The third party convention of this Congressional district was held at Raleigh, on last Monday, and as was expected, nominated Mr. W. F. Stroud to be defeated by Capt. Burn.

Mr. Stroud made a speech of acceptance, in which he said that "the democratic party would not force a bill on the South as the republican party would."

In the afternoon, the Rev. Thomas and Christiana were married in a simple ceremony at the residence of the bride's father.

Amos is not a politician, and in political discussions is neither opponent nor supporter. A man is not apt to be converted to your political faith by abusing him, but he may be convinced by arguments.

There were negro, as well as white delegates, and the speech of a negro delegate was loudly applauded.

But for the leaders of the third party, the pestiferous agitators and blatant demagogues who are merely seeking office, there are no persons too severe with which to co-operate and denounce them.

The Democracy of Mr. W. F. Stroud would be very humiliating to all his former friends, and ought to be humiliating to every man who has any pretensions to common humanity.

So that in April last Mr. Stroud indignantly denied that he was outside the democratic party, and proudly boasted of his democracy.

And though he may be a strong Massachusetts Yankee is not yet a very skilled public speaker.

Revolt Against Adams.

At the recent third party convention in this county there was a determined opposition by a number of delegates from Mr. John W. Adams's own precinct against his nomination, and this seems explained by the following letter written last week to the News & Observer.

A section of the News & Observer published in Raleigh on the 14th inst. contains a copy of a letter from the Rev. Mr. Adams to the News & Observer, in which he says that he is not a member of the third party.
