CONFIRMATION AT ST. MARY'S.

Bishop Cheshire's Earnest Discourse to a Class of Young Ladies.

On the afternoon of May the 9th, the Bishop of the Diocese administered the holy rite of confirmation at St. Mary's School. This service is always unusually impressive at St. Mary's chapel, and on Sunday afternoon it seemed even more beautiful and solemn than ever before. The chapel was decorated with a profusion of white and delicate pink flowers, which in their emblematic purity accorded well with the occasion. The music was rendered with heartiness and precision and was marked by simplicity and absence of all strained effect. In earnestness the Bishop urged upon the young girls, thus renewing their baptismal vows, to carry with them through life the influence of their early training, and he impressed upon each one the deep responsibility of right living in the smallest and most ordinary duties of life.

The programme for this occasion includes a military display on the afternoon of the 20th and a sham battle on the afternoon of the 21st. That these events may be a success Gov. Russell has been requested to detail Maj. E. M. Hayes, of the Adjutant General's department, and Col. E. G. Harrell, of the Quartermaster's department, to report for duty on the night of the 18th. It is considered that these officers will add materially to the success of the State troops, and at the same time serve the interest of the State troops.

A CHATHAM MAN'S EXTRAVAGANCE.

Many years ago our Senior was accused of having said he could tell a Chatham man by his breath—Fried Rabbit and Corn Whiskey. He had forgotten all about it when he was called to that county on business. He passed the night at Monrore, and as he started to leave the next morning, he was accosted by a low, stout man, asking if he was the Stronach who had that story about the Fried Rabbit and Corn Whiskey. He evaded the question and tried to pass on, but the old man insisted upon telling him a story of a Wake county man who visited his cousin in Chatham, staying over night. They had for supper Fried Rabbit and corn bread. For breakfast, corn bread and Fried Rabbit. For dinner, old fashioned blue Coliards, boiled with Rabbit, and corn bread. Just before sitting down to dinner he was treated to four fingers of old Chatham corn whiskey (a peck of meal mash, a case of concentrated lye, with a handful of dried apples thrown in to give it an agey color), and water quantum sufficit. He ate heartily, and after telling them how much he had enjoyed the visit, he took his cousin by the lapel of his coat and led him around outside in the chimney corner. "Cousin Bill," he said, "I have heard you complain of hard times. You're mistaken, old feller. These ain't hard times. Dammit, old man, you're livin' too high!"

The Wake county man was right. These are not hard times. Buy the best your purse will afford, but don't kick over the traces. We can at all times supply you with first-class groceries, at prices which will enable you to live happily, and never think of crying Hard Times.
