MERRY CHRISTMAS.

We wish our patrons, one and all, rich and poor, white and colored, all folks, young folks and little folks, a very happy, merry Christmas. Enjoy them while you can. "Eat, drink and be merry." May you live long and prosper.

Ballot boxes in which each ballot was passed around a glass cylinder by means of a crank, which also rang a bell and recorded the vote, were used in the recent Boston municipal election.

What is needed in Massachusetts is not ingenious glass ballot boxes, but an enfranchising of 120,000 "poor white trash," who are not allowed to get near enough to a voting precinct to see the "cylinder" as it turns "by means of a crank." More liberty and less law as to elections is in order in the "Bay State."—Wilmington Star.

The good people of Massachusetts might follow the advice of the Star and enfranchise the "poor white trash" as the Star is pleased to call them, and they follow the style of the Star's party in North Carolina, and bulldoze and prevent all from voting except those who vote to suit them. We have yet to see the article in the Star condemning the action of the pollholders at the last election, in preventing a thousand citizens from voting in this city. Mr. Kingsbury, try and get the beam out of your own eye before you attempt to take the mote out of the eye of another.

The "Star" undertakes to give the contents of the Wilmington Custom House at this place, and proceeds to publish a lot of figures, but does give the facts. There is no excuse for such blunders; as the reporter of the "Star" is in the Custom House here every day and could have obtained from the payroll the exact figures. But, then, Kingsbury say not want the truth in this case—it would not have suited his purpose. The figures are at least 20 per cent too much, and the collections will run up to a hundred thousand dollars this year.

BEAUFORT ITEM OF INTEREST.—We learn from a friend writing us from Beaufort, that our young friend, Mr. Thomas D. Duncan and Miss Laura Nelson were married at the residence of the bride's mother, and that after the marriage Mr. D. took his bride home to his own splendidly located and handsomely furnished residence, and the friends of the bridal pair enjoyed a royal good time. We wish them a long and happy life. May no cloud ever cross their paths to make it otherwise.

Ally, or Alfred, or A. M., of Cal. A. M., or we might say the Honorable member of Congress, Alfred M. Washburn, has been on a visit to Beaufort duck shooting. Well, we have heard it called by all sorts of names, "mending fences," or "looking after legal business," but we confess this is the first time we ever heard it called "duck shooting." And so Alfred attends the Fair at Fayetteville and Clinton, shoots deer in Duplin and Onslow, takes a fish in Brunswick, but when he gets to old Carteret he calls it duck shooting. We are like brother Jones, you may call it what you please, but we like the old name the best, and should we ever go out making a quiet canvass for the nomination for Congress we shall certainly not call it duck shooting. Alfred, my boy, Stedman, Adams, McLean, McLoe, Short, Troy, Scott, of Onslow, Richardson, McCleary, nor even Shackelford will be fooled by your new fangled name for Congressional honors. All these men are candidates, and all except Shackelford, will make credible candidates for the Democratic party. If you are ashamed of being a candidate, and you are calling it duck shooting, at that account, we confess you have one redeeming quality left, but that is the only one.

The next we hear of Ally he will be down catching clams with McClammy on old Topwell Sound, and he will probably go from there to Moore county for recreation. We can tell you, Mr. Stedman has both eyes cut, and is well posted as to your whereabouts. If you say as we will keep everybody informed of your Gola and travels, of course we do not desire to disclose you, and would like your return concerning the matter before setting.

AND STILL THEY COME.

We have received one hundred new subscribers during the past week. What paper is there in this state that can beat that.

Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad.

We learn that the commissioners appointed by the state have sold the road to Dr. Canedo and his backers, with a contract that he shall finish the road from Wilmington to Mount Airy within the next three years. We are glad to hear that we are to have another trunk line west, and if the parties are all they are represented to be, we may expect Wilmington will be very greatly benefited by the sale.

CUTTING WILMINGTON OFF.

And the railroad authorities are contemplating running a railroad across from Wilson N. C., to Florence, S. C., leaving Wilmington out in the cold. And this is what the Star, a paper published and supported by the merchants of Wilmington, is pleased to call the "march of progress." This city cannot stand many such grand marches.—We want to hold up the city, and the way to do it is to guard its interests, which the newspapers published here are expected to do.

Hon. David A. Jenkins in a New Role.

This gentleman, is in Washington, and we learn from the telegrams that he has been visiting gambling places, and in his small operations he has lost the sum of $5,000. We are very much surprised at this, as we never knew the Honorable Dave was in the habit of such questionable conduct—$5,000 during one sitting is a very handsome little amount to lose, and we do not think the gentleman can stand such hands many times; the reputation that a man makes is not very enviable either, and we should doubt the report if the information was not direct from Mr. Jenkins himself, by telegraph to his bankers to stop the payment of the checks, and give it as an exact: that they were given for a debt contracted at cards.—High toned gentlemen, of the late, thank God departed era, regarded gambling debts as "debts of honor."

M. W. Hiburn of Brunswick county, was in the city on Wednesday last and says there is a portion of Brunswick county that has not had a school since 1841. In No. 9, Town Creek township, there has only been three free schools in twelve years; and a portion of lower Northwest was annexed to his school district, and they have not had the benefit of a school, to his knowledge, since previous to the late war. He complains that the school matters are badly managed, and he wishes to live until the next election for the purpose of aiding in the retiring of the present Bourbon Democratic state government, whom he says are entirely responsible for the same. And he says there are a very large number of others who have been, like himself, Democrats, who will join him in this retiring process.

Mr. Hiburn has a very active Democratic, and labored for his party faithfully, but he says they have become too corrupt for him or any other liberal minded and honest Democrat to support; therefore he will stand, in future by the anti-Bourbons, and hundreds of his neighbors will do likewise.

Y. Q. Johnson, the able and accomplished Superintendent of the C. C. Railroad, is a good man and a splendid officer. It is often asked what the Y. Q. stands for in his name. We never thought to tell the many interested and anxious persons, but we will now impart to them a small piece of secret history. Should their business or pleasure call them up the C. C. Road on the night train, we feel certain they will discover the full name of Col. Johnson to be Very Quick Johnson. The Colonel does not like for anyone to know his full christian name, and we would not for the world let him know that we have told it, therefore we enjoin secrecy on all our readers.

The headquarters of the river and harbor improvements, we understand will be removed to this city soon.—Unless the conduct of the resident engineer is reformed very greatly, our city will not be honored very highly by the change. We want immigration, but not on the tainted Bacon or...

C. F. & Y. V. R. R.—Dr. Canedo, of the New York and Southern Railway and Telegraph Construction Company, has become the purchaser of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley R. R., which means that Wilmington is to be connected, at an early day, with a line of railway direct to the Ohio river.

Colonel S. L. Fremont, who has been in charge of the government work at Savannah, Ga., for the past four months, is now in the city.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

WADESBORO, N. C., Dec. 22, 1881. The Carolina Fair was opened here on the 20th, and has been going on for the past three days, 20th, 21st and 22d. This is the first annual fair of the association, and the first ever attempted to be held in this section of North Carolina by the colored people, but they have astonished themselves and everybody else, in the grand success they have met with. The exhibition has been fine and the attendance good, notwithstanding the bad weather.

The first days' proceedings were the completion of the arrangements, and placing the articles in proper condition for the exhibition. The address of welcome was made by Rev. L. D. Twine, of Monroe, and Rev. E. G. Jones, of Lexington.

A committee was appointed, consisting of A. W. Covington, J. H. Holloway, W. Howard, Jno H. Whiteman, and Rev. G. E. Jones, to wait on Judge R. T. Bennett and Hon. O. H. Dockery, and request them to address the association.

SECOND DAY.
Prof. N. W. Harlee of Lexington, delivered the annual address, and it was very fine, and highly spoken of by all. Colonel C. R. Jones, of the Charlotte "Observer," being present was called on and addressed the people in an exceedingly appropriate manner. One would have thought the whole Democratic party had become Republicans. Colonel O. H. Dockery, the war horse of the upper Cape Fear, was introduced and spoke for an hour—one of the best speeches of his life, and he was highly applauded throughout. No man stands better with the masses of the people than Dockery of Rockingham.

THIRD DAY.
Hon. R. T. Bennett was the orator of the day. He talked to his people in that happy manner that only Judge Pennett can command.

Hon. W. P. Canaday was next called for, when Colonel O. H. Dockery arose and read a telegram, just received by Jno. H. Whiteman, Esq., from Mr. Canaday, stating that public duty required his attention elsewhere, and tendering to the association his congratulations for the success the association had met with, and best wishes for their future prosperity.

Hon. Jno H. Williamson, Secretary of the Raleigh Fair, made a splendid speech. Time is too short to undertake to give you a detailed account of the whole fair; but I will state that the display of farm products, such as corn, potatoes, peas, oats, hay, fodder, turkeys and cotton, as well as the live stock, horses, cows, sheep, hogs and dogs, and specimens of wood, rock and ores, were all very fine.

The ladies department was also praiseworthy. Hand-work, such as quilts, counterpanes, tidies, lamp mats and crochet articles of all kinds. The cakes, bread, jellies, pickles, and sweetmeats showed fine accomplishments in the kitchen line.

Captain Warren C. Coleman of Concord, N. C., was on hand with his fine team—the best in the state—and great praise is due to Mr. Coleman for the interest he takes in these associations. He believes in doing everything in his power to make them a success. He made 125 entries for exhibition, and like his team, everything brought by him was of the very finest quality, which would have done credit to any man in any state.

The following gentlemen constituted the managing committee of the fair:—Rev. G. E. Jones, chairman; Messrs A. W. Covington, W. C. Coleman, J. S. Lewis, L. D. Lewis, J. S. Ingram and John H. Whiteman.

I will write more fully concerning the prizes for your next. The Post is highly thought of in this section of the state. Your course in fighting for the rights of the colored people to hold office, as well as vote will never be forgotten by the colored people of North Carolina.

ONE OF THEM.
Marriage licenses issued during the past week by the Register of Deeds: Jas. F. Hart and Miss Mary L. Wicker; Jas. J. Farrow and Miss Melvina Williams; Randall Porter and Miss Dunmore; Antony Ryan and Miss Jennette Sampson; Geo. Macka and Miss Rebecca Shepard; Kelly Kelly and Miss Polly Hanson; Alexander Brown and Miss Hester Gans; Clayborn Robinson and Miss Harriet Neal; Aaron Dixon and Miss Polly M. Williams; Lewis Hunter and Miss Mary Vernon; Henry Robinson and Miss Rebecca Simmons.

Ex-Senator Hannibal Hamlin, of Maine, new Minister to Spain, presented his credentials to King Alfonso on the 20th. Mr. Fairbanks presented his letter of recall, and left at once for home.

Office drinkers should read the advertisement in another column headed "Good Ogle."

BOARDS OF TRADE.

Meeting on "Change—Resolutions in Reference to the Death of Henry Nutt, Esq., &c."
A joint meeting of the members of the Chamber of Commerce and Produce Exchange, was held at the rooms of the latter on Monday afternoon last, the first Vice President of the Chamber, Mr. E. Peschan, called the name to order and announced that it had been called to take some action in reference to the loss that had been sustained in the death of Henry Nutt, Esq., an honorary member of the Chamber.

Mr. Alex. Sprunt, British Vice Consul, moved that a committee of three be appointed to draft suitable resolutions, and the chair appointed Messrs. Alex. Sprunt, C. H. Robbison and Thos. Evans said committee.

The committee retired, and after a short absence, returned and reported as follows:

WHEREAS, This Chamber having heard with the deepest regret of the demise, yesterday, of our highly esteemed fellow-member and fellow-citizen, Henry Nutt, Esq., desires to pass the following resolutions:

Resolved, That in the death of Henry Nutt we have mourned the loss of one of the most prominent, experienced, energetic and wise members of our Chamber and of this community, who commanded our highest esteem during the period of more than half a century.

Resolved, That we regard the death of Mr. Nutt as a great loss to our commercial interests and public improvements, in which he took the warmest interest and perseveringly promoted.

Resolved, That whilst bowing to the will of the Most High, we shall ever cherish his memory, as one whose death we shall long deplore; whilst we seek to follow his example as a worthy, high-toned citizen and Christian gentleman.

Resolved, That his bereaved family have our sincere sympathy and condolence under this great affliction; that a special record of Mr. Nutt's death be made by the Secretary in our minute book, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family.

It was further resolved that the members of both bodies attend the funeral in a body.

IN MEMORIAM
Miss Sarah B. Hill, who died at Shaw University, Raleigh, N. C., on Saturday night, Dec. 17th, 1881, was a young lady of great promise. She was entering upon her fourth year in school at this institution of learning. By diligence in study she had made rapid progress, and had exhibited such ability that during the last session she was appointed to the position of assistant teacher, and her class at the spring examination gave evidence of having been well taught, and that she possessed first-class qualification as a teacher. During the present term she was re-appointed to her former position, and in addition taught a class in instrumental music. She was a young lady beloved by all her teachers and associates in school, and her name will long be remembered, and her early death mourned, by all who knew her.

For some time before she was stricken with fever her health had not been good, but it was hoped that with the return of cooler weather that she would improve in strength, but Providence had ordered otherwise. About the 20th of November she was taken with the fever, and although at first of a mild type, yet it finally developed into typhoid pneumonia. She was fully conscious of the fatal character of her disease, and was able at times to converse with her friends. It is but just to her memory, for the writer to bear testimony to her many admirable qualities, to one, who among the hundreds of young ladies who have pursued their studies under his direction, has been surpassed by none, giving rich promise of a life of great usefulness, and if she had continued her studies as it proposed, in two years she without doubt would have received appointment as a regular teacher in her Alma Mater.

In the prayer meeting her voice was often heard, and she lived an exemplary Christian life. In the times of revival she labored with great zeal, and was listened to with interest and profit. Her strong faith and trust was beautifully illustrated in the last days of her life. She spoke many words of comfort to her mother and friends, and was ready and willing to die. Her trust and hope was in her Redeemer, and death had no terror for her. Her triumph and victory was complete, and while she has departed this life our loss is her gain, for she is with Christ in glory. This thought, together with the fact that she was a kind and affectionate daughter and sister, we trust will do much to comfort the afflicted family, and lead them cheerfully to submit to the will of Him who death all things well.

H. M. Turman, President Shaw University, Raleigh, Dec. 21, 1881.

These resolutions were adopted, and the meeting adjourned to meet on Monday next.

The Collector of Customs has just received new carpets for the rooms occupied by the Inspector, Marine Hospital Surgeon, Internal Revenue Deputy Collector, and the Entrance and Clearance office. The other offices were newly furnished some months ago.

OBITUARY

For the Post.
On Sunday morning last, the sad intelligence of the death of Miss Sarah B. Hill, of this city, was received from Raleigh, where the deceased was attending school. Miss Hill was a young lady of very high standing in this community—she was the oldest of two daughters of our friend Mr. William B. Hill. For five years she was a student at the New Hampshire Memorial Institute of this city; in the fall of 1878 she entered the Estey Seminary at Raleigh, N. C., and was a student there at the time of her death. In October, after spending her vacation at home, she returned to Raleigh for the purpose of completing her course and graduating next spring, but on the 1st of December was taken with malaise fever, of which she died on Saturday night last at 10 o'clock. The family arrived with the body Sunday night at 9:55 o'clock, and were met at the depot by many sympathizing friends. The funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at the First Colored Baptist Church of which Miss Hill was the organist and a Sabbath School teacher, when in the city. She was a young lady of culture and refinement and dearly beloved by all who knew her. And while we bow to Heaven's will, and know that "our loss is her gain," we feel that no other can ever fill the now vacant place left in our hearts by her death.

"Yet again we hope to meet thee
When the day of life is fled,
And in heaven we hope to greet thee
Where no farewell tear is shed."

MISS MAGGIE WHITEMAN.

All subscribers to the POST not receiving the same regularly, will please report the same to Mr. W. E. N. Sellers or at this office.

Subscribers who may change their residences must, in their notice to this paper of such change, give their former as well as present address.

We ask those of our subscribers who have not yet paid their subscription, to have the money ready and pay our agent as he calls upon them, and thereby save him shoe-leather. The amount is small, and every one can pay if he will.

The steamer Elizabeth, the mail boat to Smithville, is disabled.

Two more fine schooners are on their way for, and are now due, at this port.

There was but one interment—that of an adult—in Bellevue Cemetery this week.

Only two interments in Oakdale for the past week, both of whom were adults.

The Custom House and Postoffice will be closed to-morrow on account of Christmas.

To our subscribers and readers we wish a merry Christmas and happy New Year.

"Harper's Young People" is full of Christmas stories, and other interesting matter for children, this week.

There were four interments in Pine Forest Cemetery this week, two adults and two children.

We are sorry to learn that Dr. Lew of the marine hospital service in this city has been sick for some days.

The U. S. Government has had a very substantial wood fence put around the Marine Hospital in this city.

The people in the Cape Fear section are crying for more water, not for their whiskey, but for their tar-pentine and timber raft.

Messrs. Brunhild & Co., of this city, will accept our thanks for valuable consisting of anti-prohibition documents of the most substantial kind.

Messrs. Hancock & Duggert are having their old store on Market street thoroughly overhauled and enlarged, and when completed will be one of the handsomest stores in the city.

We hope all our friends will be sure to visit the Fair of our Hebrew friends at the City Hall on Tuesday next. It will be the grandest affair of the kind ever held here, and they deserve success.

The Collector of Customs has just received new carpets for the rooms occupied by the Inspector, Marine Hospital Surgeon, Internal Revenue Deputy Collector, and the Entrance and Clearance office. The other offices were newly furnished some months ago.

THE YOUNG MEN OF THE FRONT STREET M. E. CHURCH

presented the Rev. Mr. Yeates with a handsome gold headed cane a few days ago, as a token of their affection for him—their old pastor and friend.

Mr. Frank James, the efficient health officer of this city, was busy around town on yesterday, delivering provisions to the poor. Mr. James deserves the thanks of our people for the kindly interest he took in serving the poor out good substantial Christmas dinners.

OUR SYMPATHY.—We tender to Hon. Orlando Hubbs, member of Congress from the Second District, our heartfelt sympathy in his sad bereavement. The loss of his little son, though only two years of age, is a severe blow, and every father who has experienced the loss of a child can truly sympathize with Mr. Hubbs and his dear lady in their affliction.

General Allan Rutherford and lady, of Washington, arrived in the city on Friday. They come for the purpose of spending the holidays with Hon. Jos. H. Neff, the father of Mrs. R. We wish them a merry and happy Christmas—may they enjoy many more of them. The General is, deservedly, very popular here, and since he captured one of our Wilmington ladies he is considered more so than before.

MESSES. WILLIAMS & MURCHISON.—It is rumored on our streets that there is likely to be some important changes in the firm of Messrs. Williams & Murchison, of our city. These gentlemen have been in business here since 1866, and by superior management have amassed very large fortunes. We learn the changes are not likely to damage the business interest of our city by taking either of the gentlemen away from here.

Deeds and mortgages probated by the proper officers during the past week: F. H. Darby, commissioner, deed to L. Yollers; E. E. Burruss, deed to Isaac H. Smith; E. E. Burruss, deed to S. P. Wallace; F. H. Darby, commissioner, deed to E. G. Barker; Charles Steward, deed to R. W. Hicks; Jasper Bishop, mortgage to Hart, Baily & Co.; Hector Smith and wife, deed to Catharine H. Wright; S. H. Manning, deed to Ashley Gilbert; R. B. Lewis, mortgage to R. C. Gore.

New Year and Christmas are always days of great joy to the happy and contented, but in order that one may be happy he must have to a certain extent his wants supplied. To the ladies we would say that for a good stock, cheap goods and a fine variety, go to Hedrick's, the veteran dry goods dealer of this city for your goods. At Hedrick's the children's wants can be supplied, and for gentlemen and boys he offers silk handkerchiefs, good hose, excellent suit cloths, and the largest stock of neck wear in the city. Don't forget old "Nurey" on New Year's Day, get her one of those nice counterpane, or, well, never mind, we will let Col. Hedrick show you what he has, and we are sure you may, with his aid, make a far more appropriate selection than we could suggest. Col. Hedrick has a large stock and sells his goods at a reasonable price. Our friends in the country in need of goods would do well to send their orders to him.

The magistrates of this city, or many of them, have long been carrying on a system of working up cases, and then postponing them. Having runners in their employ, and affiant men, or men whom they use, to make affidavits, when in fact the "affidavit man" knows nothing of the case, except the information the magistrate gives him. The Judge of the criminal court, Hon. O. F. Yeates, has time and again tried to stop it, but he has been unable to do so; but we cannot help believing that there is some remedy. And we intend in future to publish the names of subscribers, also of the "affidavit man" and the defendant. And for that purpose we request aggrieved parties to give or send us the information.

Three fellows are in the habit of seeing around, and if they hear of two sisters quarrelling inside of their own houses, or man and his wife speaking a little cross to each other. A neighbor forbidding another to allow his or her chickens over in his or her yard, a warrant is issued, the parties are brought up and told if they will pay the cost it will all be right. And since times out of ten the defendants will comply before standing trial—and that is why this high-handed game is carried on, from the fact that people submit to it. Our enterprising daily is afraid to expose the rotteness of these people, or it would have stopped many months ago.

There are a few American magistrates in this city who do business in a legitimate way, there are very few.
