FIRE BALLS FROM THE CLOUDS.

These Electric Phenomena Are Rare, But Brillant.

The storms that have raged over England displayed some extraordi

 bary freaks of lightning
 A fire ball fell into Diddop reservoir, near Halifax, about 3 o'clock p m., and was seen by the caretaker' daughter. The ball of fire illumin nated the countryside. There was loud, hissing sound. A gigantic four tain was thrown into the air and had the surface of the reservoir was raf field for fully five minutes. An ap palling thunderchip followed. 111 smell of sulphur was so strong the the caretaker and his family comscarcely breathe The fire hall which wreshed the vil
