SPEECHES BY LAMAR DAWES - LOAR -GEORGE-IIILL-LCGAN-BUTLER -YOORHEES AND MAHONE.

On Friday Mr. Lamar made a lengthy speech on the question of electing officers of the Senate, and was followed by Mr. Hoar, Dawes, George of Mississippi, Hill, Logan, Butler, Call and Maxey.

At this point of the debate Voorhees, the "tall sycamore of the Wabash" MINGTON POST is $1 00 per year; read an extract from the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph, which spoke of Senator Mahor e as a "renegade Democrat," and "repudiationist." This brought Mahone to his feet, asking whether this was Voorhees' language. Mr. Voorbees replied that he sent it of Mr. Hoar.

Mr. Hoar made an explanation which ought to have been satisfactory to Mahone, but the latter proceeded violently raying, "I shall select my own course in this matter."

Mr. Vcorhees -defiautly-Select me whenever you please. Mr. Mahone-resolutely-I select

Mr. Voorhees- contemptuously -

Well, select me now.

Mr. Mahone-persisting in his point - I have called upon you in this house to say whether or not-

Before he had time to finish the sentence, Mr. Voorbees, anticipating it, and throwing off self-restraint, which he had observed up to this point, said (passionately) then I endorse every single word which was said in that artic'e.

Mr. Mahone (breaking in)-Then I say that the reference which you make to me are such as no honorable or brave man would make, and I decounce you as such here.

The reporter gives the sentonce as t was attered. Mr. Voorbecs That is a bare question of here and hereafter. Mr. Mahone-The "hercafter" come as soon as you want it to. Mr. Voorbees-I will know exactly how to most it. I endorse every word said in that article. I enforse the term "renegade Democrat." I endorse everything clse in it that may be construed to reflect on the course of the Senator from Virginia, and without his taking time to put the words upon me. He can sack his redress. There is no use in making any mistake about this matter at all. I heard the Sepator from Virgicia stand here and shout out "that thing had to stop!" Suppose it don't? Suppose it don't? I know it won'twith me by your dictation. That is cheap-very cheap, (alluding to Mahone's expression.)

Mr. Mahone-It is very cheap, Mr. President, to deal in such bravado as the gentleman from Illinois (meaning Indiana) does.

Mr. Voorhees (who was walking over to his own chair when Mabone's last remark was made, turned around and said) -- The gentleman alludes to me as the Senator from Illinois. I suppose he will take no exception, therefore, if I allude to him as the Senator from

Mr. Mahone (continuing and completing his sentence)-But when the gentleman says that he endorses the statement of that newspaper article I undertake to characterize it here as such that no brave or honorable man would make in this chamber. Now let him take that with him and wear it.

Some Democratic Senators here suggested to Mr. Voorhees to say no more; but not heeding the advice, Mr. Voorhees retorted, in a somewhat oracular manner-The question about taking and wearing things depends a good deal every blade of grass just as it appeared upon "here and hereafter."

This ended the controversy in the Senate chamber, and then, on motion of Mr. Dawes, the Senate at 7:15 ad- neighborhood. journed until Monday.

It is a great inconvenience to persons like ourselves, who only appear to the world with our hebdomadal sheet, instead of shooting forth hourly like some of our neighbors, that the affairs of the world don't close up, at precisely 12 M. on Saturday night. THE ROMANCE OF NIH: LISM.

How the Czar's Death was Planned. St. PETERSBURG, March 30,-M. Pobedonscheff, who it was announced just after the assassination of the Czar, would play a prominent part in public affairs, is seriously ill.

The Minister of Justice is overwhelmed with applications for admission to the trial of the Nihilists.

All five of the prisoners will be charged with belonging to a secret society for subverting the existing order of things and with complicity in the assassination of the Emperor.

Public curiosity centres in the female prisoner, Sophie Picoffsky, whose aristocratic connections, social position and superior education, excite general to the clerk to read at the suggestion wonder. She is the daughter of a former provincial Governor, and the niece of an officer of high rank in the army. According to the confessions of Picoffsky and Jelaboff they both knew, and the time and place. Their fellow conspirators in London and elsewhere only knew in a general way that another attempt would be made.

Russakoff was only informed of what was required of him on the day of the entire responsibility for the memoranmurder. Jelaboll, the chief director in the matter, having been arrested two days before, l'ieoffsky became the guiding spirit, and sent Russakoff and the other murderers with the stations assigned them. Russakoff protests that he was not in any way admitted to the councils of the conspirators, but was merely a fellow worker. He asserts that the Nihilists latterly have had no money, that there was considerable disagreement among them and they would probably have dispersed had their last attempt failed.

Russakoff scems to be a Nihilist pure and simple, having no project or desire beyond the destruction of the existing order of things. Picoffsky and Jelaknoff avow that the object of their operations was to terrorize the country, disarrange the machinery of the goveroment, and bring about, if possible. a socialistic republic atter the pattern of the Paris Commune. THE FIRE.-We publish below the report of the burning of Mr. Canaday's residence, clipped from the Wilmington Star, which is correct, except that Mr. C. finds that his loss in furniture books, &c., is upwards of $2,600.

Mr. Canaday was at his office in the Custom] House at the time. At ation of dinner, and during her absence Miss Bell, her sister who was upstairs, detected the odor of something burning, and hurrying down stairs, called Mrs. Canaday and informed her of the fact. Mrs. C. immediately rushed into the house, when she discovered considerable smoke in the sitting room and the parlor beyond full of it. She called a colored boy and sent him after Mr. Canaday, In the meantime every effort was made by those present-nearly all females-to extinguish the flames and with proper facilities and the requisite assistance this could have been done. As it was, they were kept pretty well under control for some considerble time, an evidence of which is found in the fact that the colored boy ran all the way to the Custom House and delivered his startling message, while Mr. Canaday ran all the way home, and was | ton, on the Fourth Thursday of March, 1881, there in time to save a small portion of pursuant to an Act of the General Assemhis furniture. The fire originated somewhere in the ceiling between the parlor and sitting room, or in the china closet between the two rooms, and in immediate proximity to the chimber, and is believed to have been caused by a flaw in the latter, though Mrs. Canaday thinks it must have been the work of an incendiary."
