Calling a rotten egg good doesn't make it good.

All the difference between a Cleveland Democrat and a Bryan Democrat is a promise.

Free-Trade would bring fully as much prosperity under Bryan as it is doing under Cleveland.

"Gone Democratic" and "gone to the devil" have come now to mean about the same thing.

The Democratic party of to-day is the same old lying machine that it was four years ago.

In Oregon the Pops say before they will support Bryan they will go fishing in November.

"The man who is deceived once is human; but the man who is deceived twice by the same person is a fool."

If the Democrats undertake to prove their faith by their good works, they will have a devil of an undertaking.

A man who likes "Democratic prosperity" good enough to vote for more of it, could eat a pole cat and never make a crooked face.

The farmers of our country will never prosper while the manufacturing industries are languishing and the manufacturing enterprises can never flourish under free-trade.

Show us a time when American manufacturing was in full blast, and we will show you a time when labor was reasonably well paid, and when farm products brought a fair price.

In Mississippi some of the negroes believe that if the silverites win, that the colored man will get 16 acres of land and one mule in place of the "40 acres and 1 mule" promised by the Freedman's Bureau people.

If Billy Bryan is the great "reformer" that the Democrats claim him to be, why did he sit in the halls of Congress and never introduce a single bill in keeping with the great (?) platform he now stands on?

In 1894, Bryan wanted free-trade, he said, to make prices low. In 1896, he wants free silver to make prices high. And the Dems claim to want both free trade and free silver. If this isn't blowing hot and cold wind, we'd like to know the reason.

The Secretary of the Seaman's Union declares that nowhere are seamen so poorly paid as on the sixteen vessels owned by the Democratic candidate for vice president. Democrats, don't it make you feel good to have a chance to vote for such a humane old millionaire as Arthur Sewall?

The Democratic platform declares against Protection, National Banks and Railroad Monopolies, but in his 16 thousand words speech at New York recently Wm. J. Bryan dodged all three of these planks. Now if in two months he will ignore three planks of his platform, how long will it take him to ignore all of it?

A batch of three-ply patches on the caboose of the farmer's trousers is one of the "object lessons" he gets from a Democratic administration. But the 16 to 1 Democratic orator shouts, and the band plays and the fools yell and the patch-plated, befuddle-brained farmer lines up in readiness to give the old humbugs "just one more chance."

With Bryan and Palmer as its candidates for President, the Democratic party represents a great double-headed devil fish after the American voter, hence no difference which head swallows him, he is immediately landed into the same craw, to become nourishment to a party which is a blooming, infinite absurdity, cherished and nurtured in the dung-hill of stupidity.

Mr. Bryan said, in '94, that free wool would enable the American manufacturer to export woollens. Well, Mr. Bryan and his friends had their way and we got free wool, and what a thunderation sight of "woollens" we are exporting, to be sure. Instead of "exporting woollens", we witness the disgraceful spectacle of the American manufacturer tearing down and exporting his machinery to the old country, throwing out of employment the American laborer whose place is to be filled by the rat eating ten cent laborer of Japan and China.

But the free trader tells us that we can now buy our woollen clothing for less money than we had to pay under the McKinley Tariff. But poor deluded simpletons, they are too thick skulled to see the fact that their policy has made money so thunderation scarce by the shutting down of the mills and kindred establishments that the people haven't got the "less money" to buy with. Of course, the average Democrat is too blind these days to see anything but free silver, but every sober thoughted man knows that it is better to pay more and have the money to pay with than it is to have a chance to buy for less and yet lack the funds to settle the bill.

It is Mr. Bryan's policy of Free Trade that has run this great Nation in debt at the rates of over $125 per minute for the last three years. The great policy of Protection decreased the Nation's debt over $100 per minute for 25 years. Take your choice.
