Queer Feelings
 "Some time ago, I was very irregular," writes Mrs. Cora Robie, of Pikeville, Ky. "I suffered a great deal, and knew I must do something for this condition. I suffered mostly with my back and a weakness in my limbs. I would have dreadful headaches. I had hot flashes and very queer feelings, and oh, how my head hurt! I read of

CARDUI

and of others, who seemed to have the same troubles I had, being benefited, so I began to use it. I found it most beneficial. I took several bottles . . . and was made so much better I didn't have any more trouble of this kind. It regulated me."

Cardui has been found very helpful in the correction of many cases of painful female disorders, such as Mrs. Robie mentions above. If you suffer as she did, take Cardui—a purely vegetable medicinal tonic, in use for more than 40 years. It should help you. Sold everywhere.

 IN THE SUPERIOR COURT.
 North Carolina, Chatham County.
 Josephine Neal Williams
 vs.
 J. P. Williams.
 The defendant above named, J. P. Williams, will take notice that an action entitled as above has been commenced in the Superior Court of Chatham County, North Carolina, by the plaintiff, Josephine Neal Williams, to have the marriage between the plaintiff and the defendant annulled and to obtain an absolute divorce from the defendant, on the grounds that the said marriage was procured by duress and undue influence on the part of the defendant. And the said defendant, J. P. Williams, will further take notice that he is required to appear before the Clerk of Superior Court of Chatham County, North Carolina, at the office in Pittsboro, N. C., on the 23rd day of June, 1923, and answer or demur to the complaint in the said action. Mrs. Boyd Hargrove, of Burlington, is the relief demanded in the complaint.

This the 30th day of April, 1923.

Married men employed by the city of New Orleans hereafter will have their pay checks mailed to their home address. Every man from the mayor down to the street cleaner is affected.

Speeders in Akron Ohio, are fined $1 for each mile beyond the 20-mile speed limit, their machines being timed by arresting officers. When arrested within a school district the speeder's fine is doubled.

On the famous Liberty Bell in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, is the inscription: "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof." This is taken from Leviticus 25:10.

A 15-year-old boy of London, England, went into a cage of lions to earn money to pay for an operation on his younger sister who was lame. He won a prize of $250 but the surgeon would not take it so the boy turned the cash over to his little sister.

One of the strangest considerations ever written in a deed is contained in a document recently recorded in LaPorte, Indiana, by Stella Cizewski and Adam Janowski. For a consideration of $1 and "a promise of marriage" Mrs. Cizewski has transferred a town lot to her fiancé.

The password of the Tower of London is known to only three persons. They are the king, the lord mayor and the constable. His majesty sends the password to the lord mayor quarterly. This is merely a survival of one of the numerous old customs in London.

Peter B. Kyne, famous short-story writer, told a Los Angeles business organization that he could "see no future for the motion picture industry until it gets down to brass tacks and establishes a code of ethics. The drama of today, as represented in the motion pictures, is for the most part mere hokum."

He is one of several leaders in financial, agricultural and scientific circles to take an active part in this crusade against the pest that is destroying millions of dollars' worth of cotton each year.

The farm of Ellisland, near Dumfries, where Burns wrote "Scots Wha Hae" and "Tam o' Shanter," and many other poems, has been given to the Scottish nation by terms of the will of the recent owner, a gentleman of Edinburgh. The buildings as far as possible are to remain as they were in the time when they were occupied by Robert Burns.

HENDLEY'S COMMENTS
 Bits of Opinion Noted.

Some of these calamity howling old fossils who are forever harping on the way the world is going to the devil, especially the present generation of young girls, gives us a deep and heart-felt longing to smash in the face of certain of the aforesaid gentry.

In our limited but nevertheless varied, association with the present day young lady it has impressed us that they are still about the most perfect of all of God's creatures.

We will admit that they do some things that their great grandmothers would never have dared attempt, much as they would have enjoyed it, but then everybody else is doing things that would have shocked their Puritanic sires. The great majority of modern women are just as good and as pure and as sweet as the women of a century past. Certainly they have different manners and customs from previous generations and they have also gained many things that will make them better wives and mothers, and more intelligent housewives. And in many ways they are vastly better off than their mothers and grandmothers.

At last men have begun to realize that their wives are worthy of a better fate than that of a household drudge and since the great light has penetrated the solidarity of their skulls they are endeavoring, and with wonderful success too, to relieve some of the burden of their better halves and to make the home mean something more than a sweat shop of uncivilized labor.

The old and honored custom of letting the tenderness and consideration for their wives drop away with the termination of the honeymoon is finally passing out of vogue and men are striving more with each passing day to bring happiness into the home for the mistress thereof and there is nothing in the world that will show more appreciation for the little thoughtful things that makes life really liveable than the modern bride.

All the hubbub about the twentieth century girl is pure and unmitigated fallacy cooked up by a clique of vicious and evil-minded busybodies who could better utilize their time in a more productive channel.

Personally we can't see a form thing wrong with the average up-to-date woman only her unattainability.

HARMON PROTESTS ACTION.
 Had Mix-Up With Volunteer Firemen at Chapel Hill.

Chapel Hill, May 22.—J. O. Harmon, president of the student body, made a talk in chapel last week against the action of a group of students who got into a mix-up with the town's volunteer fire company recently.

Some of the students crowded too close to the company, which was called out by the burning of an old one-room, unoccupied wooden structure on the main street in front of the campus, and the company turned the hose on them. Then there was some throwing of missiles, and one of the firemen got a painful blow on the leg and another one a lighter blow in the back.

The episode was over in a minute or so, but it stirred up bad feeling between the firemen and some of the students. Mr. Harmon reminded the student body that the firemen were doing their work without compensation at considerable sacrifice, and said that whoever was responsible for starting the trouble last week, there was no excuse for throwing things. He declared that students as a whole had no sympathy with such action and urged that henceforth they show a spirit of co-operation with the firemen.

RECORD FOR SAFE TRAVEL ON TRAINS OF SOUTHERN.
 Atlanta, Ga., May 22.—Figures just compiled by the safety department of the Southern Railway System show that a high degree of safety for passengers was accomplished during the year 1922 when the Southern handled a total of 17,668,605 passengers without a single fatality to any passenger as the result of an accident to a train or negligence on the part of the railway.

A total of 177,084 passenger trains were operated during the year and the average distance traveled by each passenger was 62.17 miles. Had one passenger ridden the entire distance that these passengers were carried, he would have traveled more than 44,000 times the distance around the earth.

Four passengers were killed as the result of their own acts in violation of the safety rules established for their own protection. Of these, two fell from moving trains, one attempted to board a moving train and fell under it, and one jumped through the window of the coach in which he was riding.

"These figures," says a statement issued by the safety department of the Southern, "show that, while the Southern has attained a remarkable degree of efficiency in protecting the passengers who ride on its trains, no refinement of protective features can insure the safety of persons who carelessly or deliberately violate the common laws of safety and rules which have been established for their protection."
