

THE CHATHAM RECORD

ESTABLISHED SEPTEMBER 19, 1878.

PITTSBORO, N. C., CHATHAM COUNTY, THURSDAY, MAY 24, 1923.

NUMBER 50.

H. D. HATCH DIED THURSDAY.

A Former Resident of Pittsboro Dies at Home in Hamlet.

"D" Hatch, as he was familiarly known in Pittsboro, died at his home in Hamlet last Thursday morning, a telegram being received here to that effect, but too late for publication in last week's Record.

It was stated in our last issue that Mr. Hatch had been stricken with paralysis but that it was not thought serious, but a turn for the worse Wednesday night took place and it was seen that there was no hope for him. Funeral services were conducted in Hamlet Friday at 3 p. m. by the blue lodge Masons, with the Rockingham commandery, Knights of Templars as escort of honor.

After returning from church Sunday Mr. Hatch lay down upon his bed to read a newspaper. His wife called him to dinner and receiving no response went to his room and found him unconscious and paralyzed.

Mr. Hatch was 48 years old. He is survived by his wife, three children, his mother and two brothers. Mack Hatch, of Charlotte, and Robt. Hatch, of Gainesville, Ga.; two sisters, Mrs. R. B. Lineberry, of Colerain, and Mrs. G. W. Underwood, of Bennett. He was one of the foremost citizens of Richmond county, had served as mayor and commissioner of Hamlet, was a Shriner, member of Oasis temple, and had large business interests at Hamlet and elsewhere.

Mr. Hatch was born at the old Hatch farm near Pittsboro, and lived here nearly all his life. He was married twice, his first wife died here several years ago. She was buried at Hamlet chapel cemetery.

The deceased was a fine specimen of manhood, robust, broad-shouldered and six feet tall and he never had the appearance of a person that would die from paralysis. His many friends will regret to hear of his death.

HOME COMING MT. PLEASANT.

Memorial and All Day Service Held Next Sunday, May 27.

Next Sunday, May 27th, there will be a special memorial and home-coming service at Mt. Pleasant Methodist church. Rev. J. A. Honaday, of Maxton, N. C., will preach at 11 o'clock in the morning. Immediately after the sermon the congregation will march to the cemetery and decorate the graves. At 2:30 in the afternoon the congregation will march to the church for a reunion service. Talks will be made by various people, both laymen and preachers. We especially invite all former pastors and former members to return and worship with us on this occasion. The old church has been covered, painted and in other ways repaired recently. It is now one of the best country churches in the county. We invite our friends to come and rejoice with us.

JNO. R. EDWARDS,
Pastor.

TIME TO GET A PEN.

We have mailed out three of the Sanford Fountain pens this week to young ladies who have sent us as many as four new subscribers to the paper. Several others have entered the contest and are working for a pen. It takes but little time and effort and the reward is worth the energy you put into it. The pens are real nice and are equal to any $5.00 pen on the market. Send in four new subscribers at $1.50 each and get a pen, or send in six months subscriptions up to $6 and the pen is yours.

A TRAGIC STORY.

The following was written by little Miss Mozelle Perry when she was 11 years old. Two years later she died in a hospital in Greensboro. Miss Mozelle was afflicted with tuberculosis of the right limb and it was taken off. A second operation of the same limb caused her death.

"My mamma is in Heaven, I loved my mamma and she loved me. Mamma was a good woman and she was good to me. I had only one brother and sister, mother and father. My mamma is dead and in Heaven. My good Savior, that is in heaven, left my father and brother with me to care for me. I am only 11 years old and a little bity child and have been staying here and there. My mamma died when I was 4 years old and I am staying with Mrs. Della Crawford and have a nice home and my papa is staying with me and I am looking for my brother to come up here and stay with us. I wanted to tell you how I loved my people. My papa's name is Luther Perry, my mama's name is Martha Perry. My brother's name is Numa Perry. My sister's name is Betty Perry and my name is Mozelle L. Perry.

Complimentary.

The Weekly Herald, which has been published at Siler City, by Mr. Colin Shaw, has suspended publication for the first time in 19 years that it has no paper. Mr. Shaw was forced to suspend the paper on account of lack of support by the business people of Siler City. Mr. Shaw says the paper will be consolidated with The Chatham Record at Pittsboro and a little later he contemplates publishing a semi-weekly at the latter place. Mr. Shaw, who is a good newspaper man, has built up a large circulation for The Chatham Record and he began publishing that paper.

DWELLING BURNED.

The dwelling house of Mr. Turner Petty, who lives on the Moncure road about three miles south of Pittsboro, was destroyed by fire about 2:36 o'clock last Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Petty was hauling cedar posts at the time and after eating his dinner he came on to town with a load and in a few minutes after reaching Pittsboro news came that his house was burned to the ground.

The dwelling was a frame structure two stories and containing six or eight rooms. All of Mr. and Mrs. Petty's clothing, household and kitchen furniture was destroyed. It is thought the fire started from a defective flue.

The house was recently remodeled four rooms being added. The building was valued at $3,000 and only two or three days before the fire a friend suggested to Mr. Petty that he have his home insured, which he did for $1,500. There was no one at home at the time of the fire and nothing was saved.

Mr. Petty is a hard-working farmer and the loss of his home falls heavily on him. He and his wife have the sympathy of this entire community.

A BIG DAY AT NEW ELAM.

Memorial Services Held on Saturday May 19th—Large Attendance.

On last Saturday it was the pleasure of the editor to attend Memorial services at New Elam Christian church in the lower edge of Cape Fear township, five miles northeast of Moncure. The day was an ideal one for such an occasion and there were many people there to participate in the event. It was our first trip to that immediate section and we met many old friends and made scores of new ones—the kind of people that make a good county. Good, substantial, whole souled Christian folks. We felt an atmosphere all day of genuine hospitality, good fellowship and it was an inspiration to us. It was an event that gave us much pleasure and we shall remember it for the years to come. Not only that but it is an expressed will that we shall see those people more often in the future than we have in the past.

Dinner was served at 12 o'clock and there were never any tables anywhere in Chatham county that was graced with any more and a greater variety of splendid rations. Every conceivable dish of substantial food as well as numerous delicacies were in abundance and the vast throng of people never make an impression with it. It really seemed to be more there after dinner had been served than before. We were at the table of Mrs. Alice Webster, but we sauntered around through the grove as an observer and on every hand there was an elegant display of the very best of eats.

The people of New Elam were generous, kind and noble in their attention to themselves and particularly so to the stranger within the gates and no one could possibly leave without realizing that it was a treat to mingle with them.

The ceremonies incident to the occasion were impressive and of an inspiring nature and Mrs. G. L. Mann, Mrs. G. F. Carr and Mrs. Cora Jones received their just praise for the splendid training of the children. The music was the best the editor ever heard. There is no choir anywhere that can excel them. Mrs. G. F. Carr was at the organ and Mr. A. G. Mann led the choir, while the loved and honored superintendent, Mr. W. A. Drake, was master of ceremonies.

The morning service was taken up exclusively by the children and with the decoration of the graves. After the children finished their recitations, songs and dialogues, the beautiful mound of flowers were taken by them to the cemetery and deposited on the graves to the strains of music by the choir that was indeed beautiful. Mr. J. D. McIver offered up a prayer and the dinner was then served.

In the afternoon speeches were made by the pastor, Rev. B. J. Howard, the editor of the Record, Mr. J. C. Luther, of New Hill, Mr. Terrill B. Beal, of Bear Creek, Mr. Joe McIver, of Buckhorn and Mr. William Jeffries. The talks were short but impressive and to the point. Through the entirety, both in the morning and afternoon, the most careful attention was given to the exercises and the speeches.

After opening the program with an address of welcome, the superintendent asked for Memorials and several were read, including a memorandum of the deaths since the last memorial service as follows:

Little Ruby Hearne, daughter of Norman and Nannie Hearne, October 21, 1922.

Cara Thomas, daughter of Charlie and Daisy Thomas, November 27, 1922.

Little Elsie Hearne, daughter of Charlie and Hettie Hearne, November 28, 1922.

Mrs. Sarah Lasater, wife of Thomas Lasater, January 21, 1923.

Little Sadie Mitchell, daughter of Jimmie and Ida Mitchell, January 23, 1922.

Mrs. Kizzie Mitchell, wife of Sion Mitchell, February 27, 1923.

Mrs. Mary Pendergrass, wife of Atlas Pendergrass, March 27, 1923.

Mrs. Julia Ann Mann, wife of Wesley Mann, April 4, 1923.

Infant son of Floyd and Neata Oelinger, April 21, 1923.

After the reading of this list the program was rendered by the children which was interspersed by songs by the choir and the whole program, music and the children especially, was very greatly enjoyed. The program follows:

March—by all the children.

Song, Sun Beams—All the children.

Prayer—Rev. B. J. Howard.

PAINTING AN OLD HOUSE.

The House of Beverly Mann Built 118 Years Ago.

There is situated on the north side of Haw River, about three miles west of Bynum, the pretty home of Mr. Beverly Mann. This house was built 118 years ago and descendants of the original Mann family are still living in it and today it is in a good state of preservation.

This tract of land on which this old residence stands was given to Mr. Mann's grandfather by King George of England. There is also another tract nearby the deed of which is signed by the Governor of North Carolina and is dated in 1780. Mr. Mann's father was born in an old log house within 50 yards of the present home. The Mann's were a long lived people, the present owner of this old mansion being past 80 years.

Back in those days Mr. Mann's mother is quoted as saying that when people went to preaching they took their guns along with them, mostly for protection, and to kill deer or any wild game which was then plentiful.

There has come over this country since those old days many changes. Back there the country was not as thickly settled as in these modern days. Indians stalked abroad, wild animals were plentiful and when young ladies went to church they thought nothing of pulling off their shoes and taking them in their hands and packing them along until they nearly reached the old log house church and put them on. Catch a young lady today going to church with her shoes in her hand and she would fall dead, especially if there was a young man in sight.

Mr. W. H. Overacre is painting this old time residence of Mr. Mann's and the old house is taking on the appearance of youth, the same as some of our old ladies trying to look young again by using powder and paint. These old homes bring back many fond recollections to the people who were living in the long ago.

APPRECIATES THE RECORD.

Rev. Percy Eubanks Has Been Promoted to Office of Archdeacon.

We learn that our good friend, Rev. R. Percy Eubanks has been promoted to the office of archdeacon of Indiana, and has moved from upper 8th street, at Evansville, to 22 Chestnut street, where a new rectory has been erected.

In a letter to the editor from Mr. Eubanks, he says:

"I am proud of the Chatham Record under your able management. It is just the kind of paper that suits, especially the rural people, as it gives the news from church neighborhoods. So many of the places and people spoken of were familiar to me in childhood and early manhood; I trace relationship to many, and am proud of the fact that I am a native of old Chatham county.

"I congratulate you on the stand you take on prohibition. Go on with the good fight of faith, and give the moonshiners no rest nor place until there is not a filthy still in all the country."

May Be Several Days Yet.

For the first time in the memory of some of the older residents of Chatham county the leaves were not grown by the 10th of May this year. It has always been a saying that the leaves on the trees are grown by the 10th of May. However, this year is an exception.

GRAND JURY REPORT.

They Visit Camps and Find Convicts Well Cared For.

The grand jury, at their session last week, made the following report to Judge Loyd Horton:

We, the Grand Jury, beg leave to make the following report:

We have examined and passed upon all the bills that have come before us and returned the same.

We visited the county jail in a body and found same in good condition. It is in excellent sanitary condition, and the prisoners are comfortably provided for.

We visited the county home, found 17 inmates, 11 white and six colored. We thoroughly inspected the buildings and premises and found the same to be in excellent condition. The inmates are furnished with clean clothes and are required to take frequent baths; so that their personal sanitary condition is at all times very good. Dinner was served while we were there, and we find that the inmates are supplied with an abundant quantity of good, substantial food. This county home is modern in every detail and is a credit to Chatham county. We also wish to commend Mr. J. W. Johnson, the superintendent, for his excellent management of the same.

A committee of six from our body visited the county convict camp. They found thirteen prisoners there, 17 mules and one horse. The committee personally questioned and interviewed practically all the prisoners, separate and apart from the superintendent, any guard, official or other person representing them and they reported that the prisoners state that they are comfortably clothed, well fed, given comfortable quarters in which to sleep, are not over-worked and are not mistreated in any way or form. The committee inspected the quarters of the men and found the same to be comfortable and in sanitary condition. The condition of the prisoners showed to the committee that they were well fed, comfortably clothed and humanely treated. The committee also reported that the stock used at the camp is in the best condition of any stock used in similar work that they have ever seen. The committee reported that the convict camp is in excellent condition and they commend the superintendent, Mr. J. W. Harmon, for his good management of the camp, and the consideration that he gives to the welfare of the prisoners committed to his charge.

We visited the offices of the Clerk of the Superior Court, Register of Deeds, Sheriff, and the Superintendent of Public Instruction. We found all the same to be kept in a neat and orderly business-like manner.

We do hereby express our most sincere thanks to the presiding judge, J. Loyd Horton, Solicitor Williams and all other county and court officers for the courtesies shown us and the co-operation given us in our work.

W. T. BROOKS,
Foreman Grand Jury.

ALABAMA.

Alabama was at one time a fine agricultural State but land has washed away. Negroes have nearly all left and all working hands have moved to town.

Birmingham, with about 500,000 inhabitants, all kinds of steel plants, cold field farmers have left home to haul coal at $5 a day or a ton of coal for $3, haul it home at night, own 500 acres of land and don't even cut their own wood.

They have some fine red land that would make clover.

Very few people have anything to sell from the farm.

Anniston is a fine, clean town with good red land all around it but everybody works in the mines or digs coal. Enslay has places to load coal from mines.

Tuscaloosa is a good town of 15,000. The State hospital is here and has a great many patients here.

Charlie, the Snake-Killer.

Charlie Gunter, who lives on Mrs. B. Cole's farm, near Rives Chapel, killed six snakes of the pilot species while plowing last Friday. These snakes were not all close together and Mr. Gunter does not know why he found them all in the same field. The pilot is as poisonous as the rattler, and, at times, very vicious, says the Sanford Express.

MEMORIAL SERVICE AT BEULAH

A Splendid Occasion That Was Well Attended Last Sunday.

It was the pleasure of the editor to be present at the memorial service held at Beulah Baptist church last Sunday, located in the edge of Randolph county. This being our first visit to that section, we were more observant than otherwise and we found that this church was located ideally, had a membership of faithful and constant people and learned that it was one of the most active churches in the Association.

In the morning Mr. W. H. Strickland, a former pastor, now located in Greensboro, preached the sermon, following which the sacrament of the Lord's supper was observed. The congregation then marched to the cemetery and every grave was decorated with wreaths and bouquets of beautiful flowers, following a prayer by the editor.

In the afternoon the church was packed to overflowing and Mr. J. C. B. Muse was presented to the congregation by the pastor, Rev. A. G. Lassiter. He made a splendid talk and one that was greatly enjoyed by all. Mr. Lassiter then introduced the editor, Colin G. Shaw, who spoke to them on the Obligations of the Present Time and the Necessity for Righteous Living. Mr. Ed. S. Phillips was then presented and he made a short and interesting talk.

There were more people there than could have gotten in two churches the size of Beulah and that building is a well arranged, spacious one at that. Dinner was served on the ground and there was an abundance of good eats. The grove was literally covered with every choice variety of good cooking that can be found anywhere.

This church is just over the line in Randolph and is considered a Chatham church as the entire membership is practically in Chatham. The pastor stated that it was an active church—one of the best in the Association, and expressed himself to the editor as being highly pleased with the work he has among these good people.

We were glad to renew acquaintance with many old friends and to make new ones and we hope to visit among them again.

Memorial Services.

Rarely has there been witnessed a more beautiful memorial service in this community than that held at Moon Chapel Sunday afternoon. The address, which was peculiarly fitted and choice in diction, was made by Rev. J. G. Clark, pastor of the first Baptist church, of High Point, after which the large audience gathered in the cemetery and covered the graves with a profusion of lovely flowers.

NOTIFY VETERANS' BUREAU.

Physicians Treating Ex-Service Men Asked to Make Report.

There has come to the attention of the Sub-Division office, United States Veterans' Bureau, Raleigh, N. C., a few isolated cases in which physicians scattered over eastern North Carolina have been treating former service men for months without bringing such cases to the attention of United States Veterans' Bureau.

The purpose of this article is to bring to the attention of physicians of Eastern North Carolina certain pertinent provisions of the new Veterans' Relief Act which presumes the service connection of the Tubercular and Neuro Psychiatric disabilities arising within three years from date of discharge and disabling the ex-soldier as much as ten percent in degree, when such facts are presented to the Veterans' Bureau by a licensed physician. Physicians who bring such cases to the attention of the Veterans' Bureau will be conferring a great favor, not only upon the Veterans' Bureau, but also upon those unfortunate ones whose expenses may be met by the Veterans' Bureau.
