any shadow of a claim against the road. There is patriotism enough in the breast of every Republican member to throw all the safe guards around so as to insure the progress of the work. We say too, that here are many Democratic members who will not favor the sale, but we warn you to shun them, and work for the sale of the read, if you believe it will Eyden. be completed, and we have some assurance that it will be.
