

Non violence and open defiance of the law prevail to an alarming extent throughout the Northern States.

A Fatal Panic. Human beings, like the brute creation, can become panic-stricken and stampeded without any proper cause of alarm.

It was shortly after four o'clock and the bridge was crowded from one end to the other, so that there was hardly elbow room on the foot-way.

Another dispatch states that these same men set on fire the shaft of one of the mines, and destroyed the buildings and machinery, and threats are made to tear up the railroad tracks.

The season for school and college "commencements" is now upon us, and every day audiences are entertained with the eloquence of our young orators.

From the notices that we read of their closing exercises, we are led to believe that there are now more and better schools and academies in North Carolina than at any previous period.

Fayetteville Observer: A very serious and fatal disease is prevailing among the horses in this town and county which is severely puzzling the veterinary surgeons.

Scottland Neck Commonwealth: While some hands were chopping timber a short time ago at Tillery's, a team of mules, belonging to Mr. J. R. Tillery, were driven to near a falling tree, the top of which crushed them to the ground.

Whiteville Enterprise: On last Wednesday as Mrs. Jones Vance was washing, one of her children fell into a pot of boiling water and was so badly scalded that it died that night.

Moore Gazette: Both of Mr. John M. Graham's turpentine stills were burnt near Jackson Springs, on the first of last week. One caught from boiling over and soon the other was all in a blaze.

Taborville Southern: Mr. J. A. White, who lives in this county about four miles from Bethel, had his dwelling house consumed by fire on Monday evening of last week.

News and Observer: Col. W. E. Anderson has returned to the city from Salisbury, where he attended the meeting of the directors of the W. N. C. R. R.

Wilmington Star: The latest enterprise is a chicken, two or three weeks old, that has but the wing.

Statesville Landmark: Mr. Owen Flier, of Baumgarder township is a turkey gobbler which takes possession of all the young turkeys on the place, as they are hatched, adopts them, scratches for them and cares for them.

Songs Never Sung. "How does that verse run? Something like this, (sings):

There are who long for the single string, And how they are proud to win them.
