

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OLD

With this issue THE RECORD completes its 25th. volume and the 25th. year of its existence. It is now a quarter of a century old, and while that is not an old age for a man yet it is an unusually old age for a North Carolina newspaper.

Many persons think it a very easy matter to publish a newspaper, and so it is published, but the many failures behind the scenes prove the contrary. Probably more men fail in the newspaper business than in any other, in proportion to the number engaged therein.

We have been volumes of every issue of THE RECORD and find them to be a record of all the important events that have occurred for the last twenty-five years, both in this county and in the State, which our readers are interested in reading.

The first editorial published in the first issue of THE RECORD was the "Salutatory," which we now publish again, as follows:

"With this issue we begin the publication of a weekly newspaper in the County of Chatham, an enterprise which the interests of our people have long demanded. For many years past it has been the subject of frequent remarks, and we ought to have a paper in Chatham, and much sentiment expressed that we did not have one."

"An independent and fearless medium is one of the largest necessities of the State, for the people require an enterprise of this kind, and it is our duty to furnish them with one."

"The main interests of Chatham County are the interests of the people, and it is our duty to advance the interests of the great Democratic-Conservative party, believing, as we do, that thereby we will promote the prosperity of our people. In discussing public affairs, however, we shall not use abuse for argument, or intemperance for force, or intemperance for force, or intemperance for force."

Washington Letter.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 (Special Telegram). Secretary Root has completed his investigation of the Litton case, and has reported to the President that the same is a case of fraud and embezzlement, and that the same should be referred to the grand jury.

The above "Salutatory" was written and published twenty-five years ago when THE RECORD's history was inserted, and the same have been published in its original form, but have been revised in many places, and have been revised in many places, and have been revised in many places.

Many changes have been made since the inauguration of the present management, and the paper has been revised in many places, and has been revised in many places, and has been revised in many places.

At the same time, the paper has been revised in many places, and has been revised in many places, and has been revised in many places, and has been revised in many places.

When a newspaper is published, it is a public trust, and it is the duty of the publisher to see that it is published in a manner that will be of benefit to the community.

Chatham's first newspaper, THE RECORD, was published in 1883, and it has since that time been a valuable medium for the dissemination of news and information.

The main interests of Chatham County are the interests of the people, and it is our duty to advance the interests of the great Democratic-Conservative party, believing, as we do, that thereby we will promote the prosperity of our people.

Congressman Poe On Negro Race Question.

From The News and Observer, the following question, the Hon. J. M. Poe, of North Carolina, has been asked: "What is your opinion on the Negro race question?"

The Negro race is a problem of the greatest importance to the South, and it is one that should be treated with the utmost care and consideration. It is a race that has been the subject of much discussion and controversy, and it is one that should be treated with the utmost care and consideration.
